

Two Clubs Join For Installation

New Officers of Soroptimists, Venturists Take Over Duties At Thursday Dinner

Gathered around beautifully decorated tables in the Pellican party room, Klamath Falls Soroptimists and Venturists held their annual joint installation ceremony Thursday evening. Decorations, arranged under the supervision of Annabelle Newton, consisted of clusters of American flags, red rosebuds, jonquills and narcissi. The dinner tables were in the shape of a large "V" standing for both Victory and Venturists.

Following a short musical program, the Venture club members installed as their new president, Katherine Johnson, to be assisted during the year by Clara Oetjen as first vice president and Barbara Sellers as second vice president. Patricia Shaw will be secretary for the term and Frances Balin, treasurer.

Rites in Camp Chapel

Lorna Keeseo Weds Soldier in Service On New Year's

Of interest to friends in Klamath Falls is the marriage of Miss Lorna Louise Keeseo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Keeseo of Medford and formerly of this city, and Staff Sergeant Cornish C. Southland of Texas, stationed at Camp White, Medford.

The ceremony was read by the Baptist chaplain at the Camp White chapel on New Year's night at six o'clock. Tal white candles, greens and holiday flowers decorated the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white satin gown with a long train, her illusion net veil held by a wreath of pink rosebuds. The bride carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and rosebuds.

Miss Frances Clark of Seattle was the maid of honor and the bridesmaid was Miss Emily Knips of Medford.

Staff Sergeant Percy Burleson was best man and ushers were Corporal Alvin Vincent and Corporal Fred Carpenter, all of Company I, 363rd Infantry, Camp White.

Just before the ceremony Mrs. Semya sang, "I Love You Truly," "Oh, Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception followed at the Sergeant's club of the 363rd Infantry. Mrs. A. B. Wade of Klamath Falls, aunt of the bride, served the cake and close friends of the bride presided at the punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Southland will make their home in Medford. Among those attending from Klamath Falls were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Keeseo, Mrs. Glen Guiley, Mrs. Rose Keeseo, Mrs. A. B. Wade and Miss Olive Wilson. Two grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Rose Keeseo and Mrs. Ruby Conroy, were given an escort as they entered the chapel, as was the mother of the bride.

WEDDING SERVICE READ IN SOUTH

A New Year's eve wedding of interest to friends in Klamath Falls was that of Miss Lois E. Purkey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Purkey, of Tacoma, Washington, and Jack W. Robinson, yeoman, second class, United States navy, who is well known in this city.

The impressive rites were held at the home of the bride's parents in Tacoma at half past eight o'clock in the presence of family members and close friends.

The bride wore a frock of light blue wool trimmed with gold sequins, black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

A reception followed the ceremony. Table decorations were red and white, with a large bouquet of deep red tulips forming the centerpiece.

The bride is a graduate of Tacoma Stadium high school. She is a member of the Bend Flying club and civil aeronautics patrol there, and is an employee of the Bend forest service office.

Yeoman Robinson is the son of W. D. Robinson of Klamath Falls and Mrs. James W. Myers, of Los Angeles. He graduated from high school in Oroville, Calif., attended the Pacific school of business in San Francisco, and later completed his training at Merritt Business school in Oakland, Calif. He is now working in the navy recruiting office in Bend.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson are now at home in Bend at the Jones apartments.
