Gas Rationing Has Camp Residents a Bit Puzzled

WEYERHAEUSER CAMP 4—Gas rationing has residents of Weyerhaeuser Camp 4 puzzled, and is the subject of many conversations. Questionnaires in the application for gasoline above the A card indicate that the men who live in Klamath Falls or Ashland and drive to work will be entitled to get gas provided they share rides with other workers when they put in the same hours. Those who stay in camp bunkhouses and drive to their homes on weekends, also feel sure they will get gas. But there is no provision for the men who have moved their families to the work.

The Klamath Falls rationing office suggests that people write letters explaining their situation and attach to application forms. Whoever planned gas rationing and made out the applications, apparently assumed that all families live in population centers and that workmen drive to a definite location for work.

So far, Marker's store gets some supplies, R. A. Johnson of Keno delivers milk four times a week, and a laundry and cleaner come from Klamath Falls once a week. But the nearest doctor, dentist, barber, shoe shop, clothing store and car repair establishment are 32 miles away. Where it is impossible to produce food, people cannot return to

Merrill

Brothers who had not seen each other for 40 years met here last week when Ruben Beasley of Oklahoma arrived for a visit at the home of R. F. Beasley and family. The guest accompanied a niece, Edna, daughter of the R. F. Beasley's, from Portland, where she is attending St. Helen's junior college. Miss Beasley is majoring in nurse's training. She returned to Portland Sunday accompanied by her brother, Pinkney, who will spend a few days with another sister, Mrs. Earl Clark of Portland. Ruben Beasley will remain here for several days before returning east.

The brothers admitted that they would not have known one another but after "visiting" found family characteristics in each other.

Warren Fruits has returned from Portland where he conferred with officials relative to joining the navy. He served in World War I as a first-class seaman.

Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Burkes have purchased two lots and two houses from the Bunting estate. The property is located next to the building purchased some time ago by the Merrill Library club, which also was part of the estate. The building is now used as a club room.

Mr. and Mrs. George Offield had at their family Thanksgiving table, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fletcher and two sons, Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Burkes, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Barry and two sons, and Mrs. Fannette Hodges and three children. Mrs. Hodges left Sunday to resume her studies at the Southern Oregon College of Education, Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Dalton and grandson, Bob Willits, were Thanksgiving dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dalton, Malin. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Dalton and daughter, Klamath Falls, Miss Betty Dalton, home for the holidays from San Raphael, and Miss Nora Sullivan of Klamath Falls.

Mrs. R. L. Dalton plans to leave December 8 for Los Angeles, accompanied by her small grandson, Bob Willits, who has been visiting here for several weeks. While south Mrs. Dalton will assist Mr. and Mrs. Tom Willits in moving into a new home they have purchased.

Mrs. C. E. Sharp, Mrs. J. B. Kidwell and Mrs. E. E. Kilpatrick were on the serving committee for the Service club luncheon this week.

Mrs. Claud Moreland, who has taught at the high school since the beginning of the term, has resigned. Mrs. Kenneth Colwell is substituting in the Junior high division in the shift of classes made necessary by Mrs. Moreland's resignation.

Duck hunters who have been guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Kilpatrick during the past few days include Mr. and Mrs. Grover Kelsey and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hills, Eugene, former teacher in the Merrill schools, has also been on the hunters' list, visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frank E. Trotman while here. Christner now teaches at Washington grade school in Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Haskins and children, Iva Jane and Doyle, spent Thanksgiving with Mrs. Haskins' mother, Mrs. Morton, Medford. Mrs. Haskins and children remained over the weekend.

Howard Dixon, manager of the Tulelake office of Peyton and company, has been transferred to Klamath Falls, where he will act as assistant manager. He will be succeeded here by George Kurtz, former owner and manager of the Farmer's Supply company on South St. street in Klamath Falls. Kurtz was also employed by Peyton's here last spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixon and small son will move early in December.

Bly

BLY STUDENTS UP SAVINGS RECORD

BLY—Tuesday, November 24, the Bly Girls' league gave a special program to boost the sale of war bonds and stamps during Women at War week. An assembly was called in the gymnasium with all students and teachers present.

The program opened with the flag salute and the "Star Spangled Banner." A short talk was given by Girls' league President Marie Coke, readings, a tap dancing duet and group singing were features of the afternoon. Each class representative told how much money the class as a whole had spent on war bonds and stamps.

The school bought over $300 worth of bonds and stamps when Mrs. Georgia Casebeer, postmistress, came to sell them the next morning. This raises the total for the school to over $1000, and every one hopes to double that figure before school is out.

Young People Invited to Join Church Choir

MERRILL—Young people of the Merrill community are being invited to help make the choir of the Merrill Presbyterian church a working organization. Now that gasoline rationing will make it necessary to find entertainment close at home, Rev. Donald Dod, who is keeping home fires burning for both the Merrill and Malin churches, plans a program that will fill the need.

Rev. Dod is directing the choir and hopes the young folks will feel affiliation with the choir a patriotic duty. He plans for the future community sings, get-togethers and square dancing for the young folks.

Steel begins to glow when heated to a temperature of about 1000 Fahrenheit.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson made a trip to Dry prairie to get their personal belongings and returned to make their home in Bly for the winter. They could not go in with their car and had to make the 10-mile trip with a team and wagon. They are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell until they can get settled.

Buck Williams of Klamath Falls was in Bly on Tuesday of last week attending to business affairs connected with his ranch here.

The Ross McMillan family had a reunion this week with all their daughters present. Vera, who has returned home a few weeks ago, has just completed three years of nurses' training in Tacoma, Wash., and is now home. She plans to join the army nurses' corps soon. Maryville is at the present time employed as a secretary in the Seattle shipyards. She also received a vacation which was much shorter than her sister's, but was able to spend three days with her parents. This is the first time the family has been together for almost three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Mick Carr spent a few days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kester recently. The Carrs are from Klamath Falls, where he works for the Swan Lake Moulding company.
