Sugar Allotments Will Not Be Reduced, Report

Good news for the housewife was contained in a report received from Washington today by Richard G. Montgomery which promises that present allotments of sugar will not be reduced through the first nine months of 1943, unless the shipping outlook in the Caribbean takes a radical turn for the worse.

The analysis of the U. S. sugar supply, compiled under direction of Harold B. Rowe, chief of the food rationing division, included estimates that to maintain the minimum ration through the first nine months of 1943 will require the distribution of 4,173,000 tons of sugar, but that an additional 830,000 tons will have to be kept in the nation's sugar larder to insure an adequate supply in all sections of the country.

While the shipping outlook is a highly uncertain factor, Rowe's report said, it appears unlikely that receipts from Caribbean sources of supply will exceed a rate equal to the quotas established by the inter-departmental shipping priorities committee for the period of June 1 to December 31 of this year, which totalled 1,742,000 from Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and other sources.

This rate of import would provide 2,240,000 tons during the first nine months of 1943, Rowe said, with other anticipated supplies listed as: from Hawaii, 600,000 tons; from the U. S. beet sugar crop in early 1943, 200,000 tons.

These receipts aggregate 3,040,000 tons, and since the total needed for the nine-month distribution is 5,000,000 tons, we must go into the new year with at least 1,960,000 tons of sugar on hand.

Accordingly, it has been concluded, Rowe said, that a year-end stock of 2,300,000 tons would represent a reasonable compromise between actual danger of shortage in the country, and an excessive use of warehouse space now so sorely needed for our war production program.

Ration allowances for the remainder of this year, Rowe revealed, are being gauged to provide for this necessary stock on hand for January 1. He pointed out that if the shipping situation turns out to be better than now have the right to expect, or if distribution is less than expected, any excess supply of sugar can then be distributed as a bonus, or extra allowance to consumers.

Telephone Lines Are the Busiest In History

You Can Help Us to Help You

We want you to know that we are meeting the war emergency with everything we have, but in these critical times delays are bound to occur.

In speeding Victory, the telephone lines are busier—far busier than ever before. We cannot plan and build new lines and new switchboards, as we normally would, because copper and other strategic materials have gone to war in planes, tanks, and guns.

Unnecessary and needlessly long telephone calls should be out for "the duration." War calls must be given the green light.

Your considerate thoughtfulness in making only the most urgent calls is inspiring to all of us who are earnestly endeavoring to uphold the finest traditions of telephone service. May we also ask you to help us further to help you by being brief on all calls, by calling by number when making long distance calls, and by answering calls promptly.

Thank you.
