NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP) — Have any use for a football stadium? . . Our guess, after reading about the program for training army specialized personnel, is that the colleges won't have the teams to fill them next fall . . . The main hope of carrying on football on anything like a normal basis was to have the soldier students mingle with the rest on varsity teams and apparently that's out . . . All branches of the services haven't been heard from and possibly the navy will be more liberal, but it still looks like the only athletes available will be either too young or too feeble to get into uniforms.

Maybe it isn't superstition, but Stan Spence, who says his Washington contract is o. k. won't sign it until he reports for training because that's what he did last year when he had his best season . . . Pop Harrison, Iowa basketball coach, claims the Illinois "Whiz Kids" are so good a coach couldn't have done better by wading through the high schools to hand-pick a squad . . . After sending a story on the first developments of the Phils' sale Tuesday, a Philadelphia reporter phoned his office to ask whether he should return or stick around a while. "Stay there until you find out who's bought them," he was told . . . latest report is that he claims New York is fine for a visit but he hates to live here.

Jeffries Hit Hardest Punch By Choynski, Who Gave Him 68-Pound Pull But Got Draw

By HARRY GRAYSON,
NEA Service Sports Editor

Down through the years many a fighter has been pointed out as a gamester. In most instances it was a fellow who could take an awful shellacking, with not a chance of being the winner. Such glovemen should not be classed as game. They are dumb.

Joe Choynski combined all the qualities of the gamester. The doughty Choynski cared naught for weight, height, hitting power or any other handicap. When the heavyweights shunned Bob Fitzsimmons, Choynski took him on. He was in no sense a selector.

Punches hurt him as much or more than the other bloke, but he did not hesitate to trade them.

Particular attention always focuses on the great fight Choynski put up against the seemingly overwhelming advantages a young James J. Jeffries took into the ring with him in San Francisco, November 30, 1897.

HIS GREATEST EFFORT

This 20-round draw perhaps was Choynski's finest effort. Jim Jeffries was inches taller, much longer in reach. He weighed 230 pounds, Choynski 162, a difference of 68.

As they shaped up at the outset, it had all the earmarks of a mismatch. When the fight got under way, however, the speedy Choynski, a master boxer who could thread a needle with a left jab and whose left hook and right cross were demolishing, took command, had the crowd roaring for his gallant part of lugging the trouble to his gigantic adversary.

Three years before Choynski had knocked Ruby Robert Fitzsimmons flat on his back in Boston in a bout that was even when police interfered at the end of five rounds.

A victory over Jeff would have given him the title match with Fitz, which the boilermaker won.

Jeff dropped Choynski on his shoulder blades with a left in the third round, but he got up to hit the California Grizzly the punch Jim calls the hardest he ever received and to miss narrowly the finest opportunity of his career. Choynski did not clinch. He circled Jeff and stepped aside when he rushed.

Joe Choynski was a determined fighting man.

JEFF STILL SPEAKS OF IT

Choynski nearly tore Jeff's head off with left hooks and in the tenth a right to the eye-tooth shook the boilermaker from stem to stern.

It drove his upper lip between the teeth. Two rounds later a second cut the lip away from the tooth. That is the punch Jeff still talks about. He also says that he never knew a man who could jab as accurately and often with such effect as Chrysanthemum Joe.

The fighting spirit of Joe Choynski will always stand out, regardless of what generation is discussing heavyweights.

Young's Foul Shot Gives Pelicans 30-29 Victory

Ashland Ties Pelicans at 29 All, But Young's One Point Saves Game

By virtue of a foul throw made by Young in the final minute of play, the Pelican hoopsters took Ashland's Grizzlies, 30-29, in a ding-dong basketball battle on the Ashland floor last night after trailing 10-7 at the end of the first quarter and being tied 29-29 in the last two minutes of play.

Bocchi, Klamath's ace guard, and three Ashland players were eliminated from the game in a hectic last two minutes—Bocchi for roughness and the Ashland players, Mansfield, Barfelt and Riggs, on the four foul rule.

High point man for the Pelicans was Welch who tallied 12. Ashland high man was Barfelt who also made 12 counters. The second quarter saw the Pelicans return from a 10-7 disadvantage to a halftime lead of 20-17.

In the preliminary battle, the Klamath Wildcats dropped the Ashland B team 43-19 after pulling away from a 10-6 advantage the first quarter.

Tonight the Pelicans again tangle with the Ashland hoopmen in the second of the double-header series.

Tiny Poodle To Rise in Popularity

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—If fashions in dogs follow the Westminster Kennel club show, then the dog that is due for a rise in popularity is the miniature poodle—a pert little canine with a queer hair cut.

The poodle, miniature style, gained in stature last night when one of the breed, Mrs. P. H. B. Frelinghuysen's Ch. Pitter Patter of Piperscroft, was crowned best-in-show at the Westminster exhibition in Madison Square garden. It marked the first time that the breed had gone up in the show dominated by wire and smooth-haired fox terriers since the big trophy was first presented in 1907.

A wire-haired was in last night's final. So was a fine looking Borzoi (Russian wolfhound) and an Irish water spaniel of reputation. But after looking over the six group winners, Judge Gerald M. Livingston decided on the solid four-year-old Pitter Patter.

Southwest Grid Men Give Varied Slants on Year

DALLAS, Feb. 13 (AP)—Down in Texas, where football practice starts in midwinter, the southwest conference offered two slants on next fall's grid prospects.

At the University of Texas, 54 men reported for football practice, despite the fact that 24 of the school's athletes recently entered the armed forces. Fourteen lettermen participated in the first workout.

At Baylor university, Athletic Director Ralph R. Wolf said he thought it probable that conference officials at a May meeting would drop all inter-collegiate sports for the duration.

Central Defeats Pacific Lutheran In Winko League

ELLENSBURG, Feb. 13 (AP)—Led by Forward Jim Adamson, Central Washington college went on a scoring spree last night to defeat Pacific Lutheran college 63-31 in a Winko league basketball game. Central led 29-19 at the half.

Adamson, high man of the game, scored 23 points, while another CWC forward, Wiseman, slipped through 12, to give him a total of 173 points for 11 games and the league's top scoring position.

Indian Grid Star Sent to Hospital With Heart Attack

DETROIT, Feb. 13 (AP)—Jim Thorpe, famous Indian football star and athlete, was taken to Henry Ford hospital today after suffering a heart attack at the Ford Motor company's Rouge plant where he has been employed for a year as a plant guard.

Thorpe, who is 54 and resides at Romulus, Mich., was said to be in serious condition.

Trojans Plan Next Year's Football

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 13 (AP)—Southern California's Trojans intend to play football next fall and are making plans in that direction now, says Business Manager Arnold Eddy.

Eddy made that comment after learning the army had ruled its students in the new specialized training program at colleges and universities cannot participate in intercollegiate athletics.

"The war is the primary consideration, of course," declared Eddy, "but I think we'll have enough boys left over for intercollegiate competition of some sort or other."

Bill Ackerman, UCLA's graduate manager, said nearly every man out for sports at Westwood was tied up with the service "and we would be through if a blanket order for them to discontinue athletics came through." He said many were in the navy and marine ranks and apparently were not affected so far.

Stanford and California athletic officials have agreed they will continue sports with whatever material is available.

B Teams Have Tough Route to State Tourney

In order to reach the state tournament, the Klamath county B league winner must first win from the Sacred Heart academy, then from the winner of the Jackson-Josephine county league, and finally from the champions of Coos, Curry and Douglas counties.

H. P. Jewett, superintendent of the Central Point schools and member of the B district 3 basketball committee, stated that this method of determining the district representative will involve a minimum of travel and still allow every school in the district an opportunity to play for the title.

The favorites of the Jackson-Josephine league are Jacksonville, Rogue River and Central Point with Jacksonville conceded the edge over other contestants. The Jackson-Josephine tournament is to be held on February 19-20; the same dates as the Klamath county tourney.

Keno's win over the Wildcats places them in the position of the only team likely to stop the Chiloquin Panthers in the Klamath county league as the Panthers have consistently defeated all B opposition in pre-tournament games.

Oregon State Swimmers Beat Cougars, 43-35

CORVALLIS, Ore., Feb. 13 (AP) The Oregon State college swimming team defeated the Washington State tank squad, 40 to 35 points last night, closing its season on dual meets. Previously the Beaver team lost two meets to Oregon.

OSC took five firsts to WSC's four.

The only double winner was Campbell of the Cougars who won the 50 and 100 yard free style races.

Bellingham Wins First Cross-State Basketball Battle

BELLINGHAM, Feb. 13 (AP)—Bellingham won its first cross-state high school basketball game of the year Thursday, upsetting highly favored Stadium of Tacoma, 35-24. Bellingham led 21-5 at the half.

Hillman was high for the winners with 12 points. Stewart led Stadium scoring with 8.

Tight Hoop Race Makes Every Battle "Crucial"

Washington Knocks WSC From Top by 61-52 Win; OSC Beats Oregon, 46-36

By The Associated Press

With the conference race so tight that every game falls into the "crucial" class and may be the one that decides the championship, the University of Washington, Washington State college, University of Oregon and Oregon State looked forward to contests tonight which may settle their fate in the northern division of the Pacific Coast conference.

Washington moved out in the lead by half a game last night, tumbling Washington State from the top of the ladder with a miraculous recovery which saw the Huskies drive from a 20-point deficit in the first half to a 61 to 52 victory.

Meanwhile, Oregon State, defending division champions, remained in the running by pulling up to within a game of the second place Washington Staters through a 46 to 36 triumph over Oregon, which in turn still is within striking distance of the crown should the leaders falter.

In the game at Pullman, the Cougars started with a rush and built up a 20-point margin in the early minutes before the Washington squad cut it down to a 32-22 difference at the half.

Racing out in the second period, the Huskies put the skids under the State college edge with a scoring splurge that sent 25 counters to the board while the WSC men were racking up but three.

Bill Morris, ace Washington guard, paced his team with 16 points and at the same time checked the Washington State scoring king, Gail Bishop, at nine points.

At Corvallis, the return of Don Durdan, star guard who has been out of the lineup because of illness, strengthened the Oregon State champions. Durdan dropped a basket at the end of three minutes which put the OSC five ahead 5-3 and they never were headed. OSC led at the half, 23-18.

Army Down On Student, Soldier Play

Colleges Determined to Carry On Despite Army No On Soldier-Student Play

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP)—Despite the army's ruling against student-soldier participation in intercollegiate sports, college officials today expressed a grim determination to carry on.

Col. Herman Beukema, director of the army's specialized training corp in Washington, explained that the soldier-athletes wouldn't have time for such extra-curricular activities and added "We are not sending the men there (to the colleges) to participate in big time athletic programs."

His decision was the more stunning because previously the college authorities had hinted that soldiers sent to 271 campuses would be declared eligible to compete on the teams of those schools.

Maj. John L. Griffith, Big Ten commissioner, said in Chicago after studying the order that "I'm sure that we will always be able to find 11 boys in every school who want to play football. College football may be hurt but it won't be killed."

Virtually the same sentiments were expressed in the east by Lou Little of Columbia, Frank Thomas of Alabama and approved by spokesmen from the farwest and southwest.

"Of course," continued Little, "we will have football. Calisthenics develops the boy but competitive sport develops the man."

Colonel Beukema said that the army would begin shipping its first student-soldiers to the campuses by March 1 and that the plan would be in full swing by April 1.

He estimated that at its peak approximately 150,000 soldiers would be attending college and that the men would have to meet the scholastic requirements of the schools to which they were sent.

Tests will be given at the end of each 12-week period and the men who fail will be returned to duty with the troops.

Chiloquin Hoop Men Get 49-27 Merrill Victory

Chiloquin defeated Merrill last night 49 to 27. Robertson of the Panthers rolled the baskets in from every angle to lead the scoring with 18 points. Snapp and Van Cleve of the Huskies divided their team's honors with 7 counters apiece.
