

ACADEMIC ADVENTURE

Huge John Warren and Happy Hobbs, mainstays in the U of O grid, cage and diamond departments, stopped by last week on the prowl for Webfoot student material—you'll note, Mr. Atherton, we said student material.

The gentlemen were accompanied by or accompanying, depending on who is looking at it, a trio of student leaders interested in student material. Which made it unanimously academic, unquestionably.

Among the academic questions which came up were, unfailingly, how about Webfoot FB and BB teams of autumn and winter?

Huge John was of the opinion that there would be one in his department but he says Uncle Sam still has all the high cards, which leaves Huge John with practically nothing but prospects. Nothing is certain, he offered. We did not ask him about re-scheduling Texas.

Mr. Warren was hesitant about releasing information relative—even distantly—to his autumn plans in the sectors of defense and attack. Fearful, he said, that the information might leak into the hands of those who would know more exactly what to do with it.

Additionally, Huge John was piqued concerning the Klamath county talent which annually fails to find its way to Eugene and asked an accounting. We, who spent a sufficient time but no more at Northwestern, could not furnish it but did point out that in Vic Reginato and Nello Giovannini the Webfoots possessed two Klamath first stringers of recent memory. While at the same time, those Oregon States had none.

Mr. Warren conceded the point and went on to reflect over the appointment of Frank Ramsey, the fourth Oregon Stater in a row, as chief pilot at KUHS.

Mr. Happy Hobbs was less jaundiced. He said the Tall Firs, whose stature has been trimmed scarcely less than considerably in the past two seasons, will have quite a fair ball club and Wally Borovik as well.

Borovik, a run-sized fellow of 6 feet and 7 inches is expected to provide the nucleus of the 1942-43 squad. And there's Bob Newland, once of Medford, and Bob Erlanson, once of Klamath Falls and more recently once of the Duck Frosh squad.

Greying Mr. Hobson figured that Erlanson might possibly land a place among the first five or close thereto.

The Ducks, he bared, will not make a trip to Madison Square garden, or even to McCredie springs if it's not necessary on account of it's almost impossible to secure train reservations at a given time for a given number of people.

Neither Mr. Huge Warren nor Mr. Happy Hobson were able to point with certainty to academic successes in the near vicinity although there were a couple of Henley lads with visible potentialities as Psychology majors.

One was 6 feet, 4 inches tall.

GRANT COACH QUILTS

PORTLAND, Aug. 13 (P)—Portland public school officials yesterday received the resignation of Paul G. Warren, coach of Grant high's city championship track teams from 1939 to 1941. He will go with an industrial supplies firm.

Sees Expansion

Amos Alonzo Stagg, dean of U. S. football coaches, foresees post-war grid boom.

Stagg, 80, Sees More Football

Cooching Dean Thinks War Will Effect Grid Little

STOCKTON, Calif., Aug. 13 (P)—Hale and hearty as his 80th birthday approaches, veteran Football Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg believes the war will have but little effect on the game, and when it's over there will be an expansion in gridiron interest.

"I don't think the war will affect the quality of the teams very much, especially at the larger universities," said the white-haired College of the Pacific mentor who coached University of Chicago teams through the Spanish-American and World wars.

"The big schools have so much material in normal times that they never utilize all of it. There is still plenty of it available for good football teams."

And after the war, Stagg said in an interview, interest in football should pick up because so many service men will have played the game, perhaps for the first time.

"There will always be a strong inclination for outdoor life and sports, and I have an idea that if the war lasts a long time, sports admission prices will go down, which will not be a bad thing."

Stagg's 53rd football campaign this year will be tougher than usual, for he will train his Pacific squad without the help of an assistant. Ralph Francis, the second in command last year, is now a lieutenant in the army.

Pacific, always a tough little team with a reputation for knocking over the big fellows, faces a schedule including University of Washington and the star-studded navy pre-flight school at Moraga.

The last-place Portland Beavers are not playing the way their Pacific Coast league baseball record indicates they should and the result is embarrassing the top Los Angeles club.

Last night the Beavers just missed sweeping a doubleheader from the Angels, who won the seven-inning opener, 5-4, in the final inning, but dropped a free-hitting second game 6-4.

In the nightcap Portland amassed 14 safeties to 11 hits collected by the Angels.

Ad Liska dueling Ken Raffensberger and Roy Davis, Angel hurlers, in the first game, as the Beavers played one of their rare error-less games. The Angels collected nine hits and the Beavers seven. Portland won on the previous night.

Sacramento, the second-place club, climbed to within two and one-half games of the Angels by thumping Oakland for the second consecutive night, 8-3.

The Solons trailed, 2-3, going into the seventh when they scored five runs after the usually steady Jack Salveson blew up to yield four bases on balls and three hits. John Yelovic gave up two additional hits in the ninth for a total of 10 safeties collected by Sacramento.

The third-place Seattle Rainiers dropped a ten-inning first game of a doubleheader to San Francisco, 6-4, but Carl Fischer hurled the Rainiers to a 1-0 win with his two-hit performance in the seven-inning after piece.

Veteran Rainier hurler, Hal Turpin, was the victim of a 12-hit assault in the opener, but his teammates pounded Tom Seals and Larry Jansen for 13 safeties.

At Hollywood, Bill Thomas yielded ten hits but defeated his former employers, the San Diego Padres, 4-3. It was Thomas' sixth straight win since joining Hollywood. He had lost nine straight while on the Padre club earlier this season.

Triple Tops Mike Jacobs' Garden Card

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (P)—

Three ten-run fights are on the card at Madison Square garden tonight and if you can pick the one that deserves the top billing, you're a lot better than most fight fans.

They'll run off in this order: Cleo Shans, Los Angeles lightweight, vs. Maxie Shapiro, New York; Fritz Zivic, Pittsburgh, former welterweight champion, vs. Garvey Young, a marine who fought out of Boston, and Bobby Ruffin, New York lightweight, vs. Bob Montgomery, Philadelphia.

The main reason for that arrangement is that Mike Jacobs, who hasn't liked all-star cards since his ill-fated tournament of champions, had to step in to save his matchmaking and publicity departments from madness. Each of the six boxers had a representative who was trying to get his boy most of the publicity and for a while it looked as if there might be more battling around 49th street and Broadway than in the garden ring.

Vancouver Gains Notch in Tight Western Loop Race

By The Associated Press

Vancouver gained another notch in the tight battle for leadership of the Western International Baseball league as Manager Don Osborn pitched his team to a 4-3 victory over the Spokane Indians last night but it took the Caps 11 innings to down the usually weak cellar team.

Osborn's usually good pitching was lacking, however, as he allowed the Indians 10 hits while his mates were collecting 14 for the necessary winning runs.

At Tacoma the Salem Senators knocked over the Tigers, 6-4, for their second straight game as Del Holmes gave up seven hits, and nine walks and his mates bobbled eight times in the field.

Managers Vouch for Fitness

Coast Leaders Volunteer Programs in Colleges

MORAGA, Calif., Aug. 13 (P)—Graduate managers of the Pacific Coast conference intend that each of the conference's 10 members shall participate actively in the army-navy physical fitness programs, and are ready to help any other far western college, university or high school do the same.

Their willingness in this respect was expressed yesterday in a resolution adopted unanimously after a visit to the St. Mary's college campus here, western center of the navy's pre-flight training activities.

The Managers' association, headed by Alfred R. Masters of Stanford university, formed a three-man committee to assemble data on the development of physical fitness programs at the separate conference schools and additionally to serve as a medium of exchanging information between other schools and the armed forces on matters of training procedure.

Besides the general supervisory work to be undertaken by the committee, each graduate manager volunteered individually to help promote the program in his own school.

While it may never earn them a citation from the office of defense transportation, the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers appear determined to save themselves and the baseball fans a lot of travel by keeping the 1942 world series within range of a 5-cent subway ride.

Yesterday at Ebbets Field, the Dodgers went to bat in the ninth inning of a scoreless pitching duel between their ace, Lefty Larry French, and Rube Melton of the Philadelphia Phils. They loaded the bases on two singles and a walk and sent dangerous Dolph Camilli to the plate.

Camilli, however, didn't lay a hat on the ball. He merely waited out a walk which forced the winning run across, giving the Dodgers the verdict, 1-0.

Meanwhile, over in the Bronx, the Yankees went to bat against the Boston Red Sox with the score tied in the last half of the ninth. They also loaded the bases with one away and brought up Charlie (King Kong) Keller.

Keller picked out a pitch he liked, slammed it 420 feet into the right-center field bleachers for his 18th homer of the year and presented the Yankees with an 8-4 triumph.

The Cards downed the Chicago Cubs twice, 9-4 and 8-3. John Beazley registered his 13th pitching victory in the opener, although he yielded 10 of the 11 hits and failed to finish.

"Double No-Hit" Johnny tossed a three-hitter at the Pittsburgh Pirates in a night contest which the Cincinnati Reds won, 3-0.

Earlier in the day, the Braves knocked the New York Giants loose from their hold on third place by sweeping a doubleheader, 1-0 and 8-2, ending the

SALEM ALTERS TIME

SALEM, Aug. 13 (P)—Seven of the nine remaining home games to be played by Salem of the Western International Baseball league will begin at 6:15 p. m. in order to comply with the dim-out regulations that are effective next Thursday, the club management said today. The other two games will be played on Sunday afternoon, Aug. 23.

Four of the games will be against Spokane and five against Tacoma.

KEEP OREGON GREEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 13—Don't call that three ring fight circus at the garden tonight an "all-star" affair if you want to stay on good terms with Mike Jacobs. . . . Mike still remembers that famous "toll" of champions, when he didn't exactly lose his shirt but lost enough to pay for a few dozen good ones, with collars, ties and cuff links. . . . Ambassador Wins Rich Trot Stake

Hambletonian Taken by Bill Strang's Outsider; Third for Trainer White

By ORLO ROBERTSON

GOSHEN, N. Y., Aug. 13 (P)—The boys around the barns were saying that Ben White was too old to compete against 40 and 50-year-old "youngsters"; that Bill Strang's luck was all bad when it came to winning the Hambletonian.

But Trainer-Driver White and Owner Strang, partners for some 15 years, showed them yesterday when the Ambassador won the rich trotting horse stake at Good Time park—the third time White has turned the trick and No. 1 for Strang.

"Maybe I'm too old," said the 69-year-old White, after the Ambassador had won the purse of $20,489.91, "but I had a right smart horse in front of me and that can make up for a lot of years."

The Ambassador isn't the best horse White ever drove, for he has had four two-minute performers in 40 years of riding. In fact the Ambassador isn't the best horse that ever won the 17-year-old stake but he was good enough to hang it on 10 rivals in the second race of his career.

When the bay son of Scotland-Margaret Arion came winging home with a length to spare in the third heat in 2:04 after taking the second in 2:06, Strang realized an ambition that sent him to the Walnut Hall yearling sales year after year.

Dick Barrett Tops Workhorse In Coast Loop

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 13 (P)—They toast Dick Barrett in sud up Seattle way, and with reason.

The star of the Pacific Coast league champion Rainiers may not be the loop's leading pitcher, but he's definitely the league's leading workhorse.

So far he's pitched 31 games, completing 26 of them, for 21 victories, 10 defeats, a .677 average and 147 strikeouts. Topping him slightly in the won and lost column are four members of the league-leading Los Angeles Angels, Ray Davis, Paul Gehrmann, Jess Flores and Ray Prim, as well as teammate Hal Turpin of the Rainiers, Blix Donnelly of Sacramento and Bob Joyce of San Francisco.
