

LEAVES FROM A BIRCH cast shade these warm days and provide an excellent place for Emilie and John Elliot to do their climbing act. "Elmer" seems to be barking up the right tree! Emilie and John are children of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Elliot of Washington street.

NOTHING LIKE A GOOD sun bath for that lovely golden glow we girls try so hard to get! That's the opinion of Lynne Farley snapped in her play pen one warm morning this week. Lynne is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. Frederick Farley of Pacific Terrace.

"WARM ENOUGH FOR YOU?" asks Bruce Black, young son of Dr. and Mrs. Neil F. Black of Portland street, as he suns himself on the lawn. "Gus" is playing "dead dog" to the utter delight of young Bruce.

LEMONADE TIME at the Henry Perkins house on Pacific Terrace. Florence Ann Perkins, their daughter (right), pours for Donald and Shirley Johnston, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Johnston, and Bob Southwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Southwell. "Happy" is the dog.

SAND PILES AND SUN SUITS go together just like ice cream and cake these warm days says Jamie Busch, young son of Mr. and Mrs. James Busch of North Second street. Jamie is giving "McGuffin" a drink from a conveniently filled watering can.
