35 allied craft were downed in Sunday's massive raids against 17 announced by the RAF.

Raiders Silent
It was assumed that the RAF aimed its bombs at rail yards and shops and factories, including arms plants, at Karlsruhe and the large-scale machinery works at Pforzheim, but the air ministry said bad weather made impossible any accurate observation of the results.

The Friesland and Hilversum radio stations in Holland went off the air for 40 minutes today, indicating raiders were back again.

The air ministry said last night's raid was carried out by a strong force of bombers, but did not immediately disclose the specific targets, merely declaring that objectives in the south-west had been attacked.

United Attack
The Sunday daylight attack which preceded this assault was described as the biggest of the war.

A cloud of 400 fighter planes provided cover for the 200 United States and British bombers which carried out yesterday's forays.

Norwegian, Polish, fighting French, Canadian, New Zealand and Indian fighter pilots participated in the action, making it a truly allied operation in every sense of the word.

Lille again was one of the targets yesterday, squadrons of Flying Fortresses of the U. S. Army air force unloading tons of explosives on the Fives Lille Locomotive and Carriage works.

naval battle three weeks ago. Raiders Return

American marines, the jungle-trained "raiders" who volunteered for one of the war's most dangerous fighting jobs, wiped out 400 Japanese soldiers and five bases while losing only 17 of their own men, yesterday's communiqué said. The action, mostly in the jungles of Guadalcanal, occurred over a number of weeks.

On December 4, when the raiders returned to their base after weeks of lying in mountainous jungle hideouts waiting to launch surprise attacks on the enemy, an army patrol killed seven Japanese in fighting along the Matanikau river, which borders the western flank of the American position of Guadalcanal.

Also on December 4, the communiqué said, 15 enemy landing barges and rafts, believed to have been used by the Japanese in local coast-line operations, were strafed by army planes near Tassafaronga, about 11 miles west of the American-controlled airfield.

WPA's Contribution To Northwest Takes In 18 Airports

SEATTLE, Dec. 7 (AP)—The WPA's contribution to Pacific Northwest preparedness includes 18 airports, nine each in Washington and Oregon, L. R. Durkee, assistant regional director of the federal works agency, said today. All but two are in use.

The ones at Deer Park, Wash., and at Ontario, Ore., will be completed before WPA goes out of existence in the two states February 1, he said. Each of the WPA-built airports in Washington are being used by military aircraft and two are army bases. The work, estimated to cost $20,000,000, has been done with the cooperation of the army and the civil aeronautics authority.

HAVE BEEN MOVED UP to deliver the blow. That indicates we are mastering the difficult problem of supply.

THE British deliver another big air raid against towns in southern Germany, where supplies are FED INTO ITALY. Remember that the big factor in beating Rommel at El Alamein was disrupting his supplies and communications in the rear.

Italy has become a hot spot. Disrupting her line of supply from Germany is significant.

ON the Buna-Gona beaches, our boys and the Australians have driven their FOURTH wedge through to the sea, thus pinning the Japs into ANOTHER pocket.

We seem to be making steady progress and so far the Japs seem to have failed to get effective relief to their trapped forces.

Jap "face" seems to call for another desperate effort at reinforcement and supply.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WICKARD has been made food czar, and estimates today that up to 25 per cent of our 1943 food output will be required for lend-lease and the armed forces. That is less than most of us had expected, but clearly foreshadows belt-tightening.

American farmers, in spite of labor shortage and other handicaps, will make a determined effort to meet the production requirements placed upon them. They always have.

ference to discuss his plans for action under the new manpower directive, which was accompanied by announcements of the army and navy that voluntary enlistment of men between 17 and 37 years, inclusive, had been stopped. This applied also to the marines and merchant marine.

Commissions
The navy will continue to enlist 17-year-olds, as it has been doing, but the army has not taken men that young. Both branches will enlist specialists who have passed their 38th birthday, when needed.

Apparently the order did not ban men from volunteering for officers' commissions, but the army recently announced it would not commission civilians except where there was need for them in some special work.

Induction Rules
The war department announcement said that induction "of men who are 38 years of age and over" was suspended, and explained that experience indicates "that men 38 years of age and over are in general physically less able to withstand the rigors of present-day combat activities."

This indicated that the governing age would be that of the day of contemplated induction, rather than the age of a registrant when he registered for selective service, and army officials said they understood that all references to age were to current ages.

the allies and liberated countries. Wickard, who estimates that up to 25 per cent of the 1943 output will be required for lend-lease and the armed forces, takes over the marketing and distribution supervision formerly exercised by the war production board.

Included in this is supervision of food rationing, although the transfer of authority is not expected to mean any changes in the present rationing programs of sugar and coffee and the prospective rationing of meat. These programs will continue to be administered through the office of price administration.

EVACUEES RIOT AT MANZANAR CENTER

diers and rushing the lines. The troops opened fire. This stopped the advance and the milling, yelling celebrants reluctantly obeyed orders to return to their quarters.

Spirited Away
Fred Tayama, president of the Japanese-American citizens league, was so severely beaten by a mob of axis sympathizers, he required hospitalization. Later they stormed the hospital but doctors had spirited Tayama to safety. The axis group, angered by his disappearance, threatened to kill him.

Tay Uyeno, another pro-American Japanese, was removed from the relocation center to the Inyo county jail at Independence to save him from harm at the hands of the mob.

Orations Given
Merritt said that about 4000 Japanese in the center were born in Japan and 500 others of the total of 10,000, although born in the United States, were educated in Japan and indoctrinated with Japanese militarism.

Describing the pro-axis meeting, Merritt said a group of 1000 gathered Saturday night in a firebreak area and listened to orations. Pro-American Japanese who pleaded for order when the crowd became boisterous were jeered and asked to leave. The crowd soon had gotten out of hand and Merritt called for state guardsmen.

Loyal Japs Work
Yesterday, Merritt said, Kibel representatives called at his offices and demanded that Uyeno be returned to the camp. He said he negotiated with them and believed the situation had been cleared up, but at nightfall a group gathered at block 22 and then marched on the hospital, seeking Tayama. Another mob of 1500 surrounded the police station, holding members of the Japanese volunteer force and a Caucasian police at bay. Still a third mob of about 1000 attacked another group of camp police and drove them into a building, where they barricaded themselves.

Merritt said Japanese loyal to America had tried to avert the outbreak. Leaders of the riot, he said, were those Japanese born in Hawaii or Japan.

Tayama was a leader of the anti-axis movement in Los Angeles before the Nipponese were evacuated. A few months before the Pearl Harbor attack he told his organization that if war came "every one of us, as good Americans, will be willing to lay down our lives for this, our native land."

Police Congratulated
Merritt issued this statement: "This started out to be a celebration of the anniversary of Pearl Harbor, sponsored by pro-axis Japanese. Loyal Japanese-Americans tried to stop it but failed."

"The rioting brought a crisis that made necessary the calling out of military police and the placing of Manzanar under martial law as a protection for the people of Manzanar and Inyo county.

"Whenever, in the opinion of military police, complete order has been restored and the FBI and other government agencies have completely cleaned up the agitators and leaders, the camp will be returned to its normal administration.

"I want to congratulate the Japanese on the center's police force which tried to cope with the situation, the staff of Caucasian police for what they have done, and the loyal Japanese in the camp."

flashed that the Maine was blown up in Havana harbor.

He told how she steamed, under forced draft, 17,000 miles around Cape Horn in 84 days to join our battle forces in the Atlantic. How, on July 3, 1898, she forced the Cristobal Colon, the best and fastest of the Spanish fleet, to strike her colors in a decisive action.

This epic Voyage pointed to the need of the Panama canal, and caused the Oregon to be known as "The Mother of the Panama Canal." She was the first battleship equipped with both armor piercing shells and belt armor to resist armor-piercing ammunition.

She saw some service in World War I, and since 1925 she has been tied up at Portland, serving as a museum. Her relics will be transferred to other quarters.

As a final gesture, a hundred naval enlistees were sworn in during ceremonies on the decks of the old ship. These young men will be known as the "Oregon Scappers," said Lieut. Commander Glenn E. Degraw, district recruiting officer.

SIX-DAY WEEK SET FOR COAL MINERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Bituminous coal mining will be stepped up to a six-day week about the first of the year and prices will rise an average of 20 to 23 cents a ton.

A producer spokesman said today "the matter has been fully agreed on" with government agencies on the price and wage questions.

The war labor board, it was learned, has decided that payment of a time and a half rate for the sixth day under the wage of agreement with the miners does not constitute a wage increase, even though the premium rate begins after the 35th hour. The mines now work a seven-hour day and a five-day week.

The producer spokesman who declined direct quotation said the increased labor cost would amount to about 12 to 15 cents a ton. The operators have asked for an additional 8 cents to cover increased costs of materials and other items.

Discovery of Hand Grenade Calls Out Klamath Police

City police were called Saturday night to a local garage after an attendant reported he had noticed a hand grenade in a laundry truck parked in the garage.

Officers removed the grenade. Upon examination, they found it lacked caps, fuse and powder. They reported to E. L. Richards, 517 North 8th street, the truck operator, and learned he was keeping the grenade as a souvenir. They returned the grenade to Richards, with the suggestion he put it some place where it would not arouse alarm.

attacks, 1800 Germans were reported killed in one sector and 300 in another. The mid-day communiqué reported two more companies of enemy infantry were wiped out by a scout unit.

Southwest of Stalingrad, the Russians said they killed 250 more of Hitler's troops in dislodging the Germans from a fortified position.

Axis Losses
The Germans, after nearly three weeks of the Russian offensive, were still clinging to their foothold in northern factory suburbs of Stalingrad and apparently were maintaining some lines of communication, but they have been unable to improve their positions in the steppes between the Don and the Volga.

In addition to the 1000 Germans killed in the three-day battle along the Rzhev-Vyazma railroad, 21 German tanks, an armored car, 30 guns, 15 mortars, 130 machine guns, 70 trucks and four supply dumps were destroyed, the communiqué reported.

BOSTON WOOL
BOSTON, Dec. 7 (AP-USA)—Purchases of British-controlled wools were made both in Australia and South Africa under the new price schedule issued last week-end by the British wool control board. These new prices reduced the cost of these wools about four cents a pound on a clean basis. Sales of defective 12-months Texas wools were reported at a clean price of $1.12 to $1.14.

conference in a farm house kitchen late yesterday while heavy fighting raged on in the Tebourba-Mateur sectors.

A Reuters dispatch from the battle front told of the conference.

Heights dominating Tebourba, strategic communications center 20 miles west of Tunis, are securely held by allied troops, the Morocco radio said in a broadcast recorded in London.

Attacks Continue
A Reuters correspondent with the British first army reported in a front-line dispatch that British Commandos and paratroopers landed three days ago along the coast behind the German lines, fought their way inland seven miles to the south and cut a road. The exact locale of this action was not given.

Allied fighters, still handicapped by the lack of wholly prepared advance air fields, were declared nevertheless to be attacking German and Italian positions continuously while bombers pounded Tunis, Bizerte and Tripoli.

Allies Hold Line
British and American bombers and fighters lashed at axis communications between Italy and North Africa in week-end raids.

Reggio airdrome, in the extreme south of Italy, was hit Saturday night. Docks at Bizerte were blasted and a railway line between Sousse and Sfax, along the coast of the French protectorate was shot up, a Cairo communiqué said.

Allied lines reported here to be holding firm despite dive-bombing attacks as reserves and supplies were moved up, mile by mile, for the final offensive.

A Vichy radio broadcast recorded in London, however, asserted that British forces were retreating west of Tebourba, and the Italian high command declared that "mopping up operations" had been completed at that town after four days of fighting which cost the allies heavily in men and material.
