

Barker Sees Notre Dame, Minnesota

AP Writer Picks Seahawks Over Northwestern, Likes Oregon Over Oliver Team

By HERB BARKER
NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The annual game of blind man's buff starts for all football guessers this week.

Tremendous shifts in manpower have occurred since last fall with varsity football players by the hundreds and thousands now in the armed services. Football form, uncertain under normal circumstances, probably will be close to non-existent.

Remembering that it's all in fun, here are the guesses for the first big week-end program:

Notre Dame-Wisconsin: Angelo Bertelli still is operating at the old Notre Dame stand and so are a flock of other veterans. This may be one of the really strong college teams of the year. Wisconsin, touted as "Big Ten dark-horse," has no ball of fire against Camp Grant. The nod goes to Notre Dame.

Penn-Georgia Naval: Only experience, history earned, will tell just how strong these pre-flight school teams are going to be. Word is that Georgia's varsity has handled the Georgia Naval Cadets pretty well in practice. This vote goes to Penn.

Harvard-North Carolina Naval: Harvard will have one of the greatest teams in history. It probably will be good in November but this is September. North Carolina leads.

Minnesota-Pitt: The material simply isn't there at Pitt any more. Minnesota looks about as strong as ever. Minnesota.

Northwestern-Iowa Naval: This may turn out to be one of the great games of the year. Iowa Naval's 610 punt of Kansas last week indicated that Lt. Col. Bernie Bierman has got something more than the will to win. Iowa Naval.

Louisiana State-Texas A. and M.: The Aggies are being picked to finish 1-1 in the Southwest Conference and get the nod in this one.

Southern California-Tulane: What's a guess between friends? Southern California.

South Carolina-Tennessee: May be close but Tennessee, a probable main factor in the Southeastern Conference race, looks like the winner.

Yale-Fordham: The Rams lost their head coach, Jimmy Crowley, to the navy along with not a few veterans but preliminary ratings have Fordham High on the list. Still, it's a toss-up.

California-St. Mary's: The boys say that California is the team to beat in the far west. Therefore, California.

Duke-Davidson: This won't be up to the usual Duke standards but should be plenty strong enough for Davidson. Duke.

Dartmouth-Holy Cross: Dartmouth's fast backs are ready to run again but the line is highly doubtful. Sheer guessing. Holy Cross.

Naval-William & Mary: If early-season halibut means anything—and it usually does—the Navy will need to beware of this one. Bill, Navy.

Cornell-Lafayette: The Big Red has been hard hit one way or another but should win this one. Cornell.

Iowa-Nebraska: Probably very close. The coin makes its first appearance, spins and says... Nebraska.

Michigan-Great Lakes: Absolutely a stab in the back. Tom Kuzma and Michigan.

Stanford-Washington State: Stanford, with a good line and doubtful backfield, seems to rate the stronger and gets this vote.

Idaho-Oregon State: The Rose Bowl game should take the nod. Oregon State.

Oregon-St. Mary's Naval: Out of the fog, Oregon.

Santa Clara-Utah: Santa Clara looks much too strong.

U. C. L. A. - Texas Christian: Help, help. U. C. L. A.

Rainiers Take 2-1 Lead in Playoff; Prim in Shutout

Shades of 1939-41 are reflected in the current playing form of Seattle, coast league champions for that three year period, against Sacramento, this year's pennant winner.

A 2-1 win yesterday gave the Rainiers a 2-1 game margin over the Solons in the semi-final president's Cup series.

The Solons, playing on their home lot, went right to work with three hits for a one run lead in the opener, but Carl Fischer tightened up and allowed one additional safety for the rest of the game. Bill Schmidt yielded seven Rainier blows.

Los Angeles Pitcher, Ray Prim, equaled Fischer's four-hit performance to blank San Diego 1-0 on the Padres' field.

Peanuts Lowery crossed the plate with the lone Angel tally in the first inning after he had singled, advanced to third on a sacrifice and an infield out, and was scored by Johnny Moore's hit to the pitcher's box.

It was Cooper's 22nd victory against seven defeats and for the fourth time this season he allowed only two hits, both singles. He walked no one and the only Red to get past first was Gene Walker, who was allowed to steal second un molested.

The Dodgers downed Boston 5-3 yesterday by coming from behind with four runs in the sixth inning after spotting the Braves three runs on four hits and three errors in the third frame. All of Boston's seven hits were made off Whit Wyatt in six innings before he was relieved by Hugh Casey. But Wyatt received credit for the triumph, his 19th and the fifth in a row for Brooklyn.

In the only other National league activity yesterday the Phils and New York Giants divided a doubleheader. Bill Lohrman pitched New York to victory in the first game 8-0 with a sturdy four-hit performance.

The St. Louis Cardinals, close to clinching the National league pennant, are like to be the short-piced entry the senior circuit has sent against the New York Yankees in many years simply because of one man—Mort Cooper.

The odds layers are tentatively calling 10 to 7 against the Cardinals in the world series and this is quite a tribute to the big right-handed pitcher who they figure might handcuff the world champions.

Cooper has shown he is capable of beating just about any club in baseball any time his teammates get him one run. Yesterday he whitewashed the Cincinnati Reds 6-0 to assure the Cardinals of at least a tie for the pennant and put them in a position to clinch it today or tomorrow.

It was Cooper's 22nd victory against seven defeats and for the fourth time this season he allowed only two hits, both singles. He walked no one and the only Red to get past first was Gene Walker, who was allowed to steal second un molested.

With Roland Tutor, 166-pound left guard definitely out of the starting lineup, Klamath's thus-far untried Pelicans tangle with a light Redding, Calif., high school eleven tonight on Modoc field.

The game will be the second for the Whitebirds but the initial encounter for Frank Nihil's Californians who have lost but two games in the past two seasons. The lantern-jawed ex-Klamath Wildcat coach said this morning he was unsure of just what kind of a team he had developed in the past three weeks.

He disclosed, however, that he'll feature passing as well as a power-attack and the burden of both loads will fall on the husky shoulders of big George Economou, 180-pound halfback. Nihil said the 17-year-old Greek boy will be perhaps the outstanding back on the field tonight. He runs, kicks and passes.

Only three lettermen are returning from the Redding 1941 eleven which was unbeaten and unscored upon until it met Chico near the close of the season. Biggest man in the California line is Don Elverud, 206 pounds of right tackle. Three 140-pounders grace the Redding lineup.

The Office of Klamath Union High School Information, in a last-minute bulletin at 10:03 this morning, disclosed that Tutor, a senior lineman, had twisted an ankle and will be replaced by 195-pound Douglas Clement. Henley transfer, in tonight's starting eleven. The bulletin withheld details surrounding the injury and failed to specify the combat area in which it occurred. It likewise listed no enemy losses. The action was presumed to have taken place during the present season, although confirmation was lacking.

Authoritative sources could not be reached. It was reported unofficially they were manning the ticket windows.

The OKUHSI bulletin presumed the balance of the Pelican lineup would remain the same. Which would place Mast, Vaillancour, Foster and Selby in the backfield.

Zero hour is 8 p. m. The engagement will be broadcast through the facilities of KFJL. (Lineups on Page 1.)

SEATTLE, Sept. 25 (AP)—Coach Ralph (Pest) Welch was worried today over compounded complications at fullback on his Washington football team, with the College of Pacific opener here only a day away.

Fullback Mark McCorkle showed up yesterday with a knee injury that hobbled him slightly. Neil Brooks, the alternate fullback, still is laid up with injuries from a motorcycle accident.

MOSCOW, Idaho, Sept. 25 (AP)—Coach Francis Schmidt declined this morning to pick a starting lineup for the University of Idaho's Saturday football game with Oregon State, but he observed contentedly that his squad was in first class condition.

Schmidt said he still was looking over several combinations for both backfield and line and had not decided which to send against the Rose Bowl champions.

PALO ALTO, Calif., Sept. 25 (AP)—Marchie Schwartz says he will be making his first appearance as head Stanford University football coach against "one of the best of the conference" when his team faces Washington State in Stanford stadium tomorrow.

Schwartz named Jim Cox to start at the right tackle position in place of Bruno Banducci, who has been out of practice with an injured foot.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 25 (AP)—Football fans who hoped to see University of California track stars, Grover Klemmer and Hal Davis, in grid action against St. Mary's here tomorrow are in for a disappointment.

Both speedsters are on the ailing list with minor injuries.

JACOBS DEFENDS JOE, BILL
Says Fighters Depend on Him for 'Tween-Bout Cash

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—Mike Jacobs doesn't know what War Secretary Stimson is investigating about the Joe Louis-Billy Conn bout, but since there's been so much hollering over $94,000 the two boxers owe him, Mike wonders if folks realize that fighters depend on promoters for money to keep going between fights.

While officials handling the bout said today they didn't believe the fight would be called off, Jacobs pointed out that there's nothing unusual about fighters owing promoters sizeable chunks, especially when the fighters are the heavyweight champion and his No. 1 challenger.

"Fighters have to go to someone for money between fights," he explained. "So they ask a promoter for an advance on their next fight. Why, right now there's about $150,000 outstanding on my books—all money advanced to various fighters. They'll pay it back as soon as they get a fight."

"Before the Nova fight, Louis owed me $84,000. He paid me off out of his purse and took care of a lot of other debts. That left him almost broke again, so by the middle of October he started borrowing again, figuring he'd have a fight early this year and could straighten it out once more."

"But in January he fought Buddy Baer and turned his entire purse over to navy relief, and in March he knocked out Abe Simon and gave his whole net to army relief. So, with no income in a year, he's had to borrow. One of the things I paid for him was a $21,000 tax bill."

In center field the great DiMaggio, who has made a notable comeback after an amazingly poor start this season, will be paired against Terry Moore, captain of the Cardinals and one of the game's outstanding defensive outfielders. Joe, with even his deflated sticking average of .307 and his comparatively poor record of 20 homers for the year, far overshadowed the valiant Card leader as a hitter.

Comparison of the two left fielders offers a more ticklish problem if one is influenced by the figures. They show, for a fact, that Stan Musial, the Cardinals' wonderful rookie, is hitting a lousy .310 as against Keller's .292, and that his fielding average is better than "King Kong's," too. But the writer has a suspicion that if 10 pitchers were picked at random and asked which player they would rather face with two out and the winning run on second, that the answer would be an almost unanimous "don't be silly."

Cards Ready To Break Out Pennant

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 25 (AP)—They're getting ready to toss the confetti and haul the National league pennant out of the excelsior in St. Louis today.

The Cardinals, although idle and resting in preparation for the final two games of the season, could gain the championship before sundown as the challenging Brooklyn Dodgers must again play Boston and, if defeated, could not possibly catch the Red Birds, who continue to lead by two and a half games. A postponement in Brooklyn also would finish the beautiful bums, as they are scheduled to finish the season against Philadelphia Saturday and Sunday. The unplayed Boston game would be definitely out.

The Cardinals are certain of one major issue—they cannot finish the season with less than a tie, even if they lost to the Chicago Cubs Saturday and Sunday. The Cards already have 104 victories compared to 48 defeats, whereas Brooklyn has won 101, and lost 50. To gain a tie, which would necessitate a play-off, the Dodgers would need to win their last three games.

Joe DiMaggio, Keller Give Yankees Edge in Garden

(This is the third of a series comparing the prospective World Series opponents.)

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Sept. 25 (AP)—The presence of Joe DiMaggio and Charley Keller, two of the most dangerous clutch hitters in baseball, in the Yankee outfield is sufficient to guarantee the American League champions an important edge over their prospective World Series rivals, the St. Louis Cardinals, in the gardening department.

Only in right field, where Enos (Country) Slaughter with his .318 batting average and 13 homeruns stacks up against Roy Cullenbine, Yankee replacement for the departed Tommy Henrich, can the Cardinals be figured to hold an advantage over the '41 world champions.

And even there the statistics might not offer a thorough comparison. Cullenbine, a moody fellow, has been regarded for several years as potentially one of the best outfielders in the game. The main rap against him as he drifted from one club to another in both leagues was that he seldom bore down.

He looks and acts like a brand-new ball player since he joined the Yankees. He has become acquainted with his teammates and has been pounding the ball at a more valuable rate than his most recent official average of .274 would indicate. The players have a habit of doing that when they join the Yanks, the Cards, will be well advised not to regard Cullenbine as a soft spot in their rivals' armor.

In center field the great DiMaggio, who has made a notable comeback after an amazingly poor start this season, will be paired against Terry Moore, captain of the Cardinals and one of the game's outstanding defensive outfielders. Joe, with even his deflated sticking average of .307 and his comparatively poor record of 20 homers for the year, far overshadowed the valiant Card leader as a hitter.

Comparison of the two left fielders offers a more ticklish problem if one is influenced by the figures. They show, for a fact, that Stan Musial, the Cardinals' wonderful rookie, is hitting a lousy .310 as against Keller's .292, and that his fielding average is better than "King Kong's," too.
