FALL PARTY EVENT OF WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Elmer Kinderdick entertained at one of the most attractive parties of the week for a group of friends Wednesday afternoon in the pine paneled room of the Elks club. Luncheon was served at one o'clock.

The room was attractive with many fall flowers with the autumn theme used in the favors and tallies. High score in bridge went to Mrs. Carl Steinseifer, second to Mrs. Douglas Tennant of Dorris, and low to Mrs. Frederick W. Hamilton.

Guests were Mrs. C. S. Elliot, Mrs. Guy Harmon, Carl Huson, Mrs. E. M. Mond, Mrs. A. J. Myers, J. F. King, Mrs. Frederic Hamilton, Mrs. R. C. Bro. Mrs. Douglas Tennant, Mrs. Ray Coulam, Mrs. Carl Steinseifer, Mrs. Marion Farmer, Mrs. Harry Land, Mrs. Dwight Gilchrist, Mrs. H. Shapleigh and Mrs. C. A. Lundy.

WEDNESDAY CLUB HAS COLONIAL PARTY

The parish hall of Saint Paul's church was delightfully transformed into a typical New England colonial home for the first November meeting of the Wednesday club. Hooked rugs on the floor, old copper pieces adorning the mantle, tables with checked cloths and a lively fire in the hearth made the room a cozy meeting place.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Frank Tarr, Mrs. Lane Warren and Mrs. Ray Ruger.

After the business meeting cards were enjoyed by the members. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Edward Goeckner and Miss Hazel Morrison.

The next meeting will be the Thanksgiving party on November the eighteenth. The hostesses will be Mrs. Edwin Schneebeck, Mrs. Phil Schroeder and Mrs. Edward Brandenberg.

Tea Given Tuesday

Mrs. Sisemore Honored at Affair During Past Week

Mrs. Charles F. Scharfenstein entertained at her home Tuesday afternoon, November the third, in compliment to Mrs. L. Orth Sisemore, the former Elizabeth Baker. The rooms were gay with autumn flowers and the tea table was prettily centered with yellow and white chrysanthemums and snapdragons with tall yellow tapers in silver candlesticks.

During the afternoon the guests enjoyed a group of soprano solos by Mrs. Edwin Schneebeck accompanied by Mrs. Scharfenstein at the piano.

Those asked to the Scharfenstein home to meet Mrs. Sisemore were Mrs. John Coppage, Mrs. Richard Maguire, Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. William Hibbs, Mrs. Marion Farmer, Mrs. J. Truman Runyan, Mrs. A. J. Lyle, Mrs. Lane Warren, Mrs. Roy Whitlatch, Mrs. Edwin Schneebeck, Mrs. Neal Mace, Miss Mary Jane Jenkins and Miss Hazel Morrison.

NILE CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY AT ELK HOTEL

Mrs. Charles Joseph Martin, Mrs. C. H. Underwood, Mrs. M. E. Cooper and Mrs. Fred Heilbronner will be in charge of the November meeting of the Nile club Tuesday afternoon at the Elk hotel following the one o'clock no-hostess luncheon.

Bridge will be in play during the afternoon, and it is expected that a number of the new members recently initiated at the Medford ceremonial of Zuleima temple, Daughters of the Nile, will be greeted.

Sojourners to Meet Thursday

Members of Sojourners club are asked to make note of the fact that the usual meeting, scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed due to Armistice Day and instead will be held Thursday at a quarter to two o'clock in the blue room of the Willard hotel.

Miss Judith Ann Vandenberg has returned to her home on Washington street after a two months' visit in Portland with relatives. Judy is the daughter of Circuit Judge and Mrs. David R. Vandenberg. She accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Boivin home from Portland where they spent several days.

Rationing Brings Changes in Homes

First It Was Tires, Then Sugar, Then Gasoline, And Now It's Coffee!

Ever since that day in early December when the lives of American people were so immeasurably changed, women of this country have found much to do and much to talk about in regard to the war effort. First it was the rationing of tires, then the most popular tea-cup conversational topic was sugar and canning, later it became the lack of their favorite brand of hosiery, and next it was gasoline, and now it's coffee!

To most thinking American women the rationing of this article, then the next, has been taken in splendid stride. It's just another thing to do without but there are so many other comparative luxuries that sugar, gasoline, coffee and tires are negligible.

Gasoline rationing goes into effect this month. Four gallons per car. And few families are sporting more than one car these days. One woman we know is spending more time looking around for a good, substantial pair of walking shoes than she is worrying about how far she can run her car on the rationed four gallons.

Social structures in city and hamlet alike will change with rationing. There won't be such a lavish use of coffee, that's one point, but there's still a hot punch to be served if you've a mind.

Take bananas, for instance. When we were very young a banana was a treat and anyway a sensible mother wouldn't give a child under six years old a banana! Brought on fits and the like. Arrival of babies the past eight or nine years seems to have changed the banana theory somewhat and one of the first fruits smashed up for that small palate was a nice, ripe, brown speckled banana. The way to look at that particular fruit is to remember when you didn't know they were so good for you and you didn't like them much anyway.

Besides they still grow oranges in California! Also grapefruit!

Parties won't last so long in the afternoons any more because mamma is going to have to "hoof it home" in order to have a warm supper on the table. She'll do more buying at one crack and not so much meal-to-meal ordering over the telephone as in days past. The basement stocks will probably be enlarged to let the housekeeper trot down stairs and pick her meal off a shelf. Those cooks who have spurned canned stuffs will probably welcome some of these same little containers. Canned spinach cooked with crisp bacon and simmered for a half hour or so on low heat is a good substitute for a potful of fresh spinach. Try it!

The art of baking, not necessarily pies and cakes, but good old hot bread baking, will probably come back unless you live too close to the corner store. It takes a few hours to turn out a batch of hot rolls, but they're worth it. And the only trouble with this sort of food is that the family enjoys it so much they eat hot rolls and crusty home baked bread to the exclusion of other "vittles."

More of the Saturday night beans-and-brown-bread type of supper will come back. When the whole family gathered around the board to munch on two-day beans. Sait pork is frequently at a premium but a chunk of ham or bacon can be substituted.

When gas rationing goes into effect it would be a nice gesture to see to it that you didn't drive to a club meeting, to a party, or down town to do your shopping without a generous carload of neighbors.

For goodness sake, don't neglect to pick up a lady loaded with bundles just because you haven't been properly introduced.

GAY PARTY GIVEN BY SORORITY

Kappa chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held a "Suppressed Desires" party at the home of Mrs. Howard Listoe, 2039 Lawrence street, on Thursday evening, October the fifteenth. Each girl came dressed as her suppressed desire and the rest of the group guessed the character.

Mario Divens was chairman with Irma Wauchope and Mrs. Arthur Mc... assisting for this occasion. At the end of the evening punch was served.

The other guests were Mrs. Bus Kaler, Eleanor Weatherford, Madge McLellan, Mrs. Howard Listoe, Isobel Jones, Jessie Johnson, Billie Haley, Norman Moty and Mrs. John Maguire.

Delta Gamma chapter of Delphian will meet Tuesday at a quarter to ten o'clock at the home of Mrs. E. H. Balsiger, Melrose street. The leader will be Mrs. Wilbur Jones and the topic, "The Arts in a Democratic Culture."

Benefit Event of Saturday Afternoon

Lioness Club Entertains at First Large Party of Fall in Willard Hotel

Purple and gold, colors of the Lions club, were used effectively at the annual fall benefit bridge tea given this afternoon in the ballroom of the Willard hotel by the Lioness club of Klamath Falls. Mrs. Myrtle C. Adams was chairman of the affair which was successful from a social as well as a financial standpoint. All funds went into the eye conservation pocketbook which the club maintains the year around.

Curtains were pulled on the stage and a large gold "L" centered the platform. Fall flowers and autumn leaves were used about the large room. Bridge was played with high score holders presented with war stamps.

Purple and gold tallies were placed on the individual card tables and the theme used still further on the lovely tea which was centered with gold chrysanthemums and flanked by tall gold candles. Purple napkins with the gold "L" in one corner completed the decor. Pouring were Mrs. E. D. Robinson, president of Lioness club, and Mrs. J. V. Owens, eye conservation chairman.

The following committee heads were responsible for the success of the affair: Mrs. Adams, general chairman; Mrs. Vernon Moore, chairman of reservations assisted by Mrs. F. Ceell Adams, Mrs. R. E. Hooker, Mrs. J. V. Owens; Mrs. Ted Shoop, tea table; Mrs. A. P. Heup, decorations; Mrs. R. E. Hooker, prizes; Mrs. Paul Skeen, door; Mrs. H. A. Wheeler, tables; Mrs. Clifford Voight, tallies.

PARTY GIVEN ON HALLOWE'EN

Miss Gwennyth Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Moore of Ewanna street, entertained a group of the younger set at a costume party Saturday evening of last week which was Halloween.

Guests arrived in typical Halloween garb and after games, refreshments were served to Dorothy Collier, Connie Hunt, Mary Ann Mills, Joanne Bennet, Jean Hilton, Louise Langworthy, Ruth Landry, Betty Cleig, Joyce Sample, Maxine Goddard, Vanlee Vaupel, Louise Boardway and Marian McIntyre.

AAUW Plans Fall Tea

State President To Be Honored by Klamath Chapter

Plans are being made for an interesting affair this coming fortnight when members of the Klamath county chapter, American Association of University Women, will honor the Oregon state president, Mrs. Pauline S. Kiehle, with an informal tea.

The tea will be an event of Thursday afternoon, November the nineteenth, at the home of Mrs. Samuel D. Earhart, 911 Eldorado street. Tea hours will be from three to five o'clock.

All members are asked to attend the affair in honor of Mrs. Kiehle. This meeting will be the regular November session which was previously scheduled for Saturday, November the twenty-first.

SHRUBS, VASES COLLECTED FOR CAMP WHITE

A generous response was received by the Klamath Falls Garden club and the Altamont Garden club following their appeal for vases, shrubs, vines or perennials to be used at Camp White, it was learned this week.

Another day of collection has been arranged by Mrs. Horace E. Getz, chairman of the project, who has named Armistice day morning for those who wish to bring their gifts to the American Legion hall. The vases and bowls are to be used in the Camp White hospital, the perennials and shrubs to beautify the grounds.

VISITOR HONOR GUEST AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Clara Young of Medford, houseguest this week of Mrs. K. M. Moty, was honored at a prettily appointed one o'clock luncheon at the Moty home, 1411 Canby street, Thursday afternoon.

Luncheon places were marked with sweet pea corsages. Bridge followed with high score held by Mrs. Francis D. Manning, low by Mrs. R. C. Brooks, and Mrs. Young received a gift from the hostess.

Wedding In Portland

Klamath Couple Exchange Vows at Bride's Home in North

A wedding of interest in Klamath Falls took place at eight o'clock the evening of Wednesday, October the twenty-first, when Mrs. Donna Wells Macartney and Lieutenant Fred Burgoyne were married at the bride's home in Portland. The Rev. Donald W. M. MacCluer of the Presbyterian church officiated.

The bride wore a black silk gown with a white yoke embellished with bright beads and a white satin turban with brief veil. Her flowers were of white bouvardia in a bouquet tied with a matching ribbon. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Benjamin A. Purcell of this city.

Mrs. Charles Mack, formerly of this city and now making her home in Portland, was the bride's only attendant. Mr. Ben E. Billings was best man. Immediately after the ceremony there was an informal reception. Mrs. B. A. Purcell and Mrs. Dora McCoy assisted about the rooms and at the coffee urn.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Burgoyne are well known in this city. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cary T. Wells of Sacramento, California, formerly of Klamath Falls, and the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Purcell of Roseway drive. Mr. Burgoyne is the son of Mrs. Fred Burgoyne of Portland. They are now in San Diego where the groom is awaiting orders with the army.

HER MOTHER'S WEDDING GOWN was worn by Dorothy Hill when she became the bride of Mr. John Paul Kerns at the J. W. Kerns home on the Keno highway Sunday morning, October the twenty-fifth. The young couple are now at home to their many friends.
