

This Is the Time To Plan Gardens

"Food, Foundation of All Nations" Makes American Gardeners Think of Spring Planting

What to do in this year of 1948? What with flower gardens so necessary to the morals of our country, and a special need for the planting, growth and harvesting of vegetables for our own tables that others less fortunate may eat! The answer goes something like this: do both. Last year it was the Victory garden as a patriotic gesture, this year it looms as a vital necessity. Following is the first of a series of interesting articles which will appear in this section, outlining, explaining and helping this year's gardener down the dirt path.

"In the face of growing and of increasing needs by our armed forces and by our allies, can anyone with a suitable plot of ground do better than to raise a garden to supplement the dwindling vegetable and fruit supply?"

"According to Professor A. G. B. Bouquet of Oregon State college who is giving a series of lectures on Victory Gardens, quantities of food are needed, and science and practice together can accomplish its production.

"The question is raised as to where gardens can be raised, especially in towns and cities. In Oregon towns and cities there are still plenty of vacant lots and plots of ground to be found. There should be no destruction of ornamental gardens; flowers can and will be grown here as they are still being grown in England after several years of war.

"Even as the Red Cross and other emergency organizations require leaders so does practical gardening. We are fortunate in having trained county agents and workers among our boys and girls, and now we have another group studying to become leaders in gardening in their communities. These are the garden clubs which are scattered over the entire state.

"Professor Bouquet points out that it is definitely up to people to produce their own vegetables during the coming year, but they must find suitable conditions to make the investment in seeds, fertilizer, water, and work, pay.

"The elements upon which good growth depends are, good seeds suitable to the locality, well worked soil with enough fertilizer, water, and cultivation to produce maximum results. Soil comes first because it is of basic importance, and without a suitable growing medium crops cannot flourish. Soils vary from very light porous soils which will hardly hold water and plant food, through the loams and sandy soils to the heavy sticky soils that are found so frequently in our own vicinity. The physical and chemical composition of soils are of prime importance in crop production. The chemical composition of soil is easy to change but the physical is more difficult and is of most importance. Soils have to be taken as they are to start but they can be greatly improved. A heavy soil needs organic material to lighten it because unless it gets these things it becomes heavier and heavier as it is worked, just as a porous or light soil gets lighter and lighter unless something is added to balance the soil makeup.

"It is time to plan your Victory Garden now. Planning saves waste.

"When you plant a garden, no matter how small, and get good production from it, you are helping to defend your country."

Couple Wed in Klamath Falls
The home of the officiating minister, the Rev. Arthur Charles Bates of the First Christian church, was the scene of a simple wedding ceremony Thursday, January fourteenth, at twelve o'clock noon, when Miss Pearl Bailey and Mr. Earle Glenn Saltmarsh, both of Albany, were married. Attendants were Mrs. Bates and Mrs. C. S. Robertson.

The bride is a close friend of Mr. and Mrs. Bates and her husband is a United States guard at the Corvallis airport. They will reside in Albany.

The neighbors of Woodcraft held a short business meeting in the KC hall at seven o'clock, Monday, January the eighth, and at eight o'clock it was followed by a public card party. Pinochle and whist were played, with pinochle award going to Mrs. Peterson, high; second high, Mrs. Block; and for the men, high to Mr. Canoy and second to Mr. Anderson. At whist, Mrs. Evelyn Patterson held high score, and second, Mrs. Amelia Jacobson, while high score for the men was held by H. B. Largent. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. The next meeting will be held February the first.

Mrs. Preston To Speak

Good Neighbor Policy Theme of Library Club Talk

Members of the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club will be grateful for the timely topic chosen for the February the eighth meeting in the main auditorium of the public library when Mrs. Naomi Preston will speak on "Explaining Chile's Attitude."

Followers of the news will remember that Chile only this week signed over on the side of the Allies carrying still further the "Good Neighbor" policy which is so much needed for hemispheric solidarity.

In keeping with the program, Mrs. Don J. Zumwalt, music chairman, will introduce Miss Dorothy Laursen who will present South American numbers on the marimba. There will be a South American exhibit with Mrs. George A. Myers and Mrs. John Houston in charge.

Mrs. Preston is an interesting speaker with an interesting background. She knows South America and does not have the traveler's acquaintance, but a broad speaking friendship with the people of the country. For five years Mrs. Preston taught at a Women's school in Santiago and is especially conversant with woman's place in the South America scheme.

The program which Mrs. Preston will present is far different from those given at other group meetings and all are urged to attend.

Both girls are graduates of Klamath Union high school and have taken an active part in student activities while attending the college. Miss Buchanan and Miss Lust plan to finish their courses in March.

KLAMATH GIRL WEDS IN CHAPEL RITES

Margaret Elizabeth Wilkerson, daughter of Mrs. Ingeborg Wilkerson of 1124 Mon Claire street, became the bride of Staff Sergeant James Robert Long of Texas, in a ceremony read at nine o'clock the evening of December the thirty-first, in the Camp Adair chapel, by Chaplain John K. Ormond.

The bride wore a tailored suit of coffee brown with matching accessories and a corsage of flowers. Attendants were Staff Sergeant and Mrs. M. Leska of Camp Adair.

Immediately following the service there was a small reception and dinner given for the young couple at the Leska home. Other guests, in addition to the wedding party, were Sergeant and Mrs. N. Lovell, Staff Sergeant and Mrs. M. Golings, Miss June Christopher, Staff Sergeant Ray Cummings, Thera Crittenden, Felicia Crittenden, Pearl and Richard Leska, Mr. Frank Costorza, Private and Mrs. B. Evers.

Mrs. Long is a graduate of Klamath Union high school with the class of 1941. She has served as chief operator with the Southern Pacific at Albany since leaving this city. Due to illness, Mrs. Wilkerson was unable to attend her daughter's wedding.

WORTHY GRAND MATRON OF OES RETURNS NORTH

Mrs. Marjorie Simpson of Portland, worthy grand matron of the Order of the Eastern Star for Oregon, left Thursday to return home after spending the past week visiting OES chapters in this city and vicinity and holding schools of instruction. She was the guest during most of her stay of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Brown of Pacific Terrace.

Mrs. Simpson returned here Thursday from Lakeview where she conducted a school of instruction, but due to road conditions was unable to visit the Cascade Crest chapter at Chiloquin. It is expected that she will return to Chiloquin later in the year.

Purchase of Stamps Asked

Mrs. Weaver Speaks To Soroptimists On Thursday Noon

The Soroptimist club of Klamath Falls heard an unusual and stirring talk on what the women of the country can do to help the war effort through the purchase of war bonds and stamps when Mrs. Franklin Weaver addressed the club at the luncheon meeting held Thursday noon at the Pelican party room.

Mrs. Weaver informed the club that this month the emphasis is being put on the sale of stamps and that the war bond committees are trying to stress to the women, especially housewives, and to children, the value and importance of saving stamps.

Mrs. Weaver brought the war and the necessity to purchase stamps and bonds close to her audience by personal anecdotes concerning young Klamath Falls fliers who are now overseas engaging the enemy.

The community sing which will be held next Wednesday night at the high school auditorium, in charge of Andrew Loney, was brought to the club's attention and all members and their families were urged to participate. Washington, D. C. urges that community sings be attended as it has been found that singing is a good morale lifter.

Mrs. Bernice Skeen, assistant director of services to the children of working mothers, state department of education, was also a guest of the club. The Soroptimist club is sponsoring the nursery school which is to be established here, and Mrs. Skeen is giving assistance in getting the project started.

Members of the Soroptimist club purchase stamps at each meeting, and Mrs. Doris Peyton, who handles this, reported that twenty-one dollars worth of stamps were purchased at Thursday's meeting.

STORM FAILS TO KEEP MEMBERS HOME

Despite the fact that the worst blizzard of the year visited this section Tuesday night and Wednesday, a fair representation of the Art Needle Work club braved the storm, and gathered at the home of Mrs. Calvin Hunt, Wednesday afternoon, and talked about the state of the weather and other timely subjects, while toasting their feet at the cheery blaze in the fireplace. At four o'clock, Mrs. Hunt served tea.

Mrs. Z. J. Powell, president of the club, will be hostess to the members Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, February the third, at her home on Walnut and Fifth streets.

MRS. ABBOTT HOSTESS ON SATURDAY

Mrs. T. S. Abbott entertained at her home on South Sixth street honoring Mrs. Lloyd Derby on Saturday evening. Following several informal hours gifts were presented to Mrs. Derby and supper served.

Enjoying the affair were Mrs. Derby, Mrs. Angus Newton, Mrs. Wilmot Crandall, Mrs. Leonard Kidwell of Portland, Mrs. Ivy Propst and Mrs. Olive Van Kirk.

RECENT BRIDE

Margaret Elizabeth Wilkerson, daughter of Mrs. Ingeborg Wilkerson of 1124 Mon Claire street, was married to Staff Sergeant Robert Long in a ceremony read December thirty-first at Camp Adair.

The public is cordially invited to attend the installation of officers, Order of the Amaranth, Friendship court, to be held Saturday evening, January the twenty-third, (tonight), in the Masonic temple.

Old Time Costume Show Scheduled

Daughters of the American Revolution Invites Public to Exhibition February First

The fashion show of old time costumes to be presented by Eulalona chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday evening, February the first, at eight o'clock in the main auditorium of the city library, promises to be one of the outstanding events of the winter season. All people who are interested in DAR, or in historical matters of this nature, are invited to attend. There will be no charges. Parents of the girl's who are to model costumes are especially urged to be present.

Mrs. Bert C. Thomas and Mrs. Don Zumwalt are arranging the program. Mrs. Thomas says the costumes will begin with the year 1800 and will go back a decade at a time, to the Revolutionary period. Appropriate music for each decade will be featured, and a few of the singers will also model as they sing. Taking part in this musical feature will be: Mrs. George Hillis, Mrs. Vernon Kuykendall, Mrs. Violette Moore, Mrs. Dick Reeder, Miss Joy Kent, Miss Virginia West, Miss Mary Louise Sexton, Miss Eileen Cornelle, Miss Betty Ree Martin and Miss Wanda Shaw.

Those who will model the earlier day costumes are: Eleanor Thomas, Dorothy Collier, Juanita Shinn, Lola Marie Whisenant, Mary Havens, Sharon Moore, Sandra Moore, Elise Nitschelm, Nan Goeller, Clarissa Mason, Shirley Robinson, Mary Griffiths, Ruth Merrill, Mrs. Alfred Collier, Mrs. Warren Hunt, Mrs. Charles Griffiths, Mrs. Louis Mann and Mrs. Herschel Morris.

Mrs. William Dawson Foster will introduce the models, tell who owns the garment being shown, what period it represents, and other interesting details. Mrs. Vida Hanson, Mrs. J. C. Williamson, and Mrs. S. B. Evans will assist with arrangements for the show.

Mrs. Z. W. Dixon, chapter regent, announces that the complete program will be published Saturday, January the thirtieth, and invites the interested public to keep a place on their calendar for this historical program.

FAREWELL GIVEN FOR MISS BRIDGE

Mrs. Hubert Bridge and Mrs. David Bridge were hostesses Friday evening in the pine paneled room of the Elks club honoring their sister-in-law, Miss Minerva Bridge, who leaves next week to return to Portland.
