

LOANS TO BE MADE FARMERS IN FOOD PLAN

After 23 years of lending money to farmers to fight their natural enemies — droughts, floods and insect pests — the emergency crop and feed loan section of the farm credit administration, department of agriculture, is making loans to farmers to carry on their greatest fight of all times — producing food for military as well as civilian needs.

V. N. Freeman, field supervisor of southwestern Oregon, has announced that the 1943 program is under way and applications are being received at his office in Eugene. Loans are available to farmers for the production both of war crops and of regular cash, feed and soil conserving crops, and for livestock feeding to increase production of foods and livestock vital to the nation's war effort.

Security
Loan funds may be used for buying seed, fertilizer, supplies, and to pay other production costs, including incidentals and repairs to farm machinery and equipment.

Security for these loans is a first lien on the crops to be financed or the livestock to be fed. The maximum amount of any individual loan is $400, and the rate of interest is 4 per cent per annum. Loan checks are usually delivered within 10 days after the application is completed. "The fact that an applicant owes balances on old seed loans will not in itself prevent approval of a new loan, provided the reason for non-payment was beyond his control," Freeman said.

"Farmers who are unable to obtain credit through production credit associations or on reasonable terms from other sources may obtain these loans," Freeman explained. Application forms and full information are available at the office of any county agent, production credit association, or at the office of V. N. Freeman, field supervisor, room 7, Post Office building, Eugene.

It would be wrong to discriminate as between taxpayers when we change our methods of assessment. If we put some taxpayers on a current basis, we should put all on a current basis, all income-tax-debt free. — Beardsley Ruml.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

"Build for Tomorrow with your purchases of War Bonds today." Farmers are taking extra good care of their farm implements. They can't buy them today. But with War Bond savings they'll be able to buy new farm equipment when the peace comes.

Farmers are helping in the war effort by the production of food. But increased income should go into War Bonds and Savings, not scarce, high-priced consumer goods. Buy more and more War Bonds with your increased profits today. You've Done Your Bit, Now Do Your Best." U. S. Treasury Department

NEWS, NOT SHOES

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Henry Arndt, veteran railway engineer, tried to buy shoes.

He got nothing but a surprise. He not only had to have shoe coupons, he learned; he also had to have food coupons pretty soon or he'd stop eating. He got them.

Arndt said he'd been working overtime too much to read news or listen to radio broadcasts.

FARM LOAN GROUP TO TALK FOOD PLAN

"Food for Freedom Goals for 1943" will be one of the topics of discussion at the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Klamath and Southern Klamath National Farm Loan associations at the Willard hotel Saturday, February 20, H. E. Hamaker, association secretary-treasurer announced this week.

Arnold Anderson, regional district manager from the federal land bank of Spokane will be the principal speaker, and C. A. Henderson, county agriculturist, will also give a talk on a timely subject. Another feature will be a "question box" on war-time farm problems. The meeting will begin with luncheon at 12:15 p. m., and will conclude with the election of directors for the ensuing year.

"Every member of the association will gain interesting information from this meeting," said Hamaker, "and a good attendance is expected."

"I Ain't Going"

BUTTE, Mont., (AP)—The bus driver helped a woman and little girl into the bus.

Several blocks later the woman alighted. "Aren't you going with your mama?" the driver asked the girl.

"That's not my mama." "Well, where are you going, then?"

"Oh, I ain't going anywhere. I was just standing there, and you helped me on the bus, so . . ."

REYNOLDS TELLS OF RECENT TRIP

Crowded conditions in Washington with vast armies of government employees, not all of them appearing very busy, were described to Kiwanis Thursday by Earl C. Reynolds, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who is back from a trip to the capital.

Reynolds said Senator Byrd of Virginia is making a campaign against excessive employment by government bureaus, and people in the east are profoundly impressed by his efforts.
