ably be to negotiate with Japan, Gandhi himself told newsmen a different story.

The little Hindu champion of independence said he favored negotiating with Japan to plead with her to free China or else "count on the stubborn resistance" of India's millions.

The British asserted that a great majority of the All-India congress working committee members were "appeasers" of Japan.

Britain has warned that the government in India would "take every possible step" to meet the threatened disobedience campaign, which might have grave effects on the allied war effort in the far Pacific and middle east.

Other far Pacific developments:

China war front—U. S. air force bombers were officially credited with blasting wharves, warehouses and shipping in an attack on Japanese-held Hankow, on the Yangtze river.

"The results were very satisfactory," Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced.

American fighters also bagged two Japanese warplanes which attacked Kweilin, 200 miles northwest of Canton, while allied ground defenses shot down another.

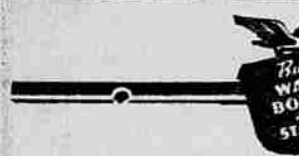

Battle of Australia—dispatches from the New Guinea front said allied troops commanded the approaches to "the gap," strategic 6000-foot pass, barring the advance of Japanese forces moving across the Papua peninsula toward Port Moresby.

Japanese troops were reported halted in the Kokoda area, near the base of the two-mile-high Stanley range. Both allied and Japanese forces were keeping close to the shelter of dense, tropical foliage, with the enemy apparently awaiting reinforcements.

ployes of the L-B Tennant, Calif., and Modoc Camp woods operations.

George Brown, chief district representative of the CIO International Woodworkers of America, disclosed that negotiations had been completed with the Long-Bell management on a bargaining pact for employes of the local Long-Bell plant and with the Weyerhaeuser firm on a contract covering approximately 250 woods workers. He said that neither contract had been signed but that terms had been agreed upon.

McKenzie listed the Long-Bell woods contract as containing provisions for an eight-hour day with time and one-half for overtime, seniority, a week's vacation with pay for men with 1400 hours of work within one year and lesser vacations for fewer hours worked. He said the union shop issue is still in negotiation at the Long-Bell headquarters in Longview, Wash.

Brown said that the CIO contracts with Long-Bell and Weyerhaeuser contained provisions identical to those decreed by the War Labor board's decision governing May negotiations between the pine industrial relations committee and the union. He said that all parties had agreed to accept a pending WLB decision on the union shop issue which will also complete the spring agreement with the PIRC.

Meanwhile three representatives of the NLRB arrived in Klamath Falls to conduct the Weyerhaeuser election scheduled for more than 900 mill employes in the firm's boarding house in West Klamath tomorrow between 3 and 6:30. The men are John McClasky, William Barkley and John Hedrick. It will be the biggest NLRB election in Klamath history.

The trio will also investigate a recent petition by the CIO to be named bargaining agent for Kesterson Lumber company mill employes, currently represented by the AFL-LSW.

Congressmen Get Re-nominations

By The Associated Press
Congressmen in Virginia, Kansas, Missouri and West Virginia successfully weathered re-nomination tests in yesterday's primary day balloting.

Unofficial tabulations in the contests in which the chief issues were labor and pre-war foreign policies, gave victory to Virginia's only two representatives who faced democratic opposition; to Senator Arthur Capper, veteran 77-year-old Kansas republican, and to Governor Matthew M. Neely of West Virginia in his battle with former Governor H. G. Kump for the democratic nomination to the U. S. senate.

ary had been "rendered homeless."

He said the red fleet was "evidently seeking refuge in flight from the Sea of Azov, but the Strait of Kerch has already become a dangerous route for escape which can only be utilized at night with any hope of success."

Italian torpedo boats were credited with sinking a 6500-ton soviet cruiser in the Black sea.

"The advance of German and allied troops in the western foreland of the Caucasus continues uninterruptedly in two main columns along the coast of the Seas of Azov and via Voroshilovsk."

Wide Front

"In pursuit fighting on the coast of the Sea of Azov, the German advance continues on a wide front."

Dispatches to Red Star said German 'chutists were dropping from the skies in groups of 100 to 150, armed with machineguns, mine-throwers and automatic rifles.

Red Star said the aerial invaders were attempting to seize railway stations or other key objectives and hold on until motorized land reinforcements arrived.

Overnight, the situation appeared to have taken a sharp turn for the worse along the whole 300-mile Don-Caucasus front, with the Russians acknowledging withdrawals in three main sectors despite bloody losses inflicted on the nazis.

with Japan. Gandhi retorts that he favors negotiating with Japan only to plead with her to free China—making it plain to the Japs that if they refuse to free China they can "count on the stubborn resistance of India's millions."

In trying to imagine how the Japs would receive such a plea, one is inclined to become cynical.

THE unpleasant fact remains that the British seem unlikely to get much better support from the people of India than they got from the people of Malaya and Burma.

In fact, the British have NOWHERE had loyal support from SUBJECT RACES in their empire. Only in the free white commonwealths such as Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa has there been willingness to fight for Britain.

The lesson seems to be that SUBJECT RACES don't feel when the pinch comes that they have much to fight for.

Ruhr Hit

LONDON, Aug. 5 (P)—British bombers attacked targets in Germany's Ruhr valley last night while fighter command planes raided railroads and other objectives in occupied territory, the air ministry announced today.

Two RAF planes—a bomber and a fighter—were lost in the night operations.

Fighters and fighter-bombers, following up the night raids, made a morning sweep over the English channel in clear weather.

The Germans sent small forces of raiders against south and southwest England and South Wales overnight and six enemy bombers were destroyed, the British announced officially, indicating a high score for Britain's secret new anti-aircraft defenses.

at any point. This will ban night baseball or football. President W. C. Tuttle of the Pacific Coast league, whose eight AAA clubs are all within the zone of restricted lighting, indicated the league would switch from night ball to twilight games.

James C. Sheppard, regional office of civilian defense director, heading up a civilian defense board for the ninth region which will enforce the dim-out regulations, emphasized "no element of martial law is involved."

SALEM, Aug. 5 (P)—Governor Charles A. Sprague, accepting full responsibility for enforcement of the dimout in 14 western Oregon counties, said today that the state police, county sheriffs, and local police would be expected to cooperate fully in enforcing the order.

The state defense council will provide technical assistance in making the dimout effective.

The state highway commission already has posted signs in the light restriction zone on highways near the coast.

"While the army order is the most drastic yet to affect the civilian population of the Pacific coast military areas," State Defense Coordinator Jerrold Owen said, "it need work little hardship on most people and will affect householders' daily lives mainly in the 'visible from the sea' zones."

Sales Tax Urged By Retail Chief

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 (P) A spokesman for the National Retail Dry Goods association urged the senate finance committee today to adopt a 5 per cent retail sales tax to be in force until six months after the end of the war.

Disagreeing with the treasury's contention that a federal sales tax would be inflationary, Jay Iglauer, chairman of the association's taxation committee, declared such a levy would be "distinctly deflationary" and would syphon off considerable excess purchasing power.

the portside life raft were launched. The raft wallowed in a trough between the waves while the 15 survivors huddled down and watched tracer bullets from the submarine's machine guns pass overhead.

"They hit the other raft and the lifeboat," McGahey said. "The fellows in the boat all huddled in the bottom and I don't think anyone was hurt much. But one of the men on the other raft got it in the back and died before morning."

"The other raft was damaged, too. It floated kind of on its edge. We drifted over to them and lashed the two rafts together. The fire on the ship lit up the whole sea like a big bonfire. Soon after she machine-gunned us, the sub pulled away on the surface."

The succeeding days were ones of struggle and suffering, of waves constantly breaking aboard the rafts.
