Our Home Town

Housewives at War

Few of our local housewives fail to find time, somehow, to do their best bit for the war effort. And the marvel to me is that they accomplish their added tasks with little if any interruption of the routine of running their households smoothly and efficiently.

The hours they put in at USO centers or Red Cross gatherings or on rationing boards must cut heavily into already well-filled days. The complicated and detailed job of keeping a home neat and clean, of preparing three meals a day, of keeping youngsters and husband healthy and happy, doesn't seem to suffer, in any degree.

One cynic of my acquaintance declares that this is because housework isn't anywhere near as exacting as the ladies have led us to believe and that they've always had plenty of leisure, anyway. But that man, I believe, has never had to batch it for a month or so when his wife was away, or he'd know better.

No, I think it's because our housewives find it possible to rise to almost any emergency. In fact, they have reserves of ability and energy which it takes an emergency to bring to the surface.

Stop and pause in Memory Garden. Next Monday Mr. Whitlock the Earl Whitlock Funeral home will comment on "Business Rescues Washington."

ACCIDENTS STRIKE AT WAR EFFORT

"Casualties on the home front, through accidents, are striking hard at the war effort of this nation and must be eliminated in the interests of the preservation of our way of life," according to a statement from the office of the state traffic safety division today.

The statement points to the list of 39,000 American workmen killed and 2,500,000 wounded since Pearl Harbor, compared to a total of 44,143 casualties in the American armed forces since Pearl Harbor, as tragic evidence of the need for preventing accidents in this country.

Casualties on the battlefield are a regrettable sacrifice to perpetuate our way of life," said Earl Snell, secretary of state, in commenting on these figures which recently were released by the National Safety Council. "Casualties on the homefront, on the other hand, sabotage our war effort and may eventually nullify some military gains."

Drivers were urged to stay under 40 miles per hour, exercise care in congested areas, and to take care of their automotive equipment to prevent excessive wear.

Without Painful Backache
Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with astringent and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of aches and pains that are serious waste from your blood.
