the backbone of Russian defense. "Battles of local importance continued," red army headquarters announced, but it was evident that for the moment at least the German storm had subsided.

In its mid-day communique, the soviet command reported that Russian troops repulsed several tank-led attacks on Stalingrad's lines overnight and wiped out parts of two German battalions.

The heaviest fighting apparently still raged on the German left flank, above the city, where Marshal Semion Timoshenko has been slowly driving a series of wedges into the Nazi protective barrier.

up legs after the 1000-mile round trip, said no enemy fighters molested them and that both searchlight and anti-aircraft fire were weaker than they had encountered on the three previous raids since October 5.

The whole force returned without a scratch on a ship or a man.

Lieut. Al Progar of Springdale, Pa., who piloted the flare plane, said "We made our run over the targets unloading bombs and then started dropping flares."

Rabaul was well blacked out, he said, but he saw several fires around the base "most likely lit by the Japanese to confuse our bombers, but they were too obvious even from our altitude."

By the light of the flares tossed out by Corp. Bob Swanson of Anthon, Iowa, and by the bomb bursts, he said, "we could see Jap planes lined wing to wing on the airfield."

Our word "Lent" comes from the old English word "lencen," meaning spring.

MANPOWER WILL BE DRAFTED BY FIRST OF YEAR

manpower needs to the teen-age group, to men employed in agriculture and essential industry, and to the group having dependents.

Rapid Pace
Explaining the rapid increase in the induction rate, General Hershey said that during the first six months of this year inductions were at the rate of about 200,000 monthly, increased to more than 300,000 monthly during the third quarter, would be 400,000 this month, and approximately 450,000 in November and in December.

The rapid pace of hearings, by both the house and senate military committees, indicated they might be finished tonight. Continuance of such a gait could mean that high school students might be in the army by Christmas.

Quotas Made
Even if the draft age is lowered quickly, Hershey explained, this hardly would affect the draft of married men before December, since November quotas already have been made and are being filled by local boards.

Beginning with the December quotas, he said, "the great majority" of inductees in the following three or four months would be those in the teen ages, but thereafter selective service again would face the necessity of calling men with secondary dependents and wives only.

Hershey said lowering the draft age would be more beneficial to agriculture than to industry, because more of the 18-19 class are engaged in industry and would be drafted in the place of older men now going from farms.

three motorcycles used by the department.

Important Feature
Chief of Police Earl Heuvel wasn't pulling any punches when he said he considered the police radio the most important feature of the department.

Through radio officers can be brought to the scene of disaster by any of the four cars operating in that section, additional officers can be obtained within the space of minutes, and by use of the radio, doctors, ambulances and hospitals may be informed by way of the department.

In event of Injury, when seconds and minutes mean life or death, it is the two-way radio that has saved many a person, Chief Heuvel stated. He cited several cases where officers radioed the department for the inhalator which reached the source within as short a time as four minutes.

Scores of Calls
Blocking off of an area in search for criminals, prowlers and mischief makers, is made possible by use of the radio. The man on prowl car duty, needing help, can signal for additional officers to come to a certain designated area which, within the space of minutes, is well patrolled.

Every day scores of calls come into the police department. Some calls from frantic mothers searching for little ones who have wandered far afield. Others from in the dead of night when

HIGH SCHOOL News Notes and Comment

Something new in the way of committees is the Steering committee which was organized during the student council meeting Tuesday. The membership consists of three students and three instructors who are: Mr. Kelly Robinson, chairman, Mrs. Alice Howard, Mrs. Lucille O'Neill, Mary Landry, Dick Cada and George Proctor. These people will direct the war activities in KUHS.

They will see that every organization is helping and that the right group is doing the work most suited to it. At the time being the scrap drive is the main issue and will be worked out so as to get all of the scrap in this city. The sale of stamps and bonds will be sponsored by an organization, also Red Cross work will be done.

The annual Girls' league rummage sale is coming back into focus with indefinite plans being made so far. If the plans can be carried through then every student, boys included, are asked to bring several pieces of rummage. The League wants to buy another $100 bond as it did last year. The proceeds from the sale will go to this cause.

The following clubs of the Girls' league held meetings Wednesday to elect officers and discuss the business for this year:

Club I: Big and Little Sister: Dean Hamilton, president; Virginia Leslie, vice president; Dorothy Riggs, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Howard, advisor.

Club II: Li-Low: Dorothy Davis, president; Alleen Bocch, vice president; Donna Burke, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Howard, advisor.

Club III: Tea Toppers: Joy Kent, president; Nadine Palmerton, vice president; Virginia Benoit, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Webb, advisor.

Club IV: Dance-a-Lot: Doris Phillips, president; Margie Palmerton, vice president;

WILLIE TALKS TO FDR; Steps Back To Private Life
WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (P)—Wendell L. Willkie stepped out of the role of personal representative of the president and back into that of private citizen today after ending an epochal circuit of the world and appealing anew for a second front.

From the White House itself, where he reported to President Roosevelt late yesterday on a 31,000 mile tour that took him to fighting fronts in the middle east, Russia and China, Willkie urged that a second front be established. He had made the same appeal in Moscow.

Yet he told reporters: "In my judgment, Germany will never conquer Russia."

Willkie said he had his own opinion where a second front should be opened, but he was unwilling to name the spot. He based his decision that there should be one, he asserted, on talks with "military men all over the world." He said he had seen such men in Egypt and in the middle east, and that he had sounded out British, Russian, Chinese and American generals.

Officers said they were trying to locate an auto into which a man tried to entice another small girl about an hour before Vivian disappeared.

"Afraid of Case"
"I am afraid of this case," said Chief of Police Charles W. Dullea. He expressed fear that the child may have been kidnapped by a degenerate.

Last night's house to house search climaxed a 24-hour police hunt during which plain clothesmen, mounted patrolmen, and regular officers searched city parks, cemeteries and outlying areas.

The grief-stricken mother told police her daughter was clad in a pink printed dress over which she wore a miniature grass hula skirt.

SNOW WILL CLOSE CRATER LAKE PARK

Crater lake national park will return this season to its winter status of many years ago, with the snow permitted to pile up on all park roads, according to Carlisle Crouch, park chief ranger.

Crouch said that wartime conditions dictated the decision to let the park close this winter. Manpower is lacking for plowing equipment, and the service does not feel it would be justified in attempting to keep the roads open, he stated.

The ranger stated there will be three caretakers in the park, whose only communication with the outside world will be by means of ski trips.

Six or eight years ago, the park service made Crater lake a year-around park, keeping the roads plowed out for winter visitors. Visitation was heavy through the winter months in the succeeding years, but since the war began park travel has fallen off sharply and Crouch said that even if the roads were kept open this winter, few people would use them.

At Dorris a terrific protest was being made over the closing of 28,000 acres of marsh and lake area in the lower Klamath refuge south of the California line by the fish and wildlife service.
