Today's Roundup

By MALCOLM EPLEY... CITIZENS who haven't figured their 1942 income taxes will be wise to get at the job soon.

use just as much strategy and just as many tricks on the government side... What he devised as a substitute plan confirms his promise...

Champion Found

NOT even Mr. Paul can believe that this could be done, but he has found a high-placed champion of his cause.

It would be no hardship for him to pay two years in one, and he thinks everyone else should have saved similarly.

Oregon Tax Problem

OREGON has long had a reputation for having a high income tax, but the federal taxes this year make the state tax look puny.

BEARDSLEY RUMI... His Plan Under Fire... Unfortunately, the tax lawyers representing the public on the ways and means committee have not had as much experience as Mr. Paul.

Sales Tax Talk

THERE is some opinion in the state that the income tax should be abolished entirely and a sales tax instituted.

Simple Solution

NEITHER the treasury nor congress has been able to furnish the leadership for devising new methods, but merely continued to increase old taxes more and more each year toward the breaking point.

Treaty Rights

HERE is a new idea on draft deferment: A member of the Modoc tribe, who was drafted into the army and doesn't do so well in the damp atmosphere around San Francisco where he is stationed, has written a local attorney about his plight.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON... WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Mr. Morgenthau's tax counsel, Randolph Paul, has taken the smart lawyer's way of bawling up the house ways and means committee about the Ruml plan and pay-as-you-go.

SIDE GLANCES

"Oh, Mother! Somebody told Johnny that Admiral Halsey called the Japs monkeys, so he's starting for the zoo with his air rifle!"

Nazis Tried to Drop Bombs On U. S. Heavy Bombers in German Raid, Report Yanks

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Airmen back from the American attack on northwest Germany Thursday said the German air force tried to drop bombs on high flying heavy bombers in a desperate but futile effort to thwart the Americans.

Oregon News Notes

By The Associated Press... Oregon College of Education at Monmouth has been selected by the war manpower commission as a future training site for WAACs and Oregon State college for training of army engineers.

HARDSHIP AND GREED

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., (To the Editor)—I cannot help but comment on the difference between your editorial of February 5 about Eddie Rickenbacker and his tales of hardships suffered by our men in service all over the world and the demand of the A. F. of L. Lumber Union for $1.05 per hour minimum wages, 48 hours a week guarantee and $1.00 per day bonus.

Those of us who fought in the last war and suffered a few of the hardships that Rickenbacker speaks about know he is telling the truth, and we realize that these hardships are far greater, than those of World War One.

COMMANDER OF DUTCH NAZIS ASSASSINATED

LONDON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Hendrik Alexander Seyffardt, 70, commander of the Dutch Nazi Legion, was fatally wounded by revolver bullets in front of his home late Friday.

They took all kinds of chances. One even flew between my ship and another Fortress only 75 feet away. Maybe they had never attacked Fortresses before or thought we couldn't shoot. It looks like the Luftwaffe had been bawled out for making such a poor showing at Wilhelmshaven.

ATTEMPT TO BURY MILK BILL CHARGED

SALEM, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sen. Thomas R. Mahoney, Portland democrat, threatened today to make a motion to take his bill to abolish milk control from the senate agriculture committee.

Several thousand dollars worth of damage was caused in Marshfield by a fire that destroyed the rear of the Elks club hall and spread into the kitchen of the Charler hotel.

1745 LEND-LEASE SAILINGS REVEALED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—War Shipping Administrator Emory Land disclosed today that American-controlled vessels, in the year ending October 31, 1942, had made 1745 sailings loaded with lend-lease material—1375 for Britain, 304 for Russia, and 66 for China.

St. Bernard Takes Her Share in Caring for Needy

PORTLAND, Feb. 8 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Recken told today of their St. Bernard dog who found a hungry family in the snow two weeks ago and has protected and brought food to the family since.

It is a dog family, a half-wild Airdale and her three pups. The St. Bernard, Highland Lady, found them huddled in a rotted stump.

PILOT TRAINEES ESTABLISHED IN NEW QUARTERS

Klamath's pilot trainees are now established in the Summers school property, and are leading a life of semi-military routine.

Shower rooms are being prepared and mess arrangements will be completed this week. The trainees will receive all meals at the school property, beginning Wednesday.

Since the step was taken here, the CAA has stopped many of the civilian pilot training schools, and it is believed here the local program would have been stopped had not the move been made to the Summers school location.

50 PER CENT SLASH IN NEWSPRINT SEEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Charging that newsprint slashes "as high as 50 per cent" are being planned by federal rationing authorities, a group of approximately 50 representatives today formed a committee to protest further cuts.

Repeating the contention he made recently on the house floor, Shafer said that the newsprint slashes were "part of an insidious movement on the part of long-haired government theorists to control the press by whatever methods possible."

HOLMAN RAPS 'FOURTH TERM' PUBLICATIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A contention that government motion pictures and magazines, ostensibly produced to further the war effort, were being used to promote a fourth term for President Roosevelt was made in the senate today by Senator Holman (R-Ore.).

Holman accompanied his assertion with the introduction of a resolution to authorize the appropriations committee to investigate the production and distribution of government magazines and films and their cost to the taxpayers.

Window Dressing A viewing of the government film, "A Prelude to War," and a reading of the magazine, "Victory," Holman told his colleagues, would convince any one "Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt is to seek a fourth election to the presidency."

How Terrifying He said he had arranged for "Prelude to War" to be shown to senators in the caucus room of the senate office building next week so that they could see the "personal, political propaganda" he charged it contained.

How terrifying that must be to the Japs," Holman remarked. Another section of the article said that often at a party Mrs. Roosevelt left a conversational group to go over and make some lonely person feel at home with a few words.

I don't believe the president could have had a better driver. My son's commanding officer at Fort Leonard Wood said Buster was the best driver he ever had.—Mother of Staff Sgt. Oran Lass, who chaperoned the president at Casablanca.

Our Home Town

Man of the Year

By EARL WHITLOCK... I'm a little late with my nomination. "Time" chose Joseph Stalin for Man of the Year. Many chose President Roosevelt. This month millions will think of George Washington or Abraham Lincoln as the man of this or any other year and will wish for their wisdom to guide us through our crisis.

But I'd like to nominate, even at this late date, plain John Q. Citizen, right here in America. He's the funny little guy in the cartoons, struggling along under his burden of taxes. He's the boy who goes into the army—as a private—he doesn't know the right people to step into any commission. He's that boy's father saying, "Well, good by, son. Take care of yourself," and hiding his heartache and loneliness with a grin, while he works harder than ever at his business or on his farm, or goes and gets him a job in a war plant to do his share.

The trouble is, you cannot get a picture of John Q. Citizen. It would have to be a composite picture of 130,000,000 of us, men and women, too. Come to think of it, though, that could be expressed by just one picture—the picture of that chin-whiskered, fighting, down-to-earth oldster who we know and love as Uncle Sam.

There's the composite American. And there's my candidate for Man-of-the-Year. Next Monday Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on Good Intentions.
