

JAYCEES PLAN FOUNDER'S DAY BANQUET HERE

Klamath county junior chamber of commerce is making plans for its annual Founder's Day banquet to be held at the Willard hotel, January 19, at 7:15 p. m. This organization is celebrating its 23rd anniversary and now has chapters in over 1100 cities in the United States. Retiring Governor Sprague designated the week of January 14-21 as Junior chamber of commerce week in Oregon, which coincides with national junior chamber of commerce week.

The outstanding feature of the Founder's Day banquet is the presentation of the First Junior Citizen award to the outstanding young man in civic affairs under 35 years of age in Klamath county. As in previous years, the recipient of this award will not be known until the presentation is made at the banquet.

Former recipients are the following outstanding young men: Martin Swanson, local life insurance man; District Attorney Orth Sismore; Don Drury, manager of Karpine Plywood company, and chairman of the local war price and ration board; Percy Murray of the Klamath Falls Creamery and board member of the local war price and ration board; H. P. Bosworth, former manager of the local Copeo organization, now with the armed forces; Cliff Jenkins, 4-H club activities; Charlie Mack, former Klamath county assessor, now with the Oregon Shipbuilding company, Henry J. Kaiser's famous ship-a-week organization in Portland.

COOK TELLS TALES OF SOLOMON YANKS

Carl Cook, marine corps recruiter, spoke to the Commando unit here on Monday night on his visit to the marine hospital at Mare Island, Calif.

He related experiences and tales that the fellows had told him of hand-to-hand fighting with the Japs.

One chap told of finding a Jap who had sneaked into their chow line. Another told of waking in the morning and finding a Jap in bed with him. Despite their injuries, Sgt. Cook says the men are cheerful and glad to be back in the United States.

The Commandos hope in the near future to have two of them as their guests in Klamath Falls.

We flew over the target twice and didn't see anything. We kept tossing the rocks out and I guess the Japs thought they were delayed action bombs. They opened up with anti-aircraft giving away their positions. Then we came back—and let them have it.—Sgt. Norman Blehn on Lae, New Guinea, raid.

Two More Performances of Drama Planned at KUHS

Several hundred interested persons were turned away during the holidays when Tolstoi's religious play, "Men Live by Love," was presented by the drama department of Klamath Union high school in the Little Theatre off Mon Claire. Mrs. B. B. Blomquist, director, has announced that two additional performances will be given, one at 2:15 p. m. and the other at 4 p. m. Sunday in the Little Theatre. The public is invited and there is no charge.

Patrons anticipating the play are advised that no one will be seated during the performance. The play is of special interest to church goers and it is hoped that those who were disappointed in not seeing the performance at Christmas time will be guests of the students Sunday. According to those who had the privilege of seeing "Men Live by Love," the performance is above the average given by high school students and each participant is highly complimented for his or her part. The lighting effects and stage design are particularly interesting and contribute much to the success of the two-act play.

TAX COLLECTION SHOWS BIG GAIN LATE IN 1942

Tax collections during the last half of 1942 were well over the first half, according to Max Saunders, deputy tax collector.

Thirty days after April 15, 8000 receipts had been issued, while the December 15 collections show 11,500, indicating that more people are paying taxes promptly, and that more are paying them in full, rather than on the quarterly plan, he said.

Foreclosure lists are being prepared for delinquent 1938 and 1939 taxes, according to Saunders, as well as notices on delinquent enterprise assignments.

Five Children, One Woman Burn to Death as Flames Sweep Houston Apartment

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 14 (AP)—Five children and a woman were burned to death and two other occupants were burned, one critically, in a fire late last night which spread swiftly through a two-story, frame four-apartment building.

The entire family of Earl A. Glass, 25, shipfitter at Brown shipyard, perished while he was at work. He didn't learn about the death of his wife, Ruby Jane, and their three children, Betty Jane, 4, Benny Earl, 3, and Billy Wayne nine months, until he returned from work this morning and found the charred ruins.

M. F. Goforth, another shipyard worker, was at the bedside of his sick father, G. M. Goforth in Dallas last night when his two babies, Jane, eight months old, and Ann, two years old, perished in the blaze and his wife, 25, escaped from the second story apartment with critical burns.

Identification of Mrs. Glass and her three children was not established until Glass returned from work and viewed the bodies.

Mrs. Glass and the baby, Billy Wayne, and the little boy, Benny Earl, appeared at a second story window engulfed in flames in a vain bid for help.

O. L. Roberts, fireman, told of how near they were to escape. "I had laid a ladder against a corner of the second story porch," Roberts said.

"I saw the woman break glass out of a window and shove a small boy through it onto the porch. His clothes were burning and the little fellow was frightened. He was burning all over. Then the woman crawled through the window, holding the little baby in her arms. The baby was also in flames. Suddenly as the woman crawled through the window, her knees bent and she dropped the baby on the floor and collapsed in a corner, engulfed in flames. The little boy, almost in arms' reach of me but burning from his toes to the top of his head, turned and ran back into the house through the door.

"There I was standing on the ladder. I could have almost reached out and touched them, but still I could not save them. The heat was terrific. The fire was burning all over the porch. If the little boy had run over to the banister where I was, he might have been saved."
