Dr. Morris Speaks At Dinner Session

Post War Problems Discussed by Dean From University of Oregon Saturday

Post war problems were discussed by Dr. Victor P. Morris, dean of the school of business administration of the University of Oregon before a crowd of over one hundred persons gathered at Willard Hotel Saturday evening, February sixth. The dinner was sponsored by three women's organizations of this city, the Business and Professional Women, League of Women Voters and American Association of University Women.

Dr. Morris, representing the committee for the organization of peace, pointed out that the intelligent study of post war problems by groups such as represented at this meeting would provide a potential weapon for winning the war as well as provide a background for establishing a workable peace plan. Especially would such plans be helpful in winning of the people of conquered countries and colonial possessions.

The speaker divided the postwar problems into three fields. The first question was how the allied nations are to deal with bitter hatreds that have been growing in Europe and Asia. The second was the establishment of an adequate police force until the various territories would learn to govern themselves. Most important was the economic problem brought about by the many divisions within Europe.

Dr. Morris pointed out that no static plan could be worked out but that there would have to be continual planning, experimentations and revision of plans over a long period.

Mrs. D. O. Miller, president of the American Association of University Women presided over the meeting. Mrs. Miller introduced the presidents of the two cooperating organizations, Miss Lillie Darby, of the Business and Professional Women's club, and Mrs. Everett Dennis of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Paul Buck introduced the speaker of the evening.

St. Valentine's Day

The question of the day on February fourteenth will still be, "Will You Be My Valentine?"

The first thing the American miss looks for on Valentine's Day is a missive from the man in her life. She differs from her sister of the 1500's or 1600's in Merrie England who probably slept late that morning if she were the timid sort. For there was a general belief that the first male person the young damsel saw on St. Valentine's Day was slated to be her suitor!

But she looked forward, too, to receiving Valentines—only hers came in through an open window, (left open purposely, of course, on St. Valentine's eve), attached to an apple or pear.

Since Valentines were always anonymous, a question would arise as to just which young gallant was posing the question, "Will You Be My Valentine?" And since the sending of Valentines was considered practically a proposal of marriage, it was really quite a problem.

Times have changed and Valentines now travel on a two-way route. Sentiment runs high when young love is separated by war, and the boys in Uncle Sam's service, particularly, are sure to get their share of reassurances of affection tomorrow.

For example: "Maybe you're only a PRIVATE to Uncle Sam— But you're of more than GENERAL interest to me!"

"BE MY VALENTINE?" And who wouldn't be the sweetheart of lovely little Karen Drury, eight-year-old in the family of Mr. and Mrs. Don R. Drury, 1401 Pacific Terrace.

Program Given At Library Club

Mrs. Preston Guest Speaker on Monday and Exhibit of South American Articles Shown

One of the most interesting programs to be heard by members of the Klamath Falls Woman's Library club was that presented Monday afternoon in the main auditorium at two o'clock when Mrs. Naomi Preston spoke on the subject, "Explaining Chile's Attitude." The entire afternoon stressed the South American note and there was an interesting display of articles from our neighbors to the south.

Mrs. Preston, who spent a number of years teaching in Santiago, Chile, discussed the political angle, the marketing exchange as well as Chile's attitude toward the United States. She discussed the trade between the two countries and remarked that many of Chile's products were also our own and this feature was not exceptionally good for the exchange of products.

Dorothy Laursen, accompanied by Mrs. Don J. Zumball, played three marimba solos which were particularly enjoyed. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Jack Schulze and Mrs. Leslie Rogers with Mrs. Horace Getz and Mrs. E. D. Lamb in charge of flower arrangements.

Mrs. George A. Myers and Mrs. John Houston were responsible for the exhibit. Miss Virginia West arranged a travel exhibit from South America which was especially interesting. Others exhibiting were Mrs. W. R. Boyd, Mrs. E. A. Boyd, Mrs. George Merryman Sr., Mrs. Ralph W. Stearns, Mrs. Albert O. Roenicke, Mrs. E. D. Lamb.

Members are asked to remember the next meeting date of Library club which will be Monday, March the eighth, and this time the program will be presented in the Little Theatre off Mon Claire under the direction of Mrs. B. B. Blomquist of the drama department, Klamath Union high school. All members are urged to attend as much work has gone into the play to be presented.

Members of the garden club will meet February the twenty-third in the small club rooms.

Lt. and Mrs. George H. Merryman Jr., were in Klamath Falls Friday, en route to Stockton, California, where Lt. Merryman has been transferred from Helena, Montana by the United States Army Medical corps.

Valentine Party

Membership Drive Slated Early March

Highlight of the month of March is the last of a series of concerts scheduled by the Klamath Concert association and presenting lovely, blonde Helen Jepson on Friday night, March the fifth, on the Pelican stage.

Members are asked to renew their memberships that evening if possible. This request is made by officers and workers as gas rationing will put a decided crimp in the activities of membership seekers. This year, more than ever before, Klamath residents should respond to the concert drive. As a morale lifter in war time, there is nothing like good music. And remember, as the main attraction next season, that super-quartet composed of Nino Martinl, Igor Gorin,

Josephine Tuminia and Helen Olheim, will appear on our concert stage.

Miss Gloria Petersteiner, student at Oregon State college at Corvallis, is spending the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Petersteiner of Portland street. The Petersteiners have also just received word that their son-in-law, Dwayne McDonald, has been accepted for pilot training and will be transferred from the army to the air corps.

THIS DARK-EYED VALENTINE is little Aurora Provencal, six-year-old daughter of Chief Petty Officer and Mrs. Alfred Provencal. Daddy is at sea with the United States navy and mother resides at 763 California avenue.
