

GLIDER BOYS AND THEIR JEEPS TRAIN FOR SILENT ATTACK

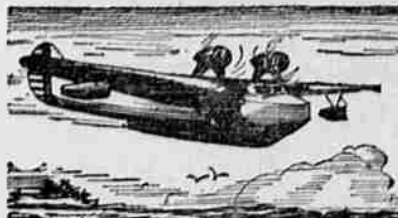

Up into the blue go our silent birdmen—the glider boys of the U. S. Army—and they take their jeeps along. At top, twin-motored tow plane pulls its glider into the air. Craft's nose opens up, left, to permit passage of jeep. Even though they're training at Victorville, Calif., the glider students, right, wear heavy clothes for flights in the cold winter sky.

Andrews the Flying General

Entered air force from artillery during World War I. Set amphibian records, higher standards.

1939: Chief of general staff training division. Planned paratroops, tank and air corps.

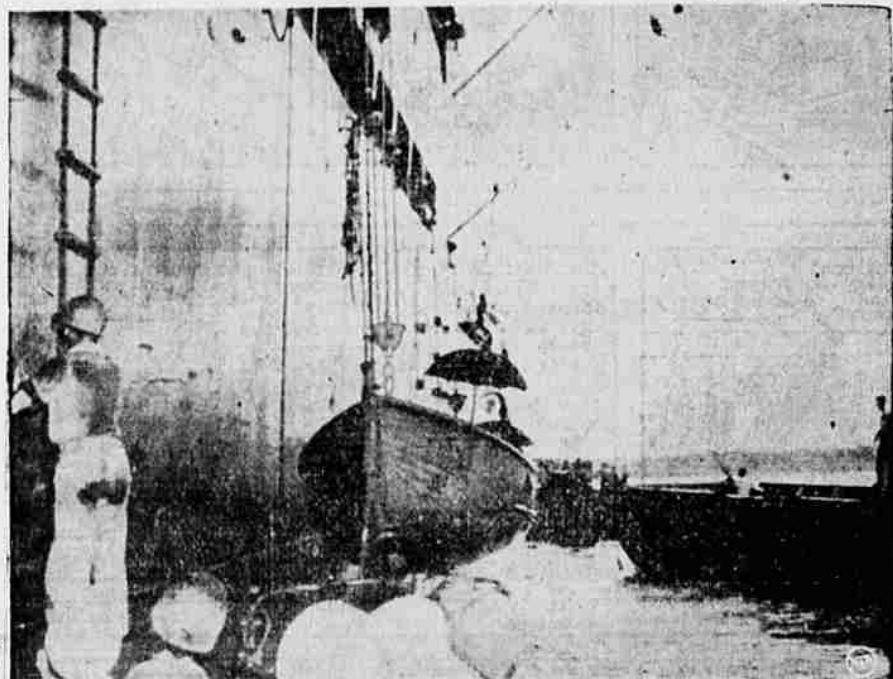

1942: Middle east U. S. commander, directed bombers that helped chase Rommel out of Libya.

1943: Succeeded Eisenhower as COMETH-commander of U. S. forces in European theater of war.

Silver-haired, six-foot Lieut.-Gen. Frank M. Andrews, once dubbed the "handsomest man in the War Department," stands ready to lead the troops and airmen of America in the great invasion of Europe, Tennessee-born and 59, Andrews is a modern flying general, knows the value of co-ordinating air and ground efforts. As chief of the GHQ air force in 1934 he kept so busy flying he required an office in the skies. When the world went to war, he went to the Caribbean to prime our defenses there, later aided Montgomery in Egypt and Libya. Now he's ready to put into heroic action the paratroops, tanks, bombers, fighters whose organization he helped to build.

$3,000,000 Fire Strikes Oakland Milling Company

In a six-alarm blaze which taxed all available fire-fighting equipment, including Coast Guard fireboats, fire of undetermined origin destroyed a 700-foot-long warehouse of the Oakland, Calif., Albers Milling Co. Shown here, firemen struggle against the flames, which threatened two large fuel tanks and a 10-story grain elevator.

Our Home Town

Let's Get Religion

By EARL WHITLOCK

A child, when everything is going all right with him, is a self-important morose, rebellious against authority, intent only on his own pleasure. But when he stumbles and the bad old pavement comes up and smacks him, he comes running home for consolation and help. We are like that. When money is plentiful and the going is smooth we are, most of us, not so very religious. But in times like these, when fear and trouble and uncertainty and war come, we want to turn to the Infinite Ruler for renewed strength.

You'll find the men in the armed forces have this feeling, too. That saying, "There are no atheists in the fox holes" is true. The boys are coming home much more religious-minded than they went away. Not that distinctions in creed will seem important to them. The buddy who saves the Protestant's life may be a Catholic or a Jew or even a Mohammedan. But to that saved boy he's an all right guy and his religion will do in the pinches, whatever it is called.

Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdyck has said, quite pointedly, I think, that "if we could get religion like a Baptist, experience it like a Methodist, be positive about it like a Disciple, be proud of it like an Episcopalian, propagate it like an Adventist, pay for it like a Presbyterian and enjoy it like a Negro—we would have some religion!"

Maybe we better try to accumulate some of that kind—for the benefit of the boys when they come marching home.

Next Monday Mr. Whitlock of the Earl Whitlock Funeral Home will comment on This Is Red Cross Month.

MAYOR PROCLAIMS RED CROSS MONTH

Mayor John Houston issued a proclamation Monday urging the people of Klamath Falls to contribute to the Red Cross war fund and if possible to increase their donations this year in order to enable the organization to meet whatever demands will be made upon it.

The proclamation follows: WHEREAS the men of our armed forces are fighting and dying on the battlefronts of the world—from the death filled jungles of New Guinea to the blistering sands of Africa—on the sea and in the air; and WHEREAS the success of our forces in preserving a world where men and women may be free, depends on the support and inspiration they get from we people back home; and

WHEREAS it is the privilege and duty of every man and woman and child to serve the cause of humanity to as great extent as possible; and

WHEREAS it is the aim of peace-loving people of our nation to contribute in sweat and toil and sacrifice, to the support of those men who are risking and giving their lives for us; and

WHEREAS at the same time, our home front must be prepared to cope not only with possible attack on our shores, but with natural disasters such as earthquake, flood, hurricane, tornado, drought, fire, explosion or epidemic; and

WHEREAS the American Red Cross is equipped and ready to carry on in our own, and every community such indispensable programs as public health nursing, home nursing, first aid, water safety and accident prevention, and through the Junior Red Cross in the schools, to act as the medium for service by our young people; besides rendering untold aid to our armed forces;

THEREFORE, I, John H. Houston, Mayor of the City of Klamath Falls, in accord with the President of the United States who has proclaimed March as Red Cross month, do call on all public spirited people of this community to support the Red Cross war fund. I urge every man and woman, boy and girl to give their support, by contributing through our local chapter to the Red Cross war fund; and I further proclaim that it is the sense of all of us who are residents of Klamath county that our gifts must be larger than ever this year, in order to enable this great national organization of ours to meet whatever demands are made upon it.

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP) The supreme court declared unconstitutional today ordinances passed by two municipalities regulating the distribution of literature.

City Laws Against Literature Illegal Says Supreme Court

A Dallas, Tex., ordinance prohibiting the distribution upon the streets of handbills containing advertising matter was held to infringe "freedom of press and of religion."

In another decision, the tribunal termed "administrative censorship in an extreme form" a Paris, Tex., ordinance prohibiting the solicitation, without a permit from the mayor, of orders for books within the residence district of the municipality.

Hot Grease Causes Month's First Fire

First fire alarms of the month were received this weekend, the truck being called out Saturday at 6:49 p. m. when the pilot light of a gas stove ignited grease at the Mary Ann drive-in, 121 West Main street. The place is owned by Ona Wallace. Little damage was reported.

An overheated oil stove at the J. L. Egan residence, 132 Martin street, brought the department out at 6:36 a. m. Monday. There was little damage, firemen reported.

Karrer, Smith on War Prisoner List

Names of two Klamath men, previously reported missing, have been included in the list of 334 American soldiers held prisoners of war by the Japanese in the Philippine Islands. Pvt. Roy N. Karrer, son of Ralph W. Karrer, 345 Nevada street, lumber grader, and PFC Albert E. Smith, son of Jerome Smith of Bonanza, were the names given.

Erwin Wissenback Cables Parents "Safe and Well"

Two days after Mr. and Mrs. James Wissenback of Shady Pine received a letter from their son Tech, Sgt. Erwin Wissenback, 22, postdated February, Madrid, Spain, they were overjoyed to get a cable from the young flyer and he has, without doubt, reached his outfit in England.

Erwin was shot down in an American bomber raid over Lille, France, October 9, 1942. First word from the boy came in a cable advising his parents he was well and safe, February 19. Just what happened between the time the bomber was lost, and Erwin reached his organization in England, may remain a mystery until after the war.

The letter from Madrid is given as follows: possible for me to write to you for quite some time. I am now in Madrid and in very good health. Hoping to be back with my organization soon. This is to let you know that I am safe, so do not worry about me. The people here treat me swell. Love, Erwin.

The Wissenbacks are able to communicate with their son, Darwin, Erwin's twin, who was shot down December 20, in a raid over occupied France. He is now in a prison camp for airmen in Stalag, Germany. Through the government the parents are able to send food and clothing.

MANY VISIT BOYS' CLUB OPEN HOUSE

More than 500 persons attended "Open House" Saturday at the new quarters of the Klamath Falls boys' club in the Salvation Army building, Fourth street and Klamath avenue. Visitors came throughout Saturday afternoon and evening.

In the evening, a brief program was held. Participating were Mayor Houston and other city officials, Dr. M. C. Cassel of the recreation committee, and Major W. C. Currie and other Salvation Army officials. The boys' chorus under direction of Miss Lillie Darby sang. The spacious club rooms occupy a part of the main floor and the basement of the army building. They are operated by the city recreation department, with the army cooperating.

North Bend Yard Launches Two Ships

NORTH BEND, March 8 (AP) Two ships were launched here last weekend. Hillstrom brothers sent a salvage hospital ship down the ways for the army, and Kruse and Banks launched their seventh minesweeper. It's "Good-o" in Australia instead of the British "Right-o."

OPA Lumbermen to Discuss Ceilings

WASHINGTON, March 8 (AP) Peter A. Stone and A. S. Fathman of the lumber division of the office of price administration, will meet Pacific coast lumbermen in Portland, Ore., March 15, 16 and 17 to discuss the practicability of modifying price ceilings on lumber.

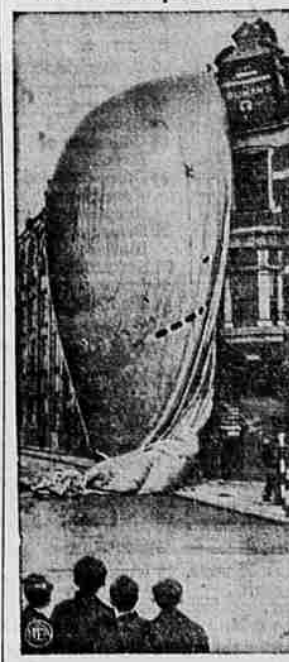

Senator McNary (R-Ore.), who announced the plan, said he asked these officials to consider a number of matters which Col. W. B. Greeley, manager of the West Coast Lumbermen's association, had represented as justification for a price increase.

Joe E. Brown Now Grandfather of Girl

HOLLYWOOD, March 8 (AP) Joe E. Brown is a grandfather. A daughter, Cynthia Lee, was born yesterday to Mrs. Virginia Newport, Brown, wife of the comedian's son, Corp. Joe L. Brown of the army ferrying command at Long Beach, Calif. The actor is entertaining service men on a tour of South Pacific bases. His other son, Capt. Don Brown, was killed when an army bomber crashed near Palm Springs last October 9.
