"We need your help . . . buy war bonds and stamps regularly," writes Marine Sergeant Kenneth L. Anderson of Bloomington, Ill., veteran of the Solomons, Coral sea, and Midway. Top that 10 per cent by New Year's!

IWA PLEDGED TO 10 PER CENT DRIVE

C. R. Cooper, secretary and business manager of the International Woodworkers of America, today pledged the full resources of his organization to the treasury department drive to have every wage earner investing at least 10 per cent of income in war bonds through payroll savings by the first of the year.

"Our members realize only too well that war must be financed as well as fought," Cooper declared. "The boys in uniform will take care of the fighting; we on the home front must assume the financing. That means buying war bonds to the absolute limit. Labor's part in this all-important job can be accomplished best through payroll savings plans. Under these plans, at least 10 per cent of each worker's pay is deducted for the purchase of bonds.

"That labor has already got into the fight is indicated by the imposing number of workers who already are buying bonds regularly through payroll savings. Yet the job cannot be considered done until every worker not only in Klamath but in the entire nation, has signed up for at least 10 per cent in bonds every payday.

"Our brothers will need no urging to help make Klamath a 100 per cent payroll savings community. The treasury has adopted the slogan, 'Top That 10 Per Cent by New Year's,' for the drive and I am fully confident that when the drive ends, labor will report a perfect record. All that is needed to swing our workers in line under the '10 Per Cent Every Payday' banner is an efficient campaign and that is what we are going to have between now and the 31st of December.

Japanese Appeals From Conviction On Curfew Count

PORTLAND, Nov. 21 (P)—Notice of appeal was filed yesterday by Minoru Yasui, the 26-year-old American-born Japanese of Hood River, who was convicted of violating the army's curfew order.

The case, initiated by Yasui in a test of the order, prompted Judge James A. Fee's challenge of the army's power to issue regulations for west coast citizens without a declaration of martial law.

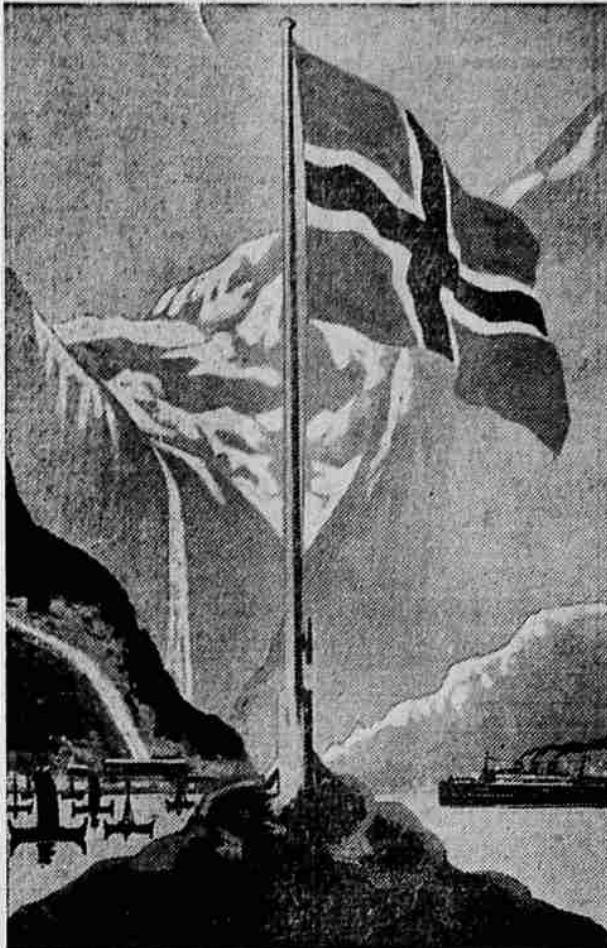

Judge Fee ruled, however, that Yasui, by becoming a propagandist for a Japanese consul, gave up American citizenship rights and therefore came under the army's regulation.

He was sentenced to a year in a road camp and fined $5000.

COUNTIES ASK TAX ON FEDERAL FOREST LANDS

PORTLAND, Nov. 21 (P)—The Association of Oregon counties asked the federal government again yesterday for a two per cent payment on federal forest land in the state.

The money would be paid in lieu of taxes, the association said, voting to continue its public lands committee, which is promoting a congressional bill authorizing the payment.

Motor Laws Approved
The association voted down a proposal to use brass from the old battleship Oregon, about to be scrapped for its metal, for plaques for the counties.

Also opposed was any plan to change the state motor vehicle laws. The association said they are "flexible enough."

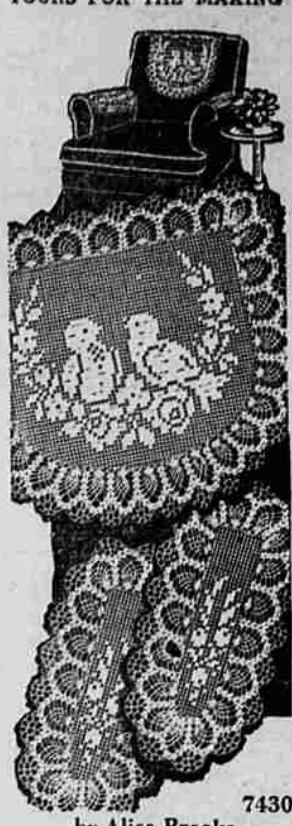

Officers Re-Elected
Other resolutions favored changed in the welfare laws, including: conformity with other states on welfare requirement; increased contributions to the social security program; relief payments to minors of $25 for infants up to five years old and $20 from 5 to 21 years, with counties contributing $5 for each child committed by a court.

All officers were re-elected. They were: Carl W. Chambers, Pendleton, president; H. D. Kerkman, Hillsboro, vice president; Fred Gibson, Salem, secretary-treasurer; F. L. Phipps, The Dalles, executive secretary.

The Association of Oregon Treasurers elected Francis Lambert, Portland, president; Mable Ragsdale, Baker, vice president; Hazel Guinn, Fossil, secretary-treasurer.

Ten per cent for war bonds now . . . or 100 per cent for tribute later. Top that 10 per cent by New Year's and show our boys you really want America to win.

DECORATIVE SET YOURS FOR THE MAKING

7430 by Alice Brooks

A piece of filet crochet beautifully framed in a pineapple edging will add a decorative note to your home. This chair set serves the important use of protecting chairs from soil and wear—something to look out for today. Pattern 7430 contains charts and instructions for set; illustrations of stitches.

To obtain this pattern send 11 cents in coin to The Herald and News, Household Arts Dept., Klamath Falls. Do not send this picture, but keep it and the number for reference. Be sure to wrap coin securely, as a loose coin often slips out of the envelope. Requests for patterns should read, "Send pattern No. followed by your name and address."

Buy it through the want-ads.

PAST MASTER'S NIGHT SCHEDULED

Past Masters' night will be observed Monday, November 23, it was announced. This is the annual meeting honoring the past masters of Klamath lodge No. 77, AF&M. Dinner will be served by the members of Eastern Star lodge at 8:45 in the Masonic temple. All past masters are asked to attend by those in charge.

There will be degree work put on by the past masters. All members and visiting brethren are invited to be on hand. Tribute will be paid to the 17 deceased and 26 living past masters of Klamath lodge. Lyle O. Mills, Pine Grove rancher, is the oldest living past master, it was announced.

Grays Harbor Mills Facing Curtailment

ABERDEEN, Nov. 21 (P)—With Grays Harbor lumber mills and plywood plants facing shutdowns or curtailment of operations because of a log shortage, a "war production council" was formed here Thursday to seek opening of government-owned Olympia peninsula timber stands.

The group, headed by Clyde Pitchford, Aberdeen banker, includes labor representatives as well as industrialists and business men. It requested President Roosevelt Friday to have the stands opened to cutting.

Attention MASONS

Past Masters' night, Monday, Nov. 23. Dinner at 8:45. Meeting at 8 o'clock. Work in the M. M. degree. J. F. FLOCK, W. M.

DR. JONES?
He's in the Army Now!

Those Who Remain Must Keep Our Country WELL.
All of our heroes are not in army camps, nor are they along the far-flung battle line. Consider the older Physicians—and those with heavier domestic obligations — including many a veteran of earlier armed conflicts. Unhesitatingly these men have accepted duties and obligations to the full limit of their strength, so that others may answer the country's call. If our hospitals for the Armed Forces are to be adequately staffed, then we at home must get along with fewer physicians. But the Home Guard will not let us down. In this troubled hour, this country has need for ALL that we can give. It is no time to neglect or squander the priceless asset of Health. Let us join, then, in a resolution to cooperate with these Physicians of the Home Guard. Our security rests upon helping them to help us. By following this National plan, we face our future fearlessly.

Here's How YOU Can Help . . .
First, wherever possible, call on the Doctor at his office during regular office hours. This saves his time, and yours. He can serve you more efficiently and effectively where he has full access to his office facilities and records.
If home calls are necessary, try, whenever possible, to anticipate them. Remember the Doctor's heavy burden. Do not, except in real emergency, ask him to call late at night.
Do not, in any event, neglect the illness that may develop into something serious. Call on the Doctor before he has to call on you. It may prevent much suffering and expense.
Take full advantage of preventive medicine as recommended by your physician. Watch your diet. Keep your habits regular. This is a time not only to get well, but to keep well.

Your Doctor's First Assistant
We of this Prescription Drug Store invite you to look upon us as an extension of your Doctor's professional services. We pledge you the same exacting care and consideration; an observance of the same high ethical standards. Our skilled registered pharmacists use only fresh, potent drugs.

Bring your next prescription here—it costs no more to have it RELIABLY compounded.

2 friendly habits

Quick to answer one's own telephone bell, slow to hang up when one calls a number that doesn't respond right away—these are two friendly habits that add a lot to the usefulness of the telephone.

"Quick pick-up" is hospitable and cordial. "Slow hang-up" is a prudent way of making sure that the called person is not disappointed. He may be right at the point of taking down his receiver—so why not give him a few more seconds?

Every call that does not have to be made again conserves telephone circuits that are handling an unusually heavy volume of traffic these days.

Your splendid cooperation, in these times of unprecedented telephone traffic, is sincerely appreciated. You are helping us to serve you faster and to do our vital war job better.
