statement made by the former Vichy defense chief.

Dakar is the most important French naval base on the West African coast and recently was reported by fighting French forces to be defended by 50,000 or 60,000 men, as well as considerable numbers of tanks and planes and a naval flotilla which includes the 35,000-ton battleship Richelieu.

Faithful to Petain

Darlan's announcement, as recorded in Vichy, was: "Inhabitants of French Africa, I have this evening good news to announce:

"French West Africa has placed itself freely under my orders. Therefore French West Africa remains faithful to the person of the marshal. (Darlan insists that he is acting under Marshal Petain's authority.)

No Starting Point

The strategic naval base once was called by President Roosevelt "an Atlantic fortress" against the axis. The Vichy French said they would defend it "against anybody clear to the end."

In fact, the strongly-fortified base repulsed a landing attempt by the Free French in 1940 to account for Vichy's only military victory since the fall of France.

With Dakar under allied control, the axis is bereft of a potential starting point for an offensive westward against the Americas.

THIS is another rumor day, with the news winds filled with hints of significant events to come, but no very definite developments other than the Russian counter-offensive.

U. S. air men from China sink a big Jap transport, or MAYBE A CARRIER (it's hard to be absolutely certain in swift air raids) at Haiphong, in French Indo-China. Huge fires were left burning on the waterfront.

Haiphong is believed to be the port from which supplies are flowing inward for a Jap drive on Yunnan province, in south-eastern China, which would have for its purpose the cutting of our line of air supply to the Chinese.

U. S. and British air forces based in India are also striking hard at Jap bases in Burma. Your map will tell you the Japs would undoubtedly use these bases as part of a two-pronged drive on Yunnan and the allied air route to China.

There are hints that MacArthur is closing in on the Japs at Buna and Gona, on the Papuan peninsula of New Guinea, and is about to capture them or drive them into the sea. A Jap destroyer trying to reinforce the Jap land forces has been sunk by our air attack.

The South Pacific front has been in somewhat of a lull since the big naval fight in which we drubbed the Jap navy, but keep an eye on MacArthur's operations in New Guinea.

They are important. If they succeed, our position in the Solomons will be greatly strengthened.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The army announced today that American casualties during the initial landings in North Africa were estimated at 1910 killed, wounded and missing.

A communiqué said Lieutenant General D. Eisenhower reported that he was not yet able to obtain a careful confirmation of the casualties, most of which occurred in the capture of Oran and Casablanca.

The total, the army said, was made up of 350 killed, 900 wounded and 350 missing in the army; and ten killed, 150 wounded and 150 missing from the navy.

Most of those reported missing, the army said, probably were drowned.

Public Hearings On Gas Rationing To Open Friday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—Senator Truman (D-Mo.) said today his senate defense investigating committee would open public hearings on gasoline rationing Friday and advise westerners to obey the nationwide rationing rules which go into effect Dec. 1.

In the meantime the house interstate commerce committee discussed the gasoline situation at a closed session, preparatory to calling witnesses.

Truman said he believed that if the newly-affected areas would "go along" with the program for 10 days, that would be sufficient time for the committee to lay the facts before the public.

"Gasoline rationing throughout the country is necessary," Truman said in an interview. "It is not to save gasoline. It is to save rubber. The idea is to keep the nation's cars rolling as long as possible."

Dispatches from Bern, Switzerland, last April 28 said there had been Rome consultations by the king in which Mussolini and Ciano were left out. At that time it was said a government shake-up and a "change of policy" might be forthcoming. Badoglio's name was mentioned in those reports.

Added to today's list of unconfirmed reports was one by Tass under a Geneva dateline and broadcast by the Moscow radio quoting "a well-informed source" saying that Heinrich Himmler, head of Nazi police forces, was speeding up organization of black-shirt SS units to put down revolt in conquered countries.

Rickenbacker Cites Religion as Hope During Long Ordeal

Cherry and his rescuer, occupants of a second raft sighted an island and rowed toward it, wondering whether it was occupied by Japanese. On this raft were Lieut. James C. Whitaker, 41, of Burlington, Calif.; Lieut. John J. de Angelis, of Nesquehoning, Pa.; and Staff Sgt. James Reynolds of Fort Jones, Calif.

The next day, acting on information supplied by Cherry, Lieut. Eadie resumed the search and that night, with the aid of flares, located Rickenbacker's raft some 40 miles from the island. Rain squalls were sweeping the sea and Eadie, afraid he would be unable to guide surface ships to the scene, landed on the water to attempt rescue with his plane.

Col. Adams, seriously ill, was placed in the plane's cockpit and Rickenbacker and Private John F. Bartek were lashed to the wing. Eadie, unable to get his light plane off the water with that load, started to taxi the 40 miles back to his base. A boat finally came alongside and took off Rickenbacker and Bartek but Adams was too ill to be moved so Eadie continued taxiing over the open sea.

"That chap has what it takes," Whitaker later said admiringly of Eadie.

SOROPTIMISTS ASK GIFTS FOR MEN IN SERVICE

Three thousand Christmas boxes for men in service, located in southern Oregon, is the goal of Klamath county, according to Mrs. H. W. Bathiany, chairman and representing the Soroptimist club.

These packages will go to men located at Camp White, at the local airport, and also at Camp Newell. Soldiers who find themselves in Klamath Falls on Christmas day will also be supplied with gifts in order that they will not go unnoticed at this time.

Names Asked

Organizations which have been contacted have agreed to help 100 per cent, Mrs. Bathiany stated, and all individuals who would like to help are asked to do so. Packages may be brought to Everbody's Drug store, receiving point, by December 12 if possible.

Such articles as candy, cookies, salted nuts, fruit cake, gum, playing cards, soap, stationery, cigarettes, fountain pens, shaving kits, sewing kits, airmail stamps, books or magazines, address books and many other articles are suggested. Donors are asked to put their name or name of the club on the package.

"We hope to have a package for every soldier in this area for Christmas," Mrs. Bathiany stated. "This is but one of the small ways in which we can show our appreciation to men in the service, by remembering them during the holidays."

HUNDREDS ATTEND RITES HERE MONDAY

Hundreds of friends paid tribute to the memory of Frank Hamm, former Klamath Falls chief of police who died suddenly in Portland last Thursday, when services were held at 2:30 o'clock Monday in the Elks temple.

The flag draped casket was placed before a bank of flowers, and scores of floral tributes were placed around the room, significant of the esteem in which Mr. Hamm was held.

Charles Hoskins, Portland officer, sang "The Old Rugged Cross" and "No Night There," accompanied at the piano by Marie Obenchain. The eulogy and services of the Elks lodge were given by officers of the lodge of which Mr. Hamm was a member. Pall bearers were members of the police force, and honorary pall bearers were county peace officers. Other officers attended in a body as did the city council.

Interment took place in Linkville cemetery with a firing squad from the American Legion giving the final salute. Ward's Funeral home was in charge of services.

The city hall and courthouse were closed during the hours of service in honor of Mr. Hamm.

YANKS ADVANCE ON GUADALCANAL

smoke cleared they had sunk one destroyer, destroyed 19 enemy planes and smashed two small landing boats, in addition to giving Japanese ground troops a day-long strafing.

The Japanese were fighting back bitterly from their precarious positions on the coastal strip between Buna and Gona with every weapon at their command, but the allied nose was slowly drawing tight.

The destroyer, sunk by bombers, apparently was trying to land troops at Buna to aid the besieged Japanese forces there and official reports mentioned the possibility that troops may actually have been landed before the sinking.

However, a spokesman at headquarters said the destroyer was not operating with four other Japanese destroyers believed to have been sent to reinforce the Buna garrison. This destroyer flotilla was steaming to the northwest when last seen, he said.

Moving in after the allied fliers had subjected Japanese ground positions to a terrific pounding, American and Australian troops captured a new landing strip at Buna from the enemy.

JAP INDECISION SHOWN IN NORTH ISLAND

island. However, indecision was apparent even in the reinforcement attempt, as only a few planes were sent boxed atop destroyer decks toward Kiska—only to be sighted and sunk by American airmen.

Again, only eight planes were sent toward Kiska in flight, although our fighters knocked down six in a single day's fighting over Kiska harbor.

Japanese offensive attempts have been similarly patternless. Bombing of Dutch harbor, instead of being followed immediately by other bombings, and landing attempts, was followed by months when Japanese tried nothing offensively.

When they did attack it was with one or two planes at a time in bombings of the Andreevoff bases. One of these bombings was done by a slow plane which had to drop missiles far wide of the mark in order to get away safely.

American checking up after another foray on a different base found bombs which had been dropped by float planes were likewise far wide of their targets.

Hayden said McKillop admitted sending an inmate, George A. Nosen, 27, of Medford, Ore., to the basement for the powdered milk, in violation of hospital rules. ROMMEL HEADS TUNIS DEFENSE, HINTS BERLIN

Bizeze and Tunis and it was apparent that the axis was going to make a fight to retain their dominance of the Sicilian straits.

French reports told of attempted axis infiltrations in South Tunisia and other reports from allied headquarters in North Africa said similar tactics were being attempted from the north, where the main axis forces have been landed by sea and air.

These suggested that Rommel, who more than once has foiled allied strategems to trap him, was attempting a flank attack from Tripolitania against the British and American forces converging on the northern tip of Tunisia.

French in Control

If Rommel has split his forces, it was presumed here that he had dispatched some armored units from Tripoli, either overland or by sea, to Gabes or Sfax on the East Tunisian coast.

Both lie south and southeast of the routes of the main allied forces driving eastward from Algeria, but pro-allied French forces have been reported in control along most of the coast, and according to French North African broadcasts some British and American forces had joined these French allies.

The German broadcast concerning Rommel came from the Zeesen station near Berlin and was not repeated on most German stations. Many informed observers were inclined to doubt that Rommel personally was in Tunisia.

NORWAY SONS ROLL UP BIG BOND SALE

Saturday's rain failed to dampen the ardour of Sons of Norway who sponsored the big Norway Day bond rally on Main street, ending at the armory where a dance and auction of a soldier's uniform resulted in the sale of some $13,000 worth of war bonds.

A booth was set up at Eighth and Main streets and a program presented throughout the afternoon with Lynn Roycroft and Carl Johnson at the microphone. Bonds and stamps, totaling $10,500, were sold at the booth, and an additional $2500 at the dance.

A Camp Newell soldier appeared on the armory platform clad only in trunks. His clothing was auctioned off, piece by piece, and as the articles were sold the soldier put them on. This caused much merriment and resulted in the sale of hundreds of stamps.

BESIEGERS OF STALINGRAD FACE DISASTER

when the firing ceased only isolated enemy guns replied. Red army infantry and tanks then piled through the German front line, driving the enemy from trenches into the open steppes.

800 Tanks Lost

The German front line was overwhelmed by the ferocity of the Russian offensive, dispatches said. Prisoners started to pour in and guns and mortars piled up as the red army carried the advance as far as 45 miles at some points.

Pravda gave this summary of the fight for the city:

"The Hitlerite bandits schemed to crush Stalingrad with tanks. However, in the course of two months of fighting, they lost 800 Panzer machines at the city walls.

"The Germans intended to clear their way into Stalingrad with bombs. However, in the course of two months, they lost in the Volga steppes more than 1000 planes.

Road of the Dead

"The Germans attempted by the force of their divisions to sink Stalingrad's defenders in the Volga. But in the course of two months they buried over 100,000 of their officers and men.

"It was not without reason that German non-commissioned officer Erich Mueller, killed northwest of Stalingrad, put down in his diary: 'The road to Stalingrad may be called the road of the dead.'

Government May Crack Down on "Panic-Buying"

ing of things that otherwise wouldn't have to be rationed," explained the federal official, who declined the use of his name.

The proposed anti-hoarding regulation now under study by the OPA, he said, would compel purchasers to declare their present supply of any rationed article they bought. Any such regulation, he added, would be difficult to enforce since the OPA has no idea of invading private homes to inspect food stocks.

The official asserted that by making excess or unnecessary purchases of food and other scarce commodities illegal hoarders might be made to realize the seriousness of over-stocking.
