MARKET RISE

NEW YORK, Jan. 23 (AP)—A handful of blue chips continued to attract investment buying in today's stock market but further profit driving on the long upward drive stalled many leaders. Dealings slackened after the opening and transfers for the short stretch dwindled to around 300,000 shares.

Rails, as in the preceding session, lacked rising vigor and the failure of this group to confirm the recent advance in other categories helped to discourage chart followers.

Bonds were relatively steady while commodities held to a slim course.

LOYAL BUDDIES
FORT CROOK, Neb. (AP)—Soldiers in training here have voluntarily given up meat rationing during two of their main meals each week, "So we can ship more beef to those guys in the battle lines."

The voluntary rationing began the first of January before the mess officer sounded the boys out. "They agreed to a man," he said.

The Americans mopped up. They combed the coconut groves, picking off snipers in the trees and machine gunners who remained in their nests. The men who died here lie on the battlefield. A rifle marks each grave.—U. P. Correspondent Frank Hewitt on capture of Buna.

WHEAT

CHICAGO, Jan. 23 (AP)—Announcement by the commodity credit corporation that it would make available its 235,000,000 bushel stock of wheat at parity prices unsettled grain markets today.

Wheat futures, which had been higher in early trading, dropped below the preceding session's close following the CCC announcement. Trading was not heavy, however, and resting orders were encountered on the downside. Prices rose again to about yesterday's finish.

The CCC order released wheat at prices equivalent to parity at the point of storage. Traders said the government's selling price is several cents a bushel above the open market price for hard wheats. This fact, it was said, prevented any sharp break in futures.

Wheat closed 1/2 lower to 1/2 higher, May $1.39 1/2, July $1.39 1/2, corn was 1/2 off, May 98 1/2, oats were unchanged to 1/2 higher, rye advanced 1/2 and soybeans dropped 1/2.

CARSTEN'S PAYS HIGH BEEF PRICE

DENVER, Jan. 23 (AP)—Carsten's Packing company of Tacoma, Wash., paid the highest price of the junior fat steer auction closing the annual National Western Livestock show yesterday in taking Shorby, 880-pound Shorthorn, at $23 a hundred.

Exhibited by Kenneth Quayle of Ault, Colo., Shorby was reserve champion of the show in the Shorthorn division, grand champion 4-H steer, grand champion 4-H club Shorthorn and reserve champion in the open show class.

Two million dollars worth of beef cattle and $500,000 of breeding stock, plus $50,000 paid for junior exhibits passed through the Denver stock yards during show week.

L. M. Pexton, president of the Denver Union Stockyards, estimated the week's cattle receipts at 24,870, compared with 32,480 during the 1942 show.

NEWS OF THE THEATRES

Paul Honreid, sensational new leading man, is co-starred with Bette Davis in "Now, Voyager," the current attraction at the Esquire theatre. The vehicle is receiving enthusiastic acclaim by Bette Davis' fans, as it presents her in first sympathetic role in several years.

Shirley is back and is tops as a young romantic in a story packed with comedy, "Miss Annie Rooney" which heads the Tower program Sunday. The companion feature is "Top Sergeant," comedy story of army life.
