Over 500 farmers completed registration of their trucks and pickups during the three-day registration period, October 22, 23, and 24. In addition, 600 other farmers had not received the ODT application blanks and made requests to the Detroit office for them through the Klamath county transportation committee. In many cases the truck operator did not have all the information required, necessitating application blanks be held up until completed. In addition, a number of applications were completed and mailed direct to the office of defense transportation by farm truck operators.

E. A. Geary, chairman of the county transportation committee, has announced that any farm operator who failed to complete his registration or make application for blanks should do so immediately. All department of agriculture offices have been asked to give assistance in making out the necessary application blanks. These are located in the county extension and AAA office, on the second floor of the federal building; the farm security administration office on the third floor of the courthouse; and Production Credit association office on the second floor of the First Federal Savings and Loan building, Sixth and Main.

It is particularly important that all truck owners have certificates of war necessity issued to them before November 15, which means that applications should be completed at the earliest possible opportunity, it was emphasized.

DIMOND PROTESTS ALASKA RATIONING

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28 (AP)—An official of the office of price administration said today it was reasonable to assume that general rationing would be applied to Alaska but Delegate Dimond, representing the territory in congress, said any such plan was "just plain screwy."

Rupert Emerson, head of the territories division of the OPA said tires, automobiles and typewriters already were rationed in the territory but that sugar and gasoline were not.

"It would be just plain screwy to apply general rationing to Alaska," Dimond said. "I have tried to find out but I have been unable to learn what the OPA intends to do. In the interior of Alaska, residents have to lay in supplies every summer for the next 12 months. They can't run to a corner grocery store everytime they need a pound of sugar."

IN SOUTH PACIFIC—"Boy, what wouldn't I give to walk down Main street in Klamath Falls!" That's what Corporal Leonard L. Hamilton, 22, son of Mrs. Dorothy E. Hamilton of Shady Pine, would like to be doing right now. Young Hamilton enlisted in the US marine corps just six months before war was declared. He was at boot camp, San Diego, and left the United States on January 5, 1942, for a point in the south Pacific. He mentioned coconuts, pineapples and other tropical fruits in a letter to his mother shortly after he arrived at his base. Leonard won the certificate for the outstanding marine in his platoon at San Diego.

Corp. Hamilton was graduated from Klamath Union high school in 1939. He told his mother he would enjoy hearing from his classmates whom, he supposed, had more time to write than he. The marine operated a service station just north of Shady Pine prior to his enlistment. He is a former member of Battery A, but transferred to the marines. Last letter received by Mrs. Hamilton was September 3. In it the youth said, "Mother, don't worry, it's going to be a tough job but we'll get it done. We all have to do our bit."

Last of Coast Japanese Moved Inland; 110,599 Now Settled in Centers

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 28 (AP)—In a movement without parallel in the nation's history, 110,599 persons of Japanese ancestry have been transferred by the army from the strategic military areas of the west coast.

The army today summed up its operations, covering a period of eight months, in which the exodus was accomplished. The last of the Japanese were moved inland this week from Santa Anita and Fresno assembly centers.

Affected All
"Never before had military necessity dictated such a program," the army remarked. "It can now be said that the transference to relocation centers has been effected without incident, on time, and with a proper regard for the comfort of the persons moved."

The order of exclusion from strategic military areas, issued by Lieut. General J. L. DeWitt, commanding general of the western defense command, affected all Japanese, those born in this country as well as natives of Japan.

Average Pay
All now are in 10 huge relocation centers in the interior, maintaining their own quarters, operating their own facilities, maintaining hospitals, recreation areas and governing councils. They receive their housing, food and medical attention without cost, and in addition, those who work are paid $19 a month for professional people, $16 a month for skilled men and women, and $12 a month for the unskilled.

The army arranged for storage and conservation of property of all of those moved, took safeguards to preserve property rights of the Japanese, and to minimize resulting economic dislocations. About 8000 Japanese now are engaged in agricultural labor outside the relocation camps in several western states, but are not permitted in military zones.

Ten Centers
The 10 relocation centers established are Hananar, in southern California, in the shadow of majestic Mt. Whitney; Tule Lake, in Siskiyou county, extreme northern California; Parker, Ariz., Gila river center, near Sacaton, Ariz., with 16,000 acres of government land; central Utah, in the plateau area at Abraham; Minidoka, in Jerome county, Idaho, on 68,000 acres of public land east of Twin Falls; Heart moun-

COUNTY SCHOOL FIGURES SHOW TOTAL OF 4206

Klamath county school enrollment stands at 4206, slightly under that of a year ago, Harold Ashley of the superintendent's office said today.

He said last year's enrollment figures were not available but that they were slightly higher than those compiled today. Ashley said elementary school attendance, including first to sixth grades inclusive, is 2969 and high school, seventh through twelfth grades, stands at 1237.

Small School Started
The totals were compiled from enrollment figures as of early October, just prior to the three-week recess called in four county schools to free students for potato harvest work. The four schools resumed sessions yesterday, Ashley declared, and may show an increase through students who did not enter classes during the opening days.

The four schools are Henley, Merrill, Malin and Bonanza. Ashley also disclosed that a small school of nine students under the tutelage of Nancy Firestone had been started at Cascade Summit. Cascade Summit children ordinarily attend school at Crescent lake but this year transportation difficulties make it virtually impossible for them to travel.
