BONNEVILLE TO GO ON BUILDING

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The facilities review committee of the war production board Thursday advised the interior department to ignore a WPB order shutting down power construction insofar as the Bonneville power project was concerned until a decision is reached in a review of that case.

At the conclusion of a hearing on Bonneville's appeal of the order, Col. T. F. Farrell, chairman of the committee, told interior department representatives and Bonneville Administrator Paul J. Raver not to stop any of the construction until a decision is made and the WPB orders a new ruling.

A WPB order of October 20, required that all construction work on power projects of the interior department with some exceptions, be stopped. No exceptions were made in case of Bonneville which supplies power to scores of important defense industries, army camps, naval stations and navy yards.

PAINT PANSIES WITH NEEDLE AND FLOSS

7428 by Alice Brooks

Pansies—the poets have termed them “flower of thoughts.” There's no doubt what everyone will think of linens embroidered with these lovely motifs. Choose your favorite colors. Pattern 7428 contains a transfer pattern of 16 motifs ranging from 7 1/2 x 10 to 2 x 2 1/2 inches; illustrations of stitches.

To obtain this pattern send 11 cents in coin to The Herald and News, Household Arts Dept., Klamath Falls. Do not send this picture, but keep it and the number for reference. Be sure to wrap coin securely, as a loose coin often slips out of the envelope. Requests for patterns should read, “Send pattern No. _____, to _____, followed by your name and address.

Retail Selling Class To Open Nov. 16 at KUHS

Classes in retail selling will be offered by Klamath Union high school in cooperation with the state department of vocational education, for a three week period beginning November 16 and continuing through December 4. They will meet each Monday and Wednesday evening from 7 until 9 o'clock in room 214 at the high school. The class will be open to both men and women, 18 years and older, who have not had experience in the selling field or who have not been employed for the last five years as a sales person. Registrations will be accepted Monday evening, November 16, in room 214, from 7-9 o'clock. Persons interested in an afternoon class will be admitted to the 1 o'clock class which meets each day for one hour in room 214.

Always read the want-ads.

LUMBER BOARD EYES PLYWOOD PAY INCREASE

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 13 (AP)—The west coast lumber commission today considered a demand of the AFL Lumber and Sawmill workers that the Oregon-Washington plywood industry minimum wage be boosted to $1.05 an hour to compete with other war industries.

Such a minimum would put the industry in a better position to increase its manpower, Kenneth Davis, executive secretary of the union's Northwestern council, told the commission yesterday.

Minimum Asked
He urged that night shifts work 7 1/2 hours and get paid for 8 hours with the graveyard shifts to get 8 hours' pay for working 7 hours. This practice, he said, is prevalent in other war industries.

The CIO previously asked the commission for a minimum of 95 cents an hour with an extra 5 cents for the night and 10 cents additional for the graveyard shifts.

Second Well Child Clinic Held at Sprague River

SPRAGUE RIVER—The second Well Child clinic was held Friday, November 5. Dr. Peter Rozendal and Nurse Alice Stout of Klamath Falls, conducted the clinic. All children from the first meeting returned for their second diphtheria shots.

Besides these, five others came for the first shots and smallpox vaccinations. Three children received checkups and several school children came to get their second shots, as they had been absent from school when the doctor called.

Others assisting in the clinic were Nurse Bessie Houtz of Beatty, Mrs. D. C. Kircher, Mrs. Betty Moore and Mrs. Emma H. Tompkins.

We pass heavy siege guns hitting at the enemy miles away. Everywhere is the white dust. All from the dust cloud is ten miles long. I saw abandoned trench guns and saw abandoned rifles and guns. And there were enemy dead—tank, men blown out of their tanks by our artillery.—Richard MacMillan, United Press correspondent in Egypt.

Girl Scout Head

2-DAY REVIEW OF SCOUTS UNDERWAY

Miss Esther Ansel, northwest regional director of Girl Scouts, arrived Thursday from Portland to conduct a two-day review of scout activities with local troop leaders and council.

Miss Ansel, whose region includes all of Washington, Oregon, and Alaska, states that Girl Scout troop leadership is a two-way defense job.

"It helps the girls themselves, during a period of strain and nervous tension," she says, "and it helps our country by making available the services of girls in trained, organized groups."

Pointing out that nearly every Girl Scout has had the opportunity to learn first aid, home nursing, and the use of simple tools, Miss Ansel added that training in health and safety measures has been supplemented

Vandenburg Urges Attention To Growing Juvenile Problem

Judge David R. Vandenberg created much interest when he placed special emphasis on the responsibility of the citizen to his country, the man in service and to the juvenile, in a talk to the Lions club this week. He said the American citizen has three enemies excluding Italy: Germany, Japan and the slick politician.

"We as citizens should be ever on guard against the political enemy at home. We must take an active interest in our local government to be sure good capable men are elected or appointed.

"Our boys are fighting, for free courts, and the democratic processes of our Republic as they know them. We, the citizens, at home, are charged with the duty of preserving this form of government so our soldiers will not have fought and died in vain," he said.

Judge Vandenberg explained that the juvenile becomes a greater problem in time of war. The father is away working or in the armed forces, and the mother is often also working, leaving the children to shift for themselves. This problem will become greater as more married men are brought into the armed forces and more women into industry.

He urged that the community should provide better means of preventing crime through organized social work. "Many crimes could be prevented if more attention were given the youth," he said. "We should provide clubs where the youngster can have good associations, something to take the place of the broken home or lack of guidance. This program would make better citizens and thereby save the expense of prosecution as the crime would not be committed."

A committee was appointed by President Gene Hooker to help attain this goal.

There can be no secure peace as long as any gang of gunmen is free to run up a swastika and turn the country into a producing arsenal.—Francis B. Sayre, former Philippines high commissioner.
