SP APPEALS TO MEN TO HELP HERE ON LINE

Southern Pacific today appealed to local business and professional men, college students, farmers and all other able-bodied men who have time to spare on weekends, for help in overcoming an acute shortage of workers needed to maintain tracks for the speedy handling of vital war traffic.

The railroad, it was emphasized, is currently short several thousand track workers on its Pacific lines.

In an effort to relieve the situation, Southern Pacific is inaugurating a campaign to sign up men for work on Saturdays and Sundays in this vicinity, according to J. E. Bick of the local SP office.

Tried Out
The plan was recently tried out at Davis and Palo Alto, Bick said, with great success. Business and professional men and many others, eager to help in the war effort, signed up for the emergency jobs and have patriotically continued to devote their spare time to working on the railroad.

Bick pointed out that the program offers local men an opportunity not only to perform an essential war job, but also to get healthful weekend exercise and to earn extra money. He is prepared to furnish full information to all applicants, and will endeavor to organize a crew to work during the coming week-end.

Among the organizations represented were the Camp Fire Guardians, Sorority, DAR, Oregon Women's Ambulance Corps, Business and Professional Women's club, Daughters of American Legion, Venture club, Women of the Moose, Commandos, Friendship club and American Legion auxiliary.

Mrs. C. Jester, special recruiting WAAG officer, urges all women's organizations who are not registered with the WAAG committee, to get in touch with her immediately by phoning 7482, by calling Saturday afternoon between the hours of 2 p. m. and 6 p. m. at the Veterans' Memorial hall, Fourth and Main streets, or register with Sergeant Frank J. Council Works to Complete Furnishing of Camp Rooms

To better coordinate its efforts, a reorganization of the Sixkiyou and Hospital Service, a department of the Red Cross, was recently completed. The council, which has as its purpose furnishing and maintenance of the Camp White company recreation rooms, the hospital sun rooms and other recreational work among service men of the area, has representatives in six counties. Fred Fleet is the Klamath county representative. Other counties in the area are Jackson, Josephine, Douglas, Sixkiyou and Del Norte.

Maurice Spatz, Medford, council chairman, states that one of the most important projects of the council is to complete the furnishing of the Camp White day rooms and hospital sun rooms and points out that many of the articles needed, such as radios, lamps, draperies and similar articles, are impossible for the government to provide. Some of the rooms have already been furnished through volunteer donations of money or articles, but many remain partly or entirely unfurnished.

The idea of the council has the hearty approval of military authorities because it provides one organization in each county and one council in each military area to handle all the civilian contributions. It has been pointed out that the army is not asking for relief but permitting an orderly assistance program. Whether or not the camp is in the immediate vicinity is immaterial, since similar committees are at work all over the nation and men from each county are reapportioned wherever they are stationed.

ALL OFFICERS RE-ELECTED AT RED CROSS MEET

The annual dinner and election of officers of the Klamath Falls chapter of the American Red Cross was held at the Pelican party room on Tuesday evening. After an invocation by Rev. L. K. Johnson, Frank Jenkins, toastmaster, introduced Arnold Craigg, whose speech set forth the inception and aims of the Red Cross from its beginning 80 years ago.

The report of the committee for nomination of officers, given by Earl Redmond, was somewhat of a surprise. Because of the heavy program of the chapter occasioned by the demands of war, the committee decided that this is no time to "change horses." The officers and board members who served during the past year were all re-nominated, with the exception of those few who had moved elsewhere during the year, who were replaced. All nominations were accepted.

Project directors include Otto Smith, first aid and water safety; Mrs. Rose Poole, public information; Mrs. Agnes Basak, Junior Red Cross; Mrs. J. H.
