

Herald and News

FRANK JENKINS
MALCOLM EPLEY
Managing Editor

A temporary combination of the Evening Herald and the Klamath News. Published every afternoon except Sunday at Klamath Falls, Oregon, by the Herald Publishing Co. and the Klamath News Publishing Company.

Entered as second class matter at the postoffice of Klamath Falls, Ore., on August 20, 1906 under act of Congress, March 3, 1879.

Member of The Associated Press

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use of reproduction of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper, and also the local news published therein. All rights of reproduction of special dispatches are also reserved.

MEMBER ADVERTISING BUREAU OF CIRCULATION

Represented Nationally by West-Holliday Co., Inc.
San Francisco, New York, Detroit, Seattle, Chicago, Portland, Los Angeles, St. Louis, Vancouver, E. C. Copies of The Herald and News, together with complete information about the Klamath Falls market, may be obtained for the asking at any of these offices.

Delivered by Carrier in City

MAIL RATES PAYABLE IN ADVANCE

In Klamath, Lake, Modoc and Siskiyou Counties

One Month	$1.75
Three Months	$5.25
One Year	$19.50

Three Months $5.25
Six Months $10.00
One Year $19.50

Time Grows Short

A VOTER registration situation which has been repeatedly called to public attention is remarked upon in a letter to the editor appearing on this page today.

When the precincts were changed, all registrants in those precincts were notified by mail. Repeated announcements and warnings appeared in the press and, we are told, mention of the situation was made over the radio.

Still, hundreds of the persons affected failed to do anything about it. They failed to do anything about it before the May primary, and they have not done anything about it yet.

Saturday, October 3, is the last day for registration for the November 3 election. Unless those whose registration is out of order get this matter adjusted before Saturday at 1 p. m., when the county clerk's office closes, they will be out in the cold on election day.

Exercise of citizenship requires a little individual effort.

Paint on the Petroglyphs

THE unfortunate desecration of a petroglyph panel on the Tulelake peninsula can only be attributed by inference to a member of the Japanese settlement nearby. Perhaps some one else did it as a "joke."

It is known that Japanese from the colony do have ample freedom to be in the location of the orange yellow paint which was slapped over ancient carved writings. At the time the painting was discovered, there were hundreds of Japanese at play in that neighborhood. Probably there was opportunity to commit the offense, although it might be difficult to pin it on any one individual or even to prove that a Japanese colonist did it.

Be that as it may, the officials of the war relocation authority should take whatever steps are necessary to prevent anything further of the kind from happening, insofar as it might be perpetrated by a Japanese colonist.

These ancient carved writings are among the most interesting historical features of the Klamath country. They are of great scientific significance. They are sacred to those who are interested in the mysterious history of this country. They must be preserved.

Regardless of who spread the paint, there are no doubt colonists at Tulelake who have plenty of time to remove it and this, it seems to us, would be an excellent settlement project. It could be done without acceptance of liability, and at the same time would vastly benefit the "public relations" of the colony.

It's a good thing Kaiser, the shipbuilder, wasn't in the news in the last war the way he is in this one. Kaiser meant something else in 1917-1918, and to have two Kaisers of such completely different significance in the headlines in those days would have really complicated the news situation.

Dairy

Gene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horsley, was taken to Klamath Falls on Monday, where he received medical attention for a fractured arm which he hurt while playing in the Bonanza Wildcat football game last Friday, September 25, at Bonanza.

Mrs. Claud Fraley received word Monday that her husband underwent a major operation at his station in Norfolk, Va. Fraley has been in a serious condition for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Horsley entertained with a chicken dinner on Sunday, September 27, in honor of their son Ben, who came for a surprise visit on Sunday, with his parents and friends before leaving for his new training field in Phoenix, Ariz. Those at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Horsley of Bonanza, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Stoehsler of Klamath Falls, Albert Burgdorf and son Eldon, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Schmoie and daughters, Louise and Virgie Lee, and Donald and Gene Horsley.

Albert Burgdorf and son were business visitors at the Lefty Challis ranch of Hildebrand on Monday, September 28.

Lloyd Swanson left Monday evening, September 28, for examination at Portland for induction into the army.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Schmoie, Fred Schmoie and daughter, Nadine and son, Robert, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Roberts and family of Homedale on Sunday, September 27.

The patent office, department of commerce, is one of the few government agencies that pay their way and actually render a profit.

FUNNY BUSINESS

"Bugle calls don't wake him—so the bugler just pulls the string!"

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—War Producer Donald Nelson thought a 25 per cent fuel oil cut for winter would be enough. So did Oil Coordinator Ickes, who certainly should know.

But Mr. Leon Henderson's OPA decided to deepen the cut to 33 1-3 per cent, thereby netting a lot of oil authorities, and creating some suspicion that he may be gambling with public health.

This is one of those things that no one in official position wants to talk about. Everyone outside, too, wants to cooperate to whatever extent is necessary.

But it must be related, in truth to the facts, that the oil people here again suspect Mr. Henderson is suffering from a chronic rationing phobia.

If Ickes and Nelson thought 25 per cent was enough, there is no reason to suspect Mr. Henderson has superior judgment or additional facts. Indeed, his announcement specified none. It offered no justification, except the unbacked one that OPA did not believe 25 per cent would be enough.

No health authority in the government is going to come out and say that waves of influenza and pneumonia may be promoted by such a drastic cut, because no one wants to anticipate uncertain results.

But the best possible medical authority says the ideal indoor temperature is 68 to 70 degrees. Henderson has fixed 65 degrees which the U. S. public health service here says is a proper temperature to maintain maximum efficiency in factories, where people are moving about.

The only official evidence on the subject is some testimony by Mayor LaGuardia, before the house banking committee last year, contending that reduction of temperatures would have a serious effect on health.

IT WILL WORK OUT
This much may be surely said: The country, and particularly the womenfolk, will have to go into long underwear. This nation has been accustomed to a winter indoor temperature of around 70 to 72 degrees, and dressed accordingly.

European nations, particularly Britain and France, get along at lower temperatures, but they do so by using heavier clothing, and moving about more indoors.

Active children will no doubt suffer less than the aged and infirm. Office workers will have to adopt the practice of getting up and moving around frequently.

If these simple rules are adopted gladly by the people, and they have psychologically a spirit of cooperation and a sense of confidence in the results, the effects will certainly be less serious than otherwise.

As a matter of fact, if the usual Washington course is followed, Mr. Henderson's shivering forecast probably will be moderated in administration. They always talk big and harsh here at the start, but somehow their programs always work out to be less terrifying than promised.

For an apt example, automobiles bearing "A" cards in the east are cluttering up the roads daily on their four gallons a week. Bootleg gas is available everywhere—in New York at five cents a gallon additional, and in Washington at ten cents a gallon extra.

NOT RECOMMENDED
The first two steps taken by the government toward national gas rationing were diametrically opposed to the recommendations of the Baruch report, which inspired the confidence of the country.

First, Czar Jeffers was not a rubber man as recommended. Second, his initial official step disregarded the Baruch recommendation for national rationing on the basis of need, in accordance with the program of the office of defense transportation.

First, Czar Jeffers was not a rubber man as recommended. Second, his initial official step disregarded the Baruch recommendation for national rationing on the basis of need, in accordance with the program of the office of defense transportation.

First, Czar Jeffers was not a rubber man as recommended. Second, his initial official step disregarded the Baruch recommendation for national rationing on the basis of need, in accordance with the program of the office of defense transportation.

First, Czar Jeffers was not a rubber man as recommended. Second, his initial official step disregarded the Baruch recommendation for national rationing on the basis of need, in accordance with the program of the office of defense transportation.

First, Czar Jeffers was not a rubber man as recommended. Second, his initial official step disregarded the Baruch recommendation for national rationing on the basis of need, in accordance with the program of the office of defense transportation.

First, Czar Jeffers was not a rubber man as recommended. Second, his initial official step disregarded the Baruch recommendation for national rationing on the basis of need, in accordance with the program of the office of defense transportation.

First, Czar Jeffers was not a rubber man as recommended. Second, his initial official step disregarded the Baruch recommendation for national rationing on the basis of need, in accordance with the program of the office of defense transportation.

SIDE GLANCES

"Please, Ted—you said all you wanted was something to make a sandwich before turning in!"

Telling The Editor

Letters printed here must not be more than 500 words in length, must be written legibly on ONE SIDE of the paper only, and must be signed. Contributions following these rules, are warmly welcome.

REGISTRATION SITUATION

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (To the Editor)—In securing signatures to my petition for nomination as an independent candidate, I learned something about the registration of voters which is of vital interest to not only any and all candidates, but also to the voters themselves. Many of my signers were registered last year, and voted for president in 1940, and are still living at the same address, but owing to the fact that it was necessary to divide some of the voting precincts, it is very necessary that these voters should re-register and be assigned to the proper newly created precinct.

Some have already done so, but many have not, and all those who have not re-registered, will not have their names on the proper poll book.

To illustrate: There were over a thousand people registered in the old "Shasta precinct" and at the present time there is no such precinct.

In its stead there are: North Shasta, West Shasta, South Shasta, and East Shasta, and all those who have not re-registered, so I am informed, will not have their names on the new

7313 by Alice Brooks

Get out your purple, yellow, brown and blue embroidery threads and let them "paint" these realistic patterns on your linens. Tea cloth, scarf, or smaller linens can be made lovely. Pattern 7313 contains a transfer pattern of four 9x9 and four 21x21 inch motifs; illus. of stitches; materials needed.

To obtain this pattern send 11 cents in coin to The Herald and News, Household Arts Dept., Klamath Falls. Do not send this picture, but keep it in the envelope. Requests for patterns should read, "Send pattern No. _____ to _____ followed by your name and address."

men here have become impatient at the extent to which this cloak has been stretched recently. An airing is in the offing.

Klamath's Yesterdays

From the files—40 years ago and 10 years ago.

From the Klamath Republican October 2, 1902

The winter schedule for stage lines went into effect yesterday. The stage from Ashland will absorb parts of two days on the road, spending one night on the mountains. This will delay local mail service and a protest is being made.

The home of Hiram Roberts of Poe valley was destroyed by fire. Wood rats are believed to have ignited matches in the residence. The family was away at the time.

From the Evening Herald October 1, 1932

The name of Willis E. Mahoney stays off the November election majority ballot, as a result of a court injunction.

Lumber Industry Scraps Into Pitch Campaign

PORTLAND, Oct. 1 (AP)—Oregon's lumber industry pitched into the scrap drive today by authorizing Roy Wood, tractor equipment representative, to dig up scrap in logging camps.

He will visit all camps and mills in northwest Oregon to look for metal and to consult with owners about turning over abandoned machinery to the scrap pile.

NOVEL CLOCK

A novel clock in a South American city is in the form of a searchlight. The clock, in revolving, falls on a different landmark every hour.

helping the army enlist will be flying our ships.

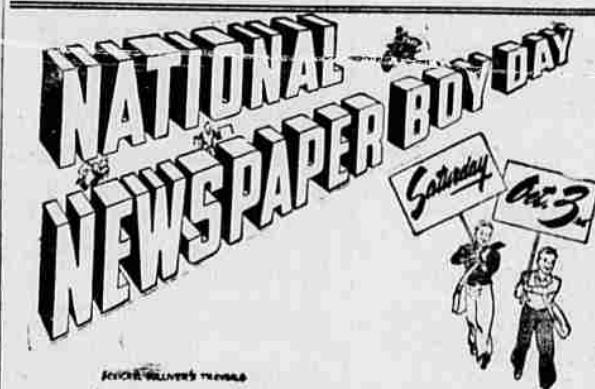

The campaign for funds continues.

Hundreds of posts, as well as departments, throughout the country have contributed generously. Others are raising their share through entertainment programs and local drives.

Individual members are urged to contribute at least $1 toward the purchase of these planes. Members who have not yet donated their share should send their dollar without delay to the Post Quartermaster.

Help our aviation cadets become skilled flyers. "Keep 'em Flying."

PELICAN POST 1383, Klamath Falls, Ore.

Cartoon Contributed by Irving Dugan, The Herald-Dispatch-Advertiser, Huntington, W. Va.

This is your Newspaper Boy's BIG DAY—his Day. Usually it is a time of picnics, with Nation-wide praise for work well done. But this year America's great army of loyal, patriotic Newspaper Boys have set themselves the task of selling $5,000,000 IN WAR STAMPS on National Newspaper Boy Day. Having already rolled up a total of nearly $25,000,000 in War Stamp sales, they are confident they can reach the Five Million goal on this one day. Help them, your country, and yourself—Buy all the 10-cent War Savings Stamps you possibly can for National Newspaper Boy Day, Saturday, October 3rd.

ORDER BLANK FOR WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

Herald and News Newspaper Boy

I want to help make National Newspaper Boy Day a $5,000,000 War Stamp Day.

Please deliver _____ 10-cent War Savings Stamps on October 3rd.

I would also like to have _____ 10-cent War Savings Stamps delivered every week until further notice.

NAME _____

STREET _____

CITY _____ STATE _____

7313 by Alice Brooks

HERALD AND NEWS

Martha

Shops and Shops

F. R. Hauger

I'VE been wondering how plastic playing cards will go over. We're all so used to buying a pack for anywhere from 25c to $1.00 and having it wear out in a short time, that it may be hard to get used to the idea of cards that are just about permanent.

But times are changing fast. And what brought this to mind was the beautiful selection of plastic playing cards I saw at F. R. Hauger's at 515 Market street.

Mr. Hauger told me that he carries them only in plastic boxes because the price was virtually the same whether they came in charming cases or not. And the boxes are so beautiful you'll probably want to leave them out on a table.

Anyway, to get back to the plastic cards themselves. They have stood tests which show they will outlast 50 decks of ordinary playing cards, and all the time remain as fresh as a new deck. They retain their snap so well that normal wear and tear have almost no effect on them!

Now figure 50 decks of cards at 50c each. That's $25. And figure one pack of plastic cards in a lovely box at $4.00. When you think of that, the original cost seems like a mere pittance, doesn't it? So I have a hunch we'll all be using plastic cards for bridge and other games in the days that are coming up right away. When people will entertain at home instead of trying to buck gas rationing and tire rationing.

You'll find these plastic cards at Hauger's, 515 Market street.

Curry's

THE sale all Helen Rubinstein enthusiasts have been waiting for is here. The once-a-year half-price sale of Rubinstein's sensational famous Novena Night Cream.

And it's at Curry's, of course. Because that's the only place in the Klamath country where you can buy Helen Rubinstein products.

If you haven't tried Novena Night Cream, you don't know what you're missing. Because its users are so enthusiastic they're the best advertisement

Cal-Ore

SOME friends called up yesterday afternoon, said a brother and sister-in-law were visiting them from Southern California, and suggested Cal-Ore for dinner.

So down we went. It was Brady Narey's birthday, and we were horrified when we discovered him in a little room all by himself, poring over papers with lots of figures on them. Since that's no way to spend a birthday, we got him to sit down with us for a while.

But he felt he had to go back to figuring. So later on we asked the orchestra to sing "Happy Birthday" to him, and sent a waiter to get him. After that, with everybody in the place knowing about his birthday, he couldn't go back to working too hard on such an important day.

I have a hunch that you'd better get an extra jar, too. All this talk about rationing of jars and the things that go into so-called "cosmetics" has got me wondering about sales. If manufacturers are curtailed in their production, they're not going to try to sell more for less. They're going to want full price for whatever they can produce. And that will be the end of half-price sales, I think.

Of course, that's only my own hunch. But if I were you I'd get an extra jar of Novena Night Cream at Curry's!

Garcelon's

IF YOU have been wondering what to send to men in the service, drop in at Garcelon's and see the compact kits. You'd never believe it from the size, but each contains a toothbrush, Squibb Dental cream, Squibb Brushless Shaving cream, a razor and blades, Lifebuoy soap, styptic pencil, comb, nail file and unbreakable mirror.

The kits in canvas holders cost only $2.75. Those in fine leather cases are $5.95.

Or how about a flat "traveling" clock for him? It costs $2.50.

Speaking of service men. Garcelon's has a whole shipment of Christmas cards for them. And Christmas stationery. One kind comes in French note style that is very clever.

Then there is army and navy stationery embellished with humorous drawings. And fine man-sized stationery for him to write back on. With engraved army or navy insignia at the top.

Any way you look at it, though, you'll find a tremendous saving in cost. Because, of course, each $1.00 you pay has to have 10c tax added for the government. And instead of having to add 23c tax to the $2.25 Astringent, making a total of $2.48, all it costs you is $1.10.

You'll find Alexandra de Markoff preparations at Whytal's. And remember, this special starts Saturday.

Moe's Millinery

A NEW shipment of Gage hats has just arrived at Moe's millinery department. For sports or dress occasions. And another shipment of Leighton sports hats.

Both of those names. Gage and Leighton. Are so well known that I don't need to say much about them. Just the mere mention that Moe's carries them has sent an awful lot of people up the steps to the mezzanine floor where the millinery department is located.

While you're there, don't forget to look at the feather trimmed hats. They're THE thing now. For dress, of course. And are expected to be the best type of hat to wear with fur coats this winter.

You'll find them at Moe's.

EVERYBODY SAVING 10% EVERY PAY DAY IN WAR BONDS

Murphey's

AT Murphey's Seed Store, I noticed a lot of evergreens propped up around the entrance. And standing there was Red Buxman. So I stopped to talk, and he said, "Now is the time to buy your evergreens."

"Why?" I asked. He looked thoughtful and then answered, "Because I've got them in stock."

I think he meant that as a joke, because this time of year I've always noticed people putting in new shrubs around their gardens.

Anyway, these evergreens are locally grown by the Greene Nursery and are so fully acclimated they won't notice the transplanting.

Murphey's Seed store also has just received a shipment of bulbs. Tulips, narcissus and daffodils. Which should be planted now. They're grown in Oregon and Washington, since all the bulbs now are American-grown.

I've always found that Murphey's is a good place to buy things to plant because the store insists upon the best quality, the kind of growing things that will grow here. Haven't you?

Alexandra de Markoff

A SPECIAL once-a-year savings in Alexandra de Markoff's facial preparations starts at Whytal's on Saturday of this week. It's a different kind of "sale" or "special" because 15 of these famous preparations are being featured at only $1.00 each.

Take the famous Alexandra de Markoff powder, for instance. For this event it comes with a puff and a cute little "spool" of red silk thread that is really a lipstick of the new Red Silk shade that is so popular. All of the 15 preparations are specially put up in sizes that, in most cases, give you double value for that dollar. The cream mask, however. (It's called Facial Sculpture Cream) is a $3.75 value for $1.00.

Other things, like the dry rouge, give you a $1.33 value for $1.00.

Any way you look at it, though, you'll find a tremendous saving in cost. Because, of course, each $1.00 you pay has to have 10c tax added for the government. And instead of having to add 23c tax to the $2.25 Astringent, making a total of $2.48, all it costs you is $1.10.

You'll find Alexandra de Markoff preparations at Whytal's. And remember, this special starts Saturday.