LARGE BARLEY SALE REPORTED AT TULELAKE

TULELAKE—The largest single sale of barley ever recorded here was completed between Menzel brothers, Liskey brothers, owners of the Tulana Farms, and Ray Welsh, representative of the Anhauser Busch company of St. Louis, following opening of bids on this year's crop of the Hannchen variety. Welsh bought 105,000 sacks at an unannounced figure.

Barley just prior to completion of the sale was selling at $2 per hundredweight.

The huge crop was raised on 4000 acres and harvesting was completed under difficulties with about 50 per cent of the normal crew. Sixty men are usually employed. Yields averaged around 70 bushels.

Others growers in the basin, several of whom sold on earlier markets, were Schuck brothers, Lewis Kandra and the Copic Bay company. Luther and Coulson were the buyers.

A total of 18,851 acres of barley were harvested this season on lease lands.
