Church Ceremony Held Saturday

Josephine R. McLaren of This City Becomes Bride Of James Ellis in Portland

White Temple church, Portland, was the scene Saturday afternoon, December twenty-sixth, of the marriage of Miss Josephine Ruth McLaren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald F. McLaren of Klamath Falls, to Mr. James Thomas Ellis, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Ellis of Portland.

The marriage was performed by Dr. Raymond B. Walker in a setting of white chrysanthemums and tall candelabra.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in an informal frock of slate blue velveteen with a matching hat which was trimmed in fuschia shade. She carried a corsage of fuschia orchids.

Miss Betty Lou Estes, her only attendant, was attired in fuschia colored crepe with a peacock blue hat. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mr. Robert Ellis was best man for his brother.

Immediately after the wedding, a reception was held in the Tyrolean room of the Benson hotel. Pouring was Mrs. H. Lloyd Estes, and assisting her were Mrs. David E. Patterson, Miss Virginia Densmore and Miss Elva Lu Watson.

After a short wedding trip to Del Monte and Carmel, the young couple will make their home in Kingscote Gardens at Stanford university.

Mrs. Ellis attended the University of Washington where she was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, and Mr. Ellis is now attending Stanford where he is affiliated with Zeta Psi.

Second Concert Is Slated January 15.

Witold Malcuzyński, Pianist, To Appear in Klamath Falls Under Association Banner

A comparative newcomer to the American stage, Witold Malcuzyński, pianist, will be greeted by an enthusiastic audience the evening of Friday, January the fifteenth, on the Pacific theatre stage when the second of a series of three concerts is presented by the Klamath Community Concert association.

Last spring, when artists were chosen by the local committee, the name of Edward Kilenyi appeared as one of the outstanding young pianists performing in this country. He was immediately signed for Klamath Falls along with six other concerts in the north west, but here the changes of war stepped in and cancelled all of Kilenyi's 1942-43 contract.

With a background as interesting as a Dumas novel, young Malcuzyński appears this year before an American public which is most sympathetic to artists who have suffered in the present European strife. Malcuzyński's history is enough to thrill even the most avid reader of thrillers with an escape from Poland, from Paris to Spain and then over submarine infested waters to South America crowded into the past few years.

While appearing in one of many concerts in South America, Malcuzyński was heard by the violinist, Yehudi Menuhin in Montevideo at the time the Polish pianist was filling an engagement. The two became acquainted and Menuhin persuaded Malcuzyński to try the American concert stage which he did with a terrific success at Carnegie hall. From then on he was presented with many contracts, one of which called for filling Kilenyi's engagements in the event that artist was not released by the war department.
