

U. S. TO PRESS FOR POST-WAR PROGRAM NOW

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26 (AP)—The United States has decided to press for United Nations conferences on common aims now, without waiting for the end of the war, and "intends at once" to open preliminary talks with its allies in preparation for such conferences.

Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles made this announcement here today in a speech for delivery at the University of Toronto, which conferred on him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Study Urged

Welles, who a fortnight ago warned that "unmitigated havoc" might result from failure of the United Nations to agree on basic problems before the war ends, reiterated the urgent necessity of "searching for solutions" through frank exchange of views.

He urged particularly that the United Nations set up without further delay "machinery for the purpose of assembling and studying all international aspects of problems under the general heading of freedom from want."

"If all aspects of an economic problem were explored, it would become apparent that the basic interests of all countries are largely common interests, that each country's economic problems are related to, and inseparable from, those of the others," he said, adding:

Overdue

"Failing to begin such organized study and discussion now, there is danger that divergent views and policies may become crystallized, to the detriment of the common war effort, and to the detriment of efforts to bring about a peace that will be more than a brief and uneasy interlude before another even more horrible and more destructive war devastates and depopulates the world.

"My government believes that the initiation of such studies is already overdue. If we do not make a start now, there is danger that we shall be brought together to make the peace with as many plans as there are governments.

Four-H News

Chiloquin Cooking Club
The meeting was called to order by Patricia Barkley, our president, on February 17 at 3:40. Roll call was read and one was reported absent.

A committee of two gave prizes to us for page "Price List of Foods" for our record book. Marion Doty, our leader, checked our cards and our progress was good. The meeting was adjourned, after which games were played.

The Clicking Needle Club
The Clicking Needle club of Malin has a number of members in their club to be proud of. There are 20 members, 13 girls and seven boys. The boys seem to have an inventive mind. Howard Borough taught the club to knit a pocket or purse on two needles in such a way the sides don't have to be sewn together.

Lloyd Fields also taught the club to wind yarn so that the yarn comes from the center of the ball and thus prevents the ball from rolling around while one is knitting.

Our instructor is Miss Dolezal. We meet every Tuesday. Dorothy Loosley, News Reporter.

The Chemult 4-H Club
The Chemult 4-H club was organized again this year on February 1. This will make the fourth consecutive year for club work here in Chemult, and the second year for leathercraft. This year we have four members taking leathercraft I and four taking leathercraft II. Their names are for Leathercraft I, Homer Bellavance, Ronald Bellavance and Donald Brader. The names of the Leathercraft II are, David

We have had two meetings and have each finished one article of the five required to finish our project. We will have to have meetings every week on Mondays in order to get in our ten and finish our work because we got a late start this year.

The Three K's

The Keno Clothing Klub held its meeting on February 12, 1948.

The seventh and eighth grades could only stay a half hour so we had all the songs and yells at that period.

In grading the wall hangings, first place went to Kathleen Johnston; second, Lois Borough; fourth, Myrtle Harick; fifth, Geraldine Hueblain. For the dresses June House won first and Gloria Fitzsimmons, second.

Mrs. Scherer explained about bringing all our 4-H projects finished.

The Keno Clothing Klub held a meeting on February 19, with just members of the grade school present, as the high school did not hold school Friday.

The meeting was opened with patriotic songs. The club decided to buy a frame for the 4-H poster which Mr. Jenkins gave us.

A 4-H exhibit will be held soon in which the girls will demonstrate how the projects are made. At this meeting they prepared for the final exhibits.

Two visitors from Weyerhaeuser camp 4 were present at the meeting for the purpose of getting some new ideas for their club at camp.

The girls are doing very nice work, and are all looking forward to the 4-H exhibit.

Tips Given On Planning With Points

Editor's note: War touches every home and every citizen. This column, based on official government information and prepared by the Office of War Information, shows how the war will affect Mrs. America and her home.

Here are tips for household budgeters who will count point stamps as well as pennies when shopping for rationed processed foods. Plan your needs for at least a week whenever possible. Make a list, and itemize the points required so you can tell how the weekly point budget will spread. If the list calls for more points than you have, figure on substituting low-point items for high-point ones and also use as many non-rationed foods as possible. Figure your weekly point budget by adding together the 48 points allowed to everyone in the family in each rationing period and divide by the number of weeks in the ration period.

Mrs. America need not be concerned about the stocks of lard available this year because the 1943 civilian supply is slightly more than it was during 1942. And this is true despite an order by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, directing federally inspected packers to set aside 50 per cent of the weekly lard production for war requirements. Recently the War Production Board granted an increase of fats and oils to makers of margarine.

Wartime restrictions may have sounded the death knell for production of those gay metal canisters which are in most American kitchens, but here's a substitute. A transparent glass canister set is the latest thing for the kitchen, and, of course, there is no need for labels to describe the contents.

The far reaching effect of the war on Mrs. America's household is revealed even by minor details such as repainting a dull-looking radiator with aluminum or bronze paint. There is not very much of either aluminum or bronze paint for civilian needs due to valuable war uses. The amount of aluminum paint for civilian use has been sharply curtailed, and only bronze powder ground before March 31, 1942 can be used for paints available in the retail store. Sponges also are limited for household duties because of the great military needs. The amount of animal sponges available is at a low ebb, and rubber sponges are no longer being made. However, there is a new cellulose sponge which is filling home front needs as well as military.

Certain canned chicken products will take a few cents more than previously from the family budget because of a new OPA regulation. The increase takes into consideration added ingredient costs since the establishment of price control on the basis of March, 1942 prices. Thus, canned chicken a la king, canned chicken and noodle dinner, and canned homestyle chicken no longer will cost the highest price charged by the individual dealer in March. These productions are under a new regulation which will mean an increase of from two to three cents per jar of 12 to 16 ounces of both canned chicken a la king and canned chicken and noodle dinner. A large 28 to 30 ounce jar of canned homestyle chicken will cost about 11 cents more than previously, but there is more chicken in this product now.

Mrs. America's family will continue to find a wide choice of price, type and quality of shoes just as prior to rationing, thanks to the War Production Board. The WPB has required manufacturers to follow similar price ranges and lines as in the last six months. This is aimed to prohibit any emphasis on high priced lines. And at the same time Mrs. America can look forward to outfitting the family for Easter at approximately the same cost of last year. The Office of Price Administration gave this guarantee in issuing pricing rules for retailers and wholesalers of dresses, suits, coats, skirts and blouses to use for spring and summer merchandise.

Here's news for coffee drinking families. This rationed beverage may be obtained with War Ration Book One belonging to anyone whose age was 14 or over at the time the book was issued. Formerly the age restriction under coffee rationing was 15 years or older. Incidentally coffee stamp number 25 which will be valid through March 21 is good for one pound of coffee.

The United States, during the quarter ended Sept. 30, 1940, imported 36,740 tons of flaxseed.

WORK OR FIGHT BILL READED FOR ACTION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26 (AP)—The house rules committee cleared the way for action next week on a bill to curb absenteeism through "work or fight" legislation.

In the form of a rider to a minor naval personnel bill, the measure would require all navy yards to turn over to local selective service boards every three months the names of all employees who have been absent from work without justification. The boards then determine whether such workers should be further deferred from the draft. Urging support for the legislation, Rep. Lyndon Johnston (D-Tex.) asserted that absenteeism sank 42 Liberty ships in December alone.

Strike Measure Coming
"I mean by that," he explained, "the man hours lost through absenteeism would have produced that many ships."

"The German subs couldn't get but 31 in that month," he said.

Johnson told the rules committee he had introduced another measure which would apply the same provision to all workers, and Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the house naval committee, in response to questions, said the committee was planning to bring in "before summer" a bill dealing with "strikes and such things."

The best ride he ever had is this one taken by Brig. Gen. N. F. Twining, right, on the shoulders of a crewman of the PBV flying boat, back-ground, which rescued the general and 14 others after they had been forced down in the Coral Sea recently and spent six days and five nights adrift in life rafts.
