

RATION BOOK 2 SIGN-UP TO BE FEBRUARY 24-27

TULELAKE—Registration for ration book 2 is scheduled for four days only next week at the elementary school in Tulelake and the Winema school on the west side. Dates are February 24-27 inclusive.

While general announcements will schedule the entire week, Jerome Keefer, chairman of the registration, stated Friday that the four days would suffice to take care of all registrants since a technique has been devised by the local board to speed up the process. Each registrar has one thing only to do and John Q. Citizen will pass down an assembly line instead of giving all data to one registrar. Plenty of help already recruited will also speed up the registration, he said.

Those planning to assist met last weekend with an OPA official from San Francisco and with E. R. Deering, Siskiyou county supervisor of schools. Carl Suddreth, principal at Winema school, will act as chairman in that district.

CHARLES NEAL DIES FOLLOWING STROKE

LAKEVIEW (Special)—Charles Henry Neal, mailman on the Alturas stage, died at Lakeview Public hospital Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock following a stroke suffered shortly after he had pulled in with the day's mail.

Neal had arrived with the stage about 11 a. m., and shortly afterward Elzie Bagley of the postoffice staff observed him tinkering around with the bus door where he was apparently undertaking a minor repair. About noon, Dan Brogan, postoffice employe, walked out to the back of the building to find Neal sitting on the ground in a dazed condition. He was taken into the postoffice on a stretcher, and Dr. H. E. Kelly was immediately summoned. On discovering that Neal had suffered a stroke, Dr. Kelly had him removed at once to the Lakeview Public hospital, where death followed about 4 o'clock.

Mr. Neal was born at Lone Rock, Ore., on July 23, 1881, being 61 years old. He is survived by his widow and one daughter at Klamath Falls. Funeral services and interment will be held at Alturas pending arrangements. The body was removed from the Ousley funeral home to Alturas Wednesday.

Meatlegger Brings Black Market to US in Big Way

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 (AP)—The meatlegger has brought the black market, scourge of war-torn nations, to America in a big way.

A congressional committee has heard testimony that illegal dealings in meat (illegal because of price regulations, civilian quotas and fake grading) have become nearly as widespread as the sale of bootleg liquor in prohibition days.

There have been prosecutions for illicit trading in tires, gasoline, coffee and sugar . . . But nothing to compare with the scope of the meatlegger. OPA now has nearly 1500 investigators working full time running down meat violations.

Production of tires, gasoline, coffee and sugar is relatively easy to check, OPA men say, but meat . . .

Meat on the hoof can be butchered on the sly . . . under a tree, in a barn or garage . . . trucked away at night . . . and turned up in butcher shop, private home, hotel or restaurant.

It hasn't been government-inspected or graded . . . and how can the housewife be sure if somebody says it's higher grade and therefore costs more?

Demand for meat is strong, and the supply is short (about half is going to the armed forces and lend-lease) . . . Those are the basic elements for a black market, all hands agree.

While OPA says it's trying to crack down all along the line, at least part of Washington officialdom apparently looks upon rationing and public opinion as the best hopes for stamping out meatlegging.

When rationing starts a month hence, each person will have his stated ration. This will put the matter squarely up to the individual: You stay within your ration or you deal with a meatlegger. There the factor of patriotism—and concern for the food of fighting men—will present a clear issue, some officials tell you, at the same time that ration coupons will give investigators something to work on in checking up on dealers.

In the meantime congressmen are considering a suggestion that the government step directly into the picture—buy and distribute live animals, and set up a registration of all persons who sell meat products.

There is talk of freezing prices on live animals. Packers complain that they've squeezed between ceiling prices on meat products and the uncontrolled prices of livestock on the hoof. But if these prices were frozen, congressmen ask, what's to prevent the livestock raiser from selling to a black market operator for more money, so long as there's a black market?

Housewives Asked To Redouble Effort On Fats Campaign

SALEM, Feb. 20 (AP)—Oregon housewives must redouble their efforts to attain the goal of 2,340,000 pounds of cooking fats to be collected this year, the state salvage committee said today.

The 1934 quota is 195,000 pounds per month, while November and December collections totaled only 63,000 pounds each.

MORE SPUDS HELD FOR ARMY PURCHASE

REDMOND, Feb. 20 (AP)—All unsold grade No. 1 or better Nettle Gem potatoes in Deschutes, Crook and Jefferson counties went into the hands of the government today.

William Quick, associated marketing specialist of the quartermaster corps, who announced the requisitioning, said the potatoes would be reserved for the armed forces.

Dealers estimated 150 carloads were taken over. Grade No. 2 potatoes were not included, and Quick said farmers also could get exemptions for seed potatoes by applying to him at Redmond.

Amos and Andy Are Out of a Job— Temporarily

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 20 (AP)—For the first time in 16 years of broadcasting the blackface comedy that made them famous, Amos and Andy were out of a job and off the air today—but only until they complete negotiations for a new sponsor later in the year.

Their contract with Campbell Soup company, for which they have continued their five-nights-a-week air appearance since it became radio's first great national program, expired with their broadcast last night.

Announcement regarding the date they expect to return to the air, still as the comedy team of Amos and Andy, but representing another, as yet unidentified sponsor, will be made later.

Now Iceland Rations Gasoline

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Feb. 20 (AP)—Iceland began to ration gasoline today at the rate of three gallons a week for private motorists. Since motor vehicles and horses are almost the only means of transportation here, the situation is regarded as serious and officials said they hoped to increase the ration during the summer.
