

NAZIS READY FOR 2ND FRONT, SAYS HITLER

trial of our nation" and declared that "worse things cannot and will not come."

The fuhrer ventured no guess where Germany's enemies would attempt invasion.

Military Idiot

"If I had an enemy of greater military caliber," he told the crowded sportsplatz, "I could figure out where he would attempt to attack but as I have to deal with an enemy who is a military idiot, one cannot say where the invasion attempt will be made."

He declared, however, that "the hour will come when we will answer England's bombing of German cities."

Referring to the Dieppe raid (which the Germans purport to have been an invasion attempt), he said that if the British tried again, no matter where, "they can deem themselves lucky if they stay for nine hours on the continent, as at Dieppe, for we have made thorough preparations to welcome them."

"We are Cautious"

Of the eastern front, he told his audience, including 10,000 German wounded.

"Some of our opponents say: 'Why do you stop all of a sudden?'"

"Because we are cautious, because we do not advance in order to be compelled to retreat again but because we stop somewhere until our supplies are arriving in good order."

Reds Finished Off

"This, of course, cannot be understood by people without military training and that is why they have no success."

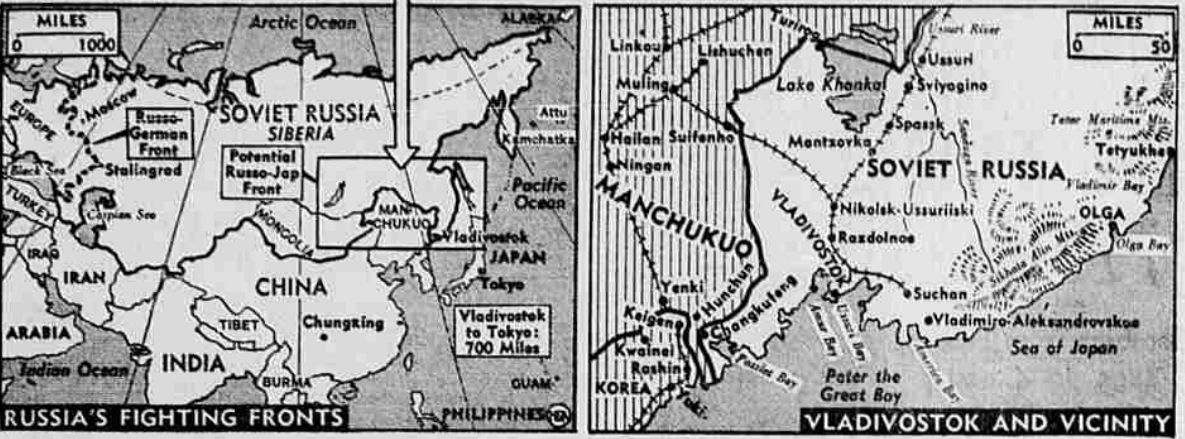

He declared "we have finished off the Bolsheviks internally (in Germany), and we will do so externally."

(This was just a year after the speech opening Germany's last winter relief campaign when Hitler told the nazis triumphantly that "now it can be declared that the enemy already is broken and will never rise again.")

Headlong Dive

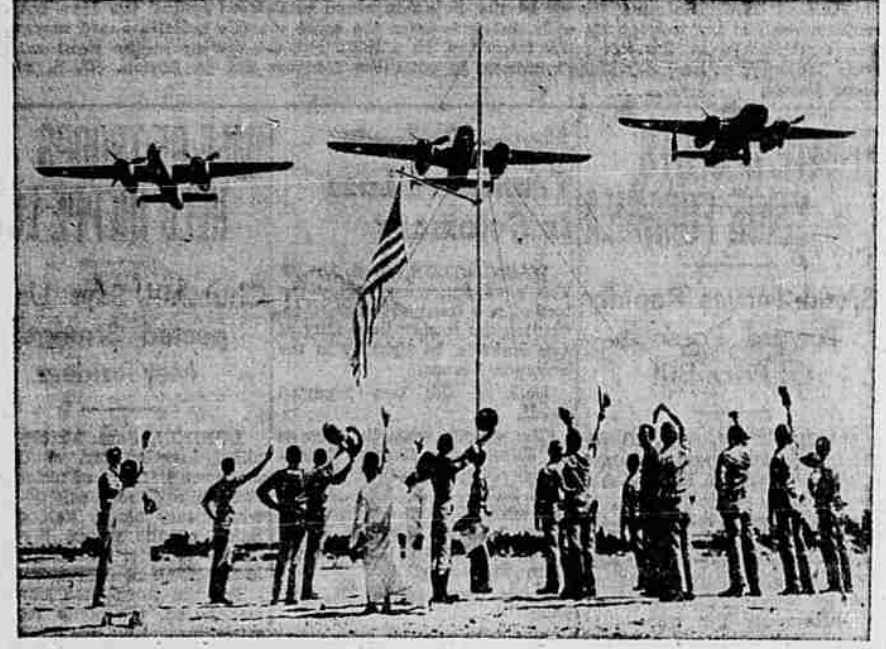

"A certain president," Hitler asserted (obviously referring to President Roosevelt) "said 'We wish that in the future everybody is entitled to suffer no more hardships.'"

Hitler commented: "All that I can say is that it probably would have been that much easier if that president, instead of making a headlong dive into war, had utilized all the labor in his country to build up useful production and, especially, to take good care that in his own country . . . misery and suffering are removed . . ."

ed to have slaughtered more than 1500 Germans yesterday as the invaders launched repeated, futile attacks to widen a wedge in Stalingrad's north-west section.

Rahov Line Cut

Only the sparsest details were forthcoming on street fighting inside the Volga metropolis, with red army headquarters announcing merely that "our troops fought fierce engagements against enemy tanks and motorized infantry . . . a guard mortar unit commanded by Nikitin wiped out 800 Hitlerites."

On the general (Moscow) front, Russian shock troops marshaled in such secrecy that they were not allowed to smoke were reported to have cut through the "line of the fuhrer" above Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow, in an attack launched after a barrage by hundreds of guns.

Caucasus Front

The "line of the fuhrer" was apparently the system of heavily fortified defenses erected by the Germans for the past 11 months around Rzhev, a key nazi stronghold. Trenches, underground communications, mine fields, wire barricades and three lines of fire points guarded the zone.

Far to the south, in the Caucasus, strong red army forces were reported to have stemmed a series of strong attacks by reinforced German columns seeking to break down through the Terek valley toward the Grozny oil fields.

The Russians said the fighting throughout the Caucasus was becoming more severe as new lines crept farther down the mountains and German alpine troops attempted to capture strategic passes before deep winter sets in.

JAPS RETREAT ON NEW GUINEA FRONT

allies have successfully started the difficult and perilous task of driving the enemy back over the 88-mile trail to Buna along which he advanced to threaten the allied advance base at Port Moresby.

"Our advance continues," General MacArthur's communique said.

It was expected that strong resistance would be encountered near Nauro village and the creek at the base of the next mountain ridge north of Ioribaiwa.

The fact that the Japanese abandoned many supplies, a military spokesman said, could not be taken as an indication they were in rout.

Flank attacks by Australian troops presumably forced the Japanese to leave precipitately without a chance of wresting equipment and supplies over the difficult terrain, he said.

Allied bombers pursued the retreating Japanese relentlessly, pounding their rear positions at Menari, four miles north of Nauro.

Instruction to Start In Instrumental Music

Arrangements whereby every child from the fifth grade up, who desires it, will receive class instruction in instrumental music, were announced Wednesday by Andrew Loney, director of public school music here.

Provision has been made, he said, for intermediate and advanced players to enter bands and orchestras. Now, he said, beginning classes are to be started for band and orchestra instruments. These classes will be for students who have never played an instrument.

Class instruction will be offered free of charge to any student from the fifth grade on who wants to learn to play a legitimate band instrument. These classes will be held on the regular school day on an average of twice a week in the pupil's own school building.

Loney stated that the schools own very few instruments that can be loaned, and it will be necessary for parents to obtain instruments for their children. But he said a local music house is cooperating in this plan by making the instruments available for rental at a reasonable fee.

Students this week were provided with blanks to be filled out if they wish to take the music instruction. These blanks are to be filled in by parents or guardians.

Six Klamath Women Will Don Uniform of WAAC's

RUFFING HURLS NO-HITTER FOR 7 2-3 INNINGS

Spud Chandler finally stopped them.

The bases were loaded with Cardinals, the tying run on first, when Stan Musial, Card rookie, grounded out to first to end the game and send 34,385 fans home hoarsely yelling to themselves.

Up to the time he was blasted, however, Ruffing already had set a world series record by pitching seven and two-thirds innings of hitless ball. The victory was Ruffing's seventh in world series, constituting another record.

The first Card safety off the veteran redhead was a sharp single to right by Captain Terry Moore of the Cards after two were out in the eighth. The crowd had been pulling for him to hurl the first no-hitter in world series history, even though he was wearing the wrong color uniform, as the Cards already were hopelessly beaten.

Mort Cooper, Cardinal ace who won 22 games during the season, was slugged steadily by the Yankees almost from the start of the game and finally was driven to cover in the eighth, with the Yanks ahead 5-0. Harry Gumbert pitched to one batter to retire the Yanks in the eighth, and Max Lanier, a southpaw, worked the ninth, the Yankees pushing across two unearned runs off his slants.

There was no idea left in the crowd's mind that the Cards had a chance in the ninth, and thousands already had filed out of the park when Walker Cooper, Card catcher, punched a single to Red Rolfe at third base to start the uprising. Rolfe knocked it down, but couldn't make the throw.

Even then the Yankees didn't look much worried. Ruffing still had the lower end of the Card batting order to work on, and he promptly caused Johnny Hopp to fly to left field for the second out.

But then Ruffing, apparently tiring under his tremendous effort, issued a pass to Ray Sanders, who pinch hit for George Kurowski, and Marty Marion followed with a triple down the right field line to drive both runners in.

Ken O'Dea, Card catcher, went in to pinch hit for Lanier and cracked a single, scoring Marion. When Jimmy Brown produced still another single, Ruffing went trudging sadly off the field and Chandler strode in to take over.

Captain Terry Moore greeted him with a single to bring in O'Dea, and Slaughter slashed a ball down to Phil Rizzuto that hit the Yank shortstop in the chest, and another run was in. Musial finally ended it with a bunsal

Evacuees Have Differing Opinions of Treatment

NEWELL, Calif. (Special)—The first of 546 Tuleans who have left the project to work in the beet fields since July 4 has written to thank WRA Director Shirrell for the kind treatment he received while at the project. He says "Dear Sir: In appreciation of swell treatment I have had in Tule Lake project, I wish to personally thank you, I'm one of the groups who have come to Idaho to work from Newell. You can bet I'll do my darndest to help in the harvest here. People here are very reasonable and I hope we'll help them a little to harvest their swell crops. Thank you again, sir, and 100 per cent success to the WRA."

Another Tulean did not find conditions as pleasant. He writes from Weiser, Idaho: "Guys around here are pretty prejudiced against Japs. Although we have an 8 o'clock curfew every night, except Tuesday, when it is eleven. They slapped a 12 o'clock noon curfew on us for Sunday. We had to eat down a couple of days and customers didn't like it so we can't even go into a restaurant now. It is pretty bad and most of the fellows wanted to go home, but we all decided to see how it becomes in a week or two. You wanted the real lowdown and here it is. Let the next bunch know what to expect."

HALF OF TROOPS HELD DIEPPE LOSS

said the military force commander at Dieppe had described the support given by the RAF for the operations there as "faultless."

James Henderson Stewart asked the prime minister to reconcile his announcement of September 8 that most of the Dieppe force returned and the official Canadian statement that of 5000 Canadians participating there were 3350 casualties, including 2717 killed or missing.

"In my statement of September 8," Churchill answered, "I was referring to the assaulting forces as a whole, the greater part of whom were, in fact, brought back by the royal navy."

"There is no inconsistency in this with the statement of the Canadian minister of national defense who was referring only to casualties among Canadian troops who took part."

SENATE REJECTS WAGE FORMULA

of Kentucky. The vote was 43 to 4.

It would require that an "adequate wage" should be accorded to farm labor in computing the increased costs over those prevailing on January 1, 1941, which farmers have had to bear in producing crops.

Loans Voted

Its adoption ended an eight-day controversy between the administration and the senate farm bloc over the terms governing the proposed directive to President Roosevelt to stabilize prices, wages and salaries at September 15 levels, so far as practical.

The senate adopted a banking committee proposal which directs the commodity credit corporation to make loans up to 90 per cent of parity on six basic commodities — cotton, corn, wheat, rice, tobacco and peanuts.
