CHAMBER ENDORSES BLOOD TEST BILL

Klamath chamber of commerce directors Wednesday adopted a legislative committee report endorsing blood tests of persons suspected of drunken driving.

The law, if passed by the legislature, would permit the arresting officer to cause a chemical analysis of blood, breath, urine or other bodily substance of the arrested person, unless the latter objects. Upon trial, the court could then admit evidence of the presence of alcohol in the defendant's blood.

Refusal of the arrested person to permit a chemical analysis would not be admissible as evidence against him in the trial. The proposal was suggested to the legislative committee of the chamber by District Attorney L. Orth Sismore. The blood test law is now in effect in Multnomah county, and is reportedly working out satisfactorily there. It is said to be a protection to the innocently arrested person as well as an assistance to the officers in enforcing the laws against drunken driving.

Use of Sawdust In Plaster Making Perfected at OSC

CORVALLIS, Jan. 7 (AP)—A successful method for using sawdust in making plaster superior to the common gypsum product has been worked out by the Forest Products research laboratory at Oregon State college, but like synthetic rubber in pre-war days, it still costs too much.

A report shows that, aside from cost, the new plaster, made of sawdust bound together with synthetic resins, could replace present water plasters with many advantages. It can be applied without introducing huge quantities of water into the unfinished house, drying out of which takes much time and frequently causes cracking of plaster and warping of woodwork. It can be pounded without cracking, nails and screws do not chip it, and it provides superior insulation.

Tavern Operator Wins Acquittal

M'MINNVILLE, Jan. 7 (AP)—A circuit court jury late yesterday acquitted Cecil Wright, Newberg, first of 14 Yamhill county tavern operators scheduled to be tried on charges of selling liquor to a minor. The jury deliberated only 35 minutes after Circuit Judge Arlie G. Walker earlier denied a defense motion of a directed verdict of dismissal on grounds of entrapment. The 14 were indicted by the grand jury after a 16-year-old girl charged they had sold her beer.

DIPHTHERIA SHOTS SLATED FOR MALIN

MALIN—Immunization against diphtheria which has reached epidemic stages here will be offered by county health officers next Wednesday, January 13, it was announced Wednesday by Joe LaClair, principal of the grade school, who urges that every parent bring in children of pre-school age for immunization.

With three deaths and four convalescent cases in the community, every child should be guarded against the disease, he said. Some of the patients are adult however, LaClair pointed out, and treatment will be available for grown ups also who desire it. There is no charge. Dr. Peter Rozendal and county nurses are making a special trip here to comply with LaClair's request. At the present time there are only about 30 students in the schools here who have not been immunized against the disease. Treatment of children so far has depended on consent of the parents. Since a recent death within the city limits from diphtheria, some business houses were closed.

The need for cooperation is urgent and all parents, it is hoped, will aid in the effort to check the cases.

Colonel Voices Thanks for Hospitality to Soldiers

Colonel Paul Murray, commanding officer of the 363rd Infantry at Camp White, has voiced warm appreciation to the people of Klamath Falls for hospitality shown Camp White men at Christmas time.

The following letter was received by the Klamath county chamber of commerce:

Our men returned from Klamath Falls with glowing accounts of the hospitality shown by the people of that city in entertaining them over the Christmas weekend. It was a rare privilege for these men,—most of whom are thousands of miles from home,—to be received in homes away from the military congestion which obtains here at Camp White and in Medford. Three thousand other members of this regiment are envious of the 186 who enjoyed the privilege.

It is impossible for me to express our appreciation directly to the persons responsible. I am asking you to pass on these sentiments to the good people and organizations of Klamath Falls who provided so much for so many and changed an otherwise lonesome holiday into a joyous occasion.

Sincerely yours, PAUL MURRAY Colonel, 363rd Infantry Commanding.
