

Candidates Speak, Bills Explained at Voters' Meet

Members and guests of the Klamath County League of Women Voters marked sample ballots Monday evening as candidates, or their representatives spoke, and state and city measures which appear upon the ballot for the November election were discussed by speakers.

Mrs. Isabelle Brixner, county school supervisor, gave arguments on both sides of the Oregon State Teachers association bill for the diversion of money from state income tax to the aid of Oregon schools. She pointed out that Oregon lags far behind in school assistance, and has no state support for schools, all of which are maintained by local taxes.

Malcolm Epley, managing editor of the Herald and News, gave arguments both pro and con for the other six measures to appear upon the November 3 ballot.

These measures include: the so-called cigarette tax; the proposed constitutional amendment increasing salaries of Oregon legislators and extending the regular legislative sessions from 40 to 50 days; the referendum of the 1941 laws prohibiting net fishing on coastal streams and bays; repeal of the rural credits fund amendment; prohibition use of highway funds for any other than highway purposes, and amendment authorizing regulation by law of voting privilege forfeiture.

Epley named sponsors of the various bills and outlined their political background.

Monday evening's meeting was opened by Mrs. Everett R. Dennis, president, and then turned over to Mrs. Ida M. Odell, League program chairman, who presided and introduced the speakers.

Representative Walter Pierce appeared in his own behalf in his race for re-election to congress, and complimented women voters for their intelligent interest in politics.

Jack Franey, chairman of the county republican central committee, appeared for Robert Farrell, candidate for secretary of state, and Dr. Harry Stone appeared for Earl Snell, republican candidate for governor.

William F. B. Chase, independent candidate for county commissioner, spoke in his own behalf.

Rollin Cantrall, city councilman, spoke for himself, and also for the new city charter which is to be voted on at the November polls. He also advocated the measure which will put the park board under the jurisdiction of the city, for which it functions, instead of under control of the circuit judge as it is now.

Allen Sloan, republican candidate for county assessor, and Newton B. Nelson, democrat, were present at the League meeting, and outlined their platforms.

Harry D. Bolvin, state representative, spoke for his candidacy for re-election, and William A. Delzell appeared in behalf of the candidacy of Lew Wallace, democratic candidate for governor.

The Voters league will sponsor a second candidates and measures meeting on the afternoon of November 2, the day before election, at 2 o'clock in the city library.

In the meantime the League will continue its work in stimulating interest in the Novem-

LUMBER BOARD SET IN PORTLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 21 (AP)—Headquarters for the Pacific Coast Lumber commission, the federal agency controlling wages and working conditions for 150,000 woods and sawmill workers in five western states, is now in Portland.

Thomas F. Neblett opened office yesterday and said hearings on wage-hour cases started recently in Seattle would be resumed Monday.

The first four cases scheduled for completion involve 70,000 workers in the Douglas fir industry, Neblett said.

Thomas Tongue, formerly of Hillsboro, Ore., and recently with the wage-hour division of the department of labor in Seattle, is Neblett's assistant.

The strength of a nation is no longer measured by the number of men in the army. Modern warfare is a contest of industries.—Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York.
