NEWS OF THE THEATRES

Judy Garland and her two leading men, George Murphy and Gene Kelly, as they appear in a scene from M-G-M's "For Me and My Gal," now playing at the Esquire theatre. The film depicts the nostalgic story of vaudeville in its halcyon era in the days just before World War I.

Sharing the rich humor and tender romance of "Life Begins at Eight-Thirty," are Ida Lupino, in her most enchanting role, and Cornel Wilde, a new leading man. Together they fight for the right to love. Monty Wooley (left) is co-starred with Ida as a one-time stage great who reveals his sharp witticisms. Prominent, too, in the 20th Century-Fox film coming Saturday midnight to the Pelican theatre are Sara Allgood, Melville Cooper, J. Edward Bromberg and William Demarest.

Rug-cutting and romance wax hot as Rosalind Russell and Janet Blair Conga with the navy in Columbia's "My Sister Eileen!" Starting tomorrow at the Pine Tree.

Jane Randolph and Richard Carlson have the lead in "Highways by Night," the exciting story adapted from the Saturday Evening Post serial, "Silver Spoon." "Highways by Night" has its first Klamath Falls showing at the Tower theatre starting Sunday.

MVB CLUB MEMBERS SEW AT MEETING

Members of the MVB club met at the home of Mrs. John Mistler on January the twenty-seventh with Thelma Houck and Vada Schmeck as hostesses. There was a brief business meeting and games during the afternoon with Mrs. Jacob Houck awarded honors. Later the guests sewed for the "victory baby." Refreshments were served to Mrs. John Mistler, Mrs. Jacob Houck, Mrs. Jack Casebeer, Mrs. Thelma Houck, Mrs. Vada Schmeck, Mrs. Katie Phipps, Mrs. Rose Bennett and Mrs. Ida Thomas.

Mrs. E. H. Balaiger was hostess to circle 3 of the First Methodist church on Thursday afternoon. Dessert luncheon was served at half past one o'clock, followed by the business meeting; Mrs. Paul Edwards then spoke upon the subject of "Western South Latin America." There were fifteen present, and one new member joined at this meeting, Mrs. James McLellan, who recently moved here from Great Falls, Montana. Mrs. E. M. Chilcote is chairman of the group, Mrs. V. J. Josephson, secretary, and Dorothy Gaster was elected treasurer.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Emil Dreher, formerly of this city and now of Prineville, over the passing of her father, Andrew J. Santamaw,

HIGH SCHOOL

News Notes and Comment

By ANITA GWYN

If one was near either of the gyms Friday, grunts of exertion could be heard. Members of the state board and the University of Oregon were at the school to witness various physical fitness exercises performed by approximately 200 boys and girls. Teachers from the county came to see the exhibition. We would venture to say that probably a lot of students won't take too many steps today until they groan.

The Literary club has begun its part of the high school year program by starting a campaign to collect books for the boys in the armed forces. Fiction and non-fiction books that have been popular in the last 10 years are welcome and also technical books published since 1935. The books that you don't want are not the ones to give, but the ones that you like should be contributed. Bring them to the freshman-sophomore library.

An error yesterday completely changed the name of the play now being directed by Mrs. B. B. Blomquist, "The Diabolical Uncle," as it was written yesterday, is in reality "The Diabolical Circle," a play of early colonial life in the time of Cotton Mather. Witchcraft, comedy and romance all in one play—don't miss it.

WAVES, SPARS TO BE RECRUITED HERE

The local navy recruiting office announced today that beginning Monday, February 15, they will assist in the procurement of applicants for Waves and Spars (coast guard.) Those who are interested will be given a booklet containing complete information, the necessary forms to be filled out, and assistance in filling out the forms. Applicants must be 20 to 36 years of age, have no children under 18 years of age and applicant for Waves cannot be married to a navy man, or if married to a coast guardsman, cannot apply for Spars. They must pass specified physical requirements and must have had two years of high school or business school.

As a member of the Waves or Spars, women can wear the same navy blue, win the same ratings and earn the same pay as America's fighting men. They can hold the same shore jobs that are now filled by men. At navy and coast guard bases throughout the United States, Waves and Spars do all types of office work. They also are needed to fill jobs in radio, communications and store-keeping. Some are needed for important posts in mechanics and aviation ground work—as machinists, for example, or as operators of the link trainer, device which teaches future navy pilots the principles of flying.

Other women are needed for various special or technical positions. The navy needs women as typists, secretaries, business machine operators, filing clerks, bookkeepers, radio operators, telegraphers, photographers, librarians, switchboard operators, etc.

Mrs. S. L. Wilson Finally Sees Movie of Her Son

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 13 (AP) Four times Mrs. S. L. Wilson went to a theater to see her son in a Guadalcanal newsreel. She tried a fifth theater Thursday, "and this time my heart went to my throat—but stopped there," she said. "I saw him." On the first four tries, "things just seemed to go black before Melven Lee appeared." How long was her 17-year-old boy on the screen? "Oh, it seemed like about one sixty-fifth of a second. They were marching up a gangplank into a ship. He smiled into the camera just like he used to smile at home. "He stopped and rubbed the end of his rifle—the handle, or whatever you call it."

At least one adult in each household should be TRAINED IN FIRST AID

All children over 12 years of age should have the rudiments of First Aid training!

These are only PLAIN, COMMON SENSE PRECAUTIONS in an area so near the coast as Klamath.

AND -- in ordinary course of events First Aid training saves lives!

Within the past year—14-year-old Ella May Smith, who learned First Aid at Chiloquin, resuscitated her baby brother who fell into Williamson river—Otto Smith, First Aid worker, saved a man from electrocution by instant use of First Aid.

IT COULD HAPPEN TO YOU!

In 1942—

491 Junior First Aid Certificates were issued. 1323 Standard First Aid Certificates were issued. 423 Advanced First Aid Certificates were issued.

In a town the size of Klamath Falls this is a very small number.

Let's make a better showing in '43! 68 qualified instructors are willing and anxious to teach you first aid.

Young men going into the service! The advantage of knowing First Aid and Water Safety is incalculable.
