

National BPW Week Observance Slated

Klamath Falls Club To Sponsor Various Affairs Starting October the Eleventh.

Elenora Weatherford, chairman of public affairs, has an interesting program outlined for the Business and Professional Women's club dinner meeting on Monday evening, October the fifth, at half past six o'clock in the Willard hotel. At this time Mr. Mitchell Tillotson, manager of the Klamath Falls branch of the First National bank, will speak on "Inflation."

Effie Garcelon, executive secretary of the war price and rationing board, will speak on subjects vital to her work. Dortha Reed will entertain with several vocal solos and there will be a group of dances by Sharon Willits.

Members of Miss Weatherford's committee include Martha McCollum, Norma Miller, Inez McCoy and Della Stark.

The annual tea which will be held in observance of National Women's week, will be an event of Sunday, October the eleventh, from three to five o'clock at the home of Mrs. Clarence Humble, 1320 Pacific Terrace. Nedra Hunt is chairman and will be assisted by LeMoline Savage, Frances Golding, Jean Rawlins and Isabelle Brixner. That morning, at eleven o'clock, the BPW members will attend the First Presbyterian church in a body, this also in observance of BPW week. Members are asked to meet in front of the church at a quarter to eleven. Posters in windows and radio publicity along with newspaper publicity, will feature the week.

The following statements appeared in BPW members' mail recently and is of interest to all women, especially those engaged in war work. A small part is printed here:

Women's contributions to the war effort are still so much in the making, and so greatly varied and widely scattered that a complete over-all picture is not yet available, according to Mary Anderson, director, Women's bureau, U. S. department of labor. "When it comes to women's vital share in the fight for victory and democracy will stack up to heroic proportions," she says, in a statement for Business Women's Week.

"Over a million and a half women are said to be in war employment. Some have been headlined and spotlighted for their spectacular performances. But the vast majority are working inconspicuously and indefatigably behind the scenes helping to keep the wheels of industry turning and to speed up the whole war program.

"Thousands of women are serving—and often gallantly—with the armed forces, as nurses, social workers, technicians, and so on—behind the lines of battle overseas, and in the cantonments of our own soil.

"Employed in less dramatic but none-the-less useful war services in the United States government are steadily growing numbers of women—thousands as secretaries, stenographers, typists, file clerks—other thousands in industrial, mechanical, professional pursuits.

"Honorable mention should be made of those women experts who take time from their private endeavors to serve as consultants to the government on questions pertaining to labor, womanpower, merchandising, army feeding, selling war stamps and bonds, for example.

"Deserving commendation for their enterprise and success are the young women, trained in mathematics, physics, chemistry, who have blazed trails as pioneers into laboratories of war industries.

"Also, great tribute is due the unflinching women in

Commandos Continue To Improve Room as Gifts Presented

A meeting of Commandos was held Monday evening in the pine paneled room of the Elks club with members and Mrs. Louis Serruys, advisor, present. New members are Phyllis Duffy, Phyllis Smith and Evelyn Peterson.

Plans were made for a dance to be given Saturday evening for visiting men in the service. It was also announced that CPT reserves were welcome to the headquarters and as these men are not in uniform, a special invitation was given them by the group.

Rooms are open from one o'clock until eleven o'clock and all service men are welcome to attend. Two members of the Commandos are on duty from five to eleven each evening and others are asked to assist.

Books are needed by the organization, it was reported. Recently Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Revell of the Langell Valley branch library sent in a number of best sellers which were turned over to Commandos by Miss Mary McComb of the county library. In the collection were "Past Imperfect" by Ilka Chase, "Ivory Mischief" by Meeker, "World's End" by Upton Sinclair, "Fifty Best American Short Stories" compiled by Edward O'Brien, "Story of America in Pictures" by Allen Collins and a number of other excellent books. Those having new books and in good condition are invited to bring them to the Commando rooms. Also needed by the girls is an eight or ten-foot counter, and they would like to obtain a refrigerator for the rooms and suggested someone leaving town might wish to loan them the machine for storage.

The date of Saturday, November the fourteenth, has been chosen by the members of St. Mary's Altar society, Sacred Heart church, for the annual bazaar and card party. The place will be announced later.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Walter Jendrzewski, (Geneva Lyman), are parents of an infant daughter, their first child, born at Hillside hospital on September the thirtieth.

many other lines of war work; the constantly growing thousands of women on production lines, helping to turn out planes, guns, shells, tanks, uniforms, shoes, and a countless variety of war equipment—the thousands of office workers in these plants—the vigilant telephone operators and other service workers—and particularly those women running their own business who have adapted or converted their enterprises to a war basis."

Married in Chapel

Bette Campbell became Mrs. William B. Wilson Jr. in a ceremony read this past week at the Newell chapel.

WEDNESDAY CLUB ANNUAL PARTY PLANNEE

Members of Wednesday club of St. Paul's Episcopal church are looking forward to the annual Halloween party which will be held Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, October the twenty-first, in the parish house. Hostesses will be Mrs. L. Z. Carter, Mrs. Opal Jones, Mrs. Roy Whitlatch, Mrs. Roberta Webb and Miss Orpha Hudson.

The next business meeting of the club will be held this coming Wednesday, October the seventh, in the parish house. There will be cards and refreshments later. Hostesses will be Mrs. Ramon L. Kent, Mrs. Wyatt Padgett, Mrs. Freda Kennitzer, and Miss Jerry Heaton.

MATCHES CONTINUE AT REAMES CLUB

Women golfers at Reames Golf and Country club will continue their matches in the championship tournament and next Friday Mrs. Jacques J. Steiger will play Mrs. W. O. Smith and Mrs. William Grove and Mrs. Harry J. Land will meet. In the second flight, Mrs. George H. Merryman Sr., will play Mrs. Guy Hancock, the winner of this match to meet Mrs. R. R. McCartney Sr., who won by default this past Friday.

Twenty-five women enjoyed luncheon at the clubhouse Friday, with three tables of bridge in the afternoon. Hostesses were Mrs. W. G. Hagelstein and Mrs. Harry Panning.

Mrs. Wilfred E. Lamm, president, announced that women of Reames will sew Thursday at the Merryman home and it is hoped that as many women as possible will turn out for this work which has been carried out for a number of months in the interest of the Klamath county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Wiley and son, Patrick, returned north this weekend to their home in Portland. Mrs. Wiley and Patrick have visited here with her mother, Mrs. Lucile Warner, joined Thursday by Mr. Wiley.

League Has Busy Week

Women Voters Sponsor Work for Coming Year Sale and Outline

The annual rummage sale sponsored by the Klamath County League of Women Voters was underway Saturday, October the third, in the Medical Dental building with Mrs. Roland E. Wright acting as chairman. Members of her committee included Mrs. Alfred Gray, Mrs. Rosa McCornack, Mrs. Frank Jenkins, Mrs. C. V. Rugh, Mrs. Ross Stapley, Mrs. Guy Hancock, Mrs. E. A. Geary, Mrs. Helene Melans, Mrs. George Stevenson, Mrs. W. D. Miller, Mrs. Coleman F. O'Loughlin and Mrs. Howard Barnhiel.

The foreign policy study group of the league, under the leadership of Mrs. E. A. Geary, met Tuesday afternoon, September the twenty-ninth, at the home of Mrs. Everett R. Dennis, and plans for the ensuing season were outlined. Study of the outline prepared by the commission to study the organization of peace is part of the program for this group. Interesting articles were read by Mrs. Geary.

The educational study group met Wednesday afternoon in the conference room of the United States National bank. Mrs. Godfrey Blohm and Mrs. Paul Landry are co-chairmen of this group.

Study of the local school situation and the re-arrangement for co-ordinating elementary and high school work, the county unit plan, and the bill sponsored by the Oregon State Teachers association for re-distribution of excess funds from state income tax returns, are the projects for the education group.

A visit to Klamath Union high school and study of changes brought about by the war program at the local plant are also anticipated as an interesting part of the group's work.

A program will be presented before the league by the education group touching upon all these projects. The next meeting of this group is set for Wednesday, October the fourteenth.

The next regular meeting of the league will be held Monday afternoon, October the fifth, at two o'clock in the small clubroom of the city library.

Mrs. Nelson Reed will be in charge of the program, and the proposed revision of the city charter will be studied. The old charter, drawn up in 1913 is outmoded, and the new streamlined and condensed form will do away with conflicts and clarify city laws and ordinances.

Women from all clubs and organizations of the city are particularly invited to attend Monday's meeting and to discuss the new charter which will come up for vote at the November election.

Mrs. Shelby Calhoun of Los Angeles arrived Friday morning to spend a fortnight with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. King of Alameda street while her husband, member of the coaching staff of the University of Southern California, is with his team. The USC footballers continued through here Friday en route to Seattle where they will play Washington on Saturday, going from there to play Ohio State in Ohio.

KLAMATH FOLKS MOTOR TO CORVALLIS

Visiting in Corvallis this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. Rollo C. Groesbeck and Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Reynolds, who motored north Friday afternoon for a several days' stay. The Reynolds will visit their daughter, Marcille, student at Oregon State college.

Mr. and Mrs. Groesbeck will be guests of their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Groesbeck and little Joan, now making their home in Corvallis where Stewart serves as sanitary engineer on the air base job there. They moved north the first of August when the Medford cantonment work was completed. Of interest to friends of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Wakefield, (Grace Jean Groesbeck), is word that they are now living in Bridgeport, Connecticut, where Mr. Wakefield is in the personnel department of the Voight-Sikorsky airplane plant. Mrs. Wakefield is working in the General Electric hospital dispensary at Bridgeport.

Mr. Ernest D. Lamb, state president of the Oregon Federation of Garden clubs, will continue her official visit to clubs in Oregon and leaves Monday morning for Salem where she addresses the Salem Garden club at eight o'clock that evening. On Tuesday she will preside at a meeting of the Santiam district in Salem.

STATE HEAD TO VISIT IN SALEM MONDAY

From Salem, Mrs. Lamb plans to continue to Portland on club business. While there she will be the guest of her mother, Mrs. David C. Powell.

Spending this weekend at Lake O' the Woods at Mrs. Rose M. Poole's cabin are Mrs. Twyla Ferguson, Mrs. Clara Shaw and Mrs. Poole.

Mrs. Richard Post is spending this weekend in Klamath Falls from Portland, guest of her mother, Mrs. C. B. Browne.

Little Ronald Nicholas is the four and one-half month old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Olvera, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Demetrakos, all of this city.

Dinner At Cal-Ore

Robert Parcher the third is the name given to the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parcher Ellingson Jr., of Pine street. Mother and son are doing nicely at Klamath Valley hospital.

Bette Campbell Is Bride in Ceremony

Private William B. Wilson and Tulelake Maid Married in Camp Newell Chapel.

TULELAKE—Before a massed background of white gladioli in tall white baskets, evergreens, and tall white tapers in candelabra. Bette June Campbell, lovely titian haired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stanley Campbell of Tulelake became the bride on Saturday evening, September the twenty-sixth of Private William B. Wilson Jr., of Fort Worth, Texas, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wilson of that city.

The full military ceremony was performed at Camp Newell where the groom is a member of the military guard. The single ring service was read by Rev. Hugh L. Bronson, pastor of the Altamont Presbyterian church of Klamath Falls, in the presence of one hundred and twenty-five guests and relatives.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father was gowned in a flute blue wool ensemble. Her hat of matching blue feathers was halched with a veil. Her shoulder corsage was a white orchid.

Miss Ardye Brown of San Francisco, cousin of the bride, was her maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, June Brown of Bonanza and Eleanor Waldin of San Francisco, all wore street frocks in shades of blue with corsages of Talisman rosebuds.

Private William Jackson, Camp Newell, was best man. Ushers were Private Davis and Private Leay.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Edgar Osborne of Tulelake, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Bell, sang Cadman's "At Dawning" and "Because."

The wedding party, in traditional military note, left the hall beneath an arch of bayonets for the home of the bride's parents where they greeted more than a hundred friends at a reception.

Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson was the bride's mother, gowned in a street length black frock and black accessories. Her corsage was gardenias.

Bowls of fall flowers made a charming background for the refreshment table centered with the bride's cake which carried out a patriotic color note. Mrs. J. E. Barkwell, grandmother of the bride who with Mr. Barkwell, her grandfather, attended the ceremony, served the cake after Mrs. Wilson cut the first piece.

The bride, one of the most popular of the younger set here, is a graduate of the Tulelake high school. She later attended Oregon State college where she was pledged by Alpha Xi Delta. The groom is a graduate of Christian college in Fort Worth where he was in business with his father before entering the service.

The young couple will be at home to their friends in the McCollum apartments, Tulelake.
