

KLAMATH QUOTA FOR SURGICAL DRESSINGS UP

Klamath's surgical dressings output has been upped from 20,000 dressings per month to 63,000, according to Mrs. Ralph R. Macartney Sr., director in charge of the project. So great is the necessity that all women who find they can give several hours a week to the dressings project, are urged to do so.

The Klamath Falls chapter has opened an auxiliary work room in Room 16, Mills school, for the convenience of women living in that district. Mrs. Macartney announced. She is taking charge and instructing in the work. The room is open from 1 to 4 p. m. daily, Monday through Friday and thus far the response has not been satisfactory. It is hoped that women in the Mills district will respond to this project as willingly as they have helped in other patriotic fields.

Need Grave

A letter was received from the Pacific area office of Red Cross volunteer services and from this letter is an excerpt:

"These dressings which you are making are needed primarily for hospitals overseas and needed at the earliest possible moment. The war department schedule calls for the delivery of 100,000,000 dressings during the month of January from surgical dressings projects in the country."

Mrs. Macartney said that 36,000 dressings are now awaiting shipment from the local chapter, but that more workers are needed both night and day to meet the new 63,000 quota which has been set for Klamath Falls.

COMMUNITY SING HERE POSTPONED

The date of the second community sing, postponed due to conditions over which the committee has little or no control, has been put over from Friday night until Wednesday, January 27, at 7:30 p. m., according to announcement made today by Andrew J. Loney Jr., director of the sing.

Those planning to attend the sing next Wednesday in Klamath Union high school auditorium, are asked to note the advance in time as this is a school night and it is hoped that families will come to the affair.

GREEN ROOKIE

FORT JACKSON, S. C. (AP)—"Color of hair?"

"Green."

"Cut the kidding," growled the reception center sergeant.

"I'm not kidding," replied Pvt. Adlia Harwood of Asheville, N. C., "I don't like it, either."

The sergeant looked up. Sure enough, the recruit's hair was a grassy green.

It got that way, Private Harwood explained, while he worked with chemicals in a naval ammunition depot.

"I have washed my hair with soap and lots of things, but it just won't come out," the soldier sighed.

It's hard to say the towns the Russians will take next. And just as hard to say those they've already taken.

Girl Scout Council Lauds Bridge Statement; Asks Volunteers for Leaders

The Girl Scout council of Klamath Falls today issued a statement commending Dave Bridge, city recreation officer, for his recent statement regarding lack of delinquency among Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and those who attend Sunday school regularly.

With women taking on added responsibilities daily, and with many of them entering war industries, there has been a great outcry about the rise in juvenile delinquency and the difficulty of securing adequate leadership for the various youth organizations in Klamath Falls, the council emphasized.

Although 40 women in the Klamath area now act as leaders and assistants in the Girl Scout organization, many more are needed to supply the positions open in the growing ranks of the Scouts, the council said. At least six of the 24 troops here need assistant leaders in order to carry on the program of intelligent democratic living which is the backbone of the Girl Scout movement.

The Girl Scout council provides training courses and expert help. Mrs. Dent Savage, new council assistant, may be contacted in regard to these courses at the Girl Scout headquarters, 406 Main street, open each Wednesday and Friday from 2:30 to 5 p. m. Women over 18 years of age may volunteer for troop leadership or other Scout work.

Mrs. J. P. Wells, chairman of the organization committee, dial 3856, and Mrs. J. K. Reno, dial 8257, commissioner of the Girl Scouts, are interviewing prospective leaders and may be contacted at any time by telephone, it was stated.

Interesting Notes of Herald and News Advertisers, Their Products and Activities

Instead of watching the speedometer to determine when your car needs an oil change, check the calendar, say Shell Oil Company, Incorporated lubrication engineers.

Now that mileage rationing keeps the average automobile owner from driving his car more than 500 miles every two months, if the change to fresh, clean oil coincides with the change of mileage ration book coupon numbers, motorists will be assured that their automobile engines are getting safe lubrication. In other words, when you change from the "3" coupons to the "4" series, on January 22, that is a good time to have the oil changed also. Likewise, the dates March 22, May 22, etc., should be remembered as oil changing dates.
