LAKE TOPS WAR BOND QUOTA BY SEPTEMBER 15

LAKEVIEW — Lake county went over its September war bond quota by more than $10,000 by the middle of the month, reports Ray E. Harlan, chairman of the Lake county war bond sales committee.

The county's quota was originally $55,000. Sales up to September 15 were $65,495.75, Harlan said. The showing, he said, was remarkable since the quota was exceeded in half the allotted time.

The complete county war bond committee, as announced this week by Harlan, follows: C. F. Snider, First National Bank of Portland; Red Reynolds, advertising and publicity; Fred Peat, postmaster; L. D. Ohlson, industrial payroll allotment; E. G. Favell, commercial payroll allotment; Victor W. Johnson, farm program; and Burt Snyder, state war savings staff.

BIG VALLEY SCRAP DRIVE UNDER WAY

Those with larger amounts, who cannot haul it in, are asked to notify a committee member in order to have the scrap picked up.

LAKE JUNK RALLY POSTPONED 1 WEEK

LAKEVIEW — The Lake county junk rally, which was scheduled to be held this week, has been postponed until September 28, according to William Holloway, Lake county chairman.

The Lakeview Rotary club and other local organizations are sponsoring the drive and the county quota has been set at 600 tons. This is double the original quota, Holloway said, but he expressed the belief that little difficulty will be met in meeting it.

A WPA truck is now here with three men picking up scrap in rural areas. It will be available for the junk rally in addition to trucks from the county, city and grazing service, Holloway said.

Extension Division Work To Be Offered in Aviation

EUGENE, Sept. 21 (Special) — Elementary ground school work in civilian pilot training has been added to the service course available under the general extension division of the state system of higher education, Miss Mozelle Hair, head of the correspondence department, has announced.

Designed especially to appeal to civilian pilots doing patrol work for the army and to high school teachers of aeronautical subjects, the course is open to all persons interested in the program. Completion of the program, made to conform to government specifications, should enable the student to qualify through government examinations for a certificate to teach ground school courses, Miss Hair said.

Covered in the course are fundamentals of air navigation, meteorology and civil air regulations. Of particular importance to Oregon civilian flyers is the section on flying by dead reckoning, or instrument flying as it is more commonly known. Six hours of college credit is given for completion of the work. The section on meteorology may be taken separately for 3 hours credit.

A secondary course to follow the elementary work already is being planned. It will include aerodynamics, power plants and advanced problems in navigation and meteorology.
