

MALIN JOINS KLAMATH IN CIVIC BANQUET

Malin and Klamath Falls joined hands, figuratively, in an informal banquet and get-together of their civic workers held at the Pelican cafe party room Wednesday night.

The affair brought together the directors and committee chairmen of the Malin chamber of commerce and the Klamath county chamber of commerce.

Mitchell Tillotson, president of the Klamath chamber, presided, and called on the visitors and some of the local men for informal talks.

Mayor A. Kalina of Malin told how Malin in 1909, was colonized by a group of Bohemians, who foresaw a prosperous development for their community and named it after a town in Czechoslovakia where "just about everything" could be grown.

The mayor said that farmers living in the neighborhood told the newcomers they couldn't even grow rye because it would freeze out. But the colonists were not discouraged, they went to work with a will, they built the barns before they built the houses, and today they have fertile farms where "just about everything" can be grown.

Others who spoke for Malin were President Ted DeMerritt, Secretary Irving Capek, Dick Heizer and Ed Stastny, all officers of the Malin chamber.

Ed Geary and Jim Kerns of the Klamath chamber participated in the speaking program. Fred Southwell led group singing, with Al Woodruff at the piano.

ORGANIZED LABOR BOOMS BOND SALE

Organized labor, booming an active war savings drive for March, on Thursday distributed poster material throughout Klamath county to business firms.

Business men were asked by the county war savings committee to display this material to the best advantage in store windows, stores, and elsewhere, to help put across the campaign.

Poster material was mailed out to communities outside Klamath Falls, and was delivered in person to local businesses.

Many colorful and effective displays can be arranged with this material, the labor leaders pointed out.

Bing Crosby Slips, Run Over by Auto

HOLLYWOOD, March 11 (AP) — Hurling to catch the last Los Angeles-bound train from Phoenix, Ariz., last night, Crooner Bing Crosby leaped from an auto, slipped and fell and one wheel passed over his left leg.

But Bing made the train, even if his companions, Johnny Burke and Jim Van Heusen, had to carry him on, and his personal physician, Dr. Arnold Stevens met him in Los Angeles this morning and arranged for X-rays late this afternoon.

New post war autos may run smoother and have quiet engines—but there'll still be a lot of noise in the back seat.

Day of Prayer Observed By Church Women's Council

Joining with Christian women all over the world, the Klamath Falls Council of Church Women is observing the day with a service, Friday, March 12, from 10 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon and 1 to 3 p. m., in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Eighth and Jefferson streets. The council invites every woman in Klamath Falls to attend this service whenever she can during the hours of the service. At the noon hour the women are invited to bring their own "sack lunches" for luncheon together in the parish hall. The women of St. Paul's will furnish coffee and tea.

Nationally the World Day of Prayer committee functions under the new "United Council of

News of the Commandos

A tired, but happy group of Commandos returned Sunday evening from a very eventful weekend visit at Camp White. As guests of service club number 1, under the supervision of hostess, Mrs. Hopkins, we attended a gala dance given at the club. During the course of the evening a floor show was presented in which we took part with several songs and our military drill.

At midnight, when the dance was over, we were taken to the nurses' barracks for the night. Most of the rooms were semi-private, accommodating two girls. This was quite an experience for all—sleeping on an army cot and "rolling out" for breakfast at 7:30 a. m.

At 9 o'clock we attended church services at one of the chapels. During the service we were asked to join in singing hymns, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

After the services, we were taken on a tour of part of the camp. The hospital unit proved most interesting. We saw the latest equipment used throughout the kitchen—electric dishwashers, potato peelers and numerous other articles. The sanitation system is very remarkable.

In case of fire there are automatic doors which close off the rest of the hospital. These are made of asbestos and are thoroughly dependable.

This trip was one certainly to be remembered by all the girls.

HATS OFF. . . This week we would like to mention a note of appreciation to a swell pal of ours, Lynn Roycroft, who, in every emergency is always "Johnny on the spot." Being our MC during bond sales, dances, especially at Christmas—he aided us greatly in placing our soldier guests in the Klamath homes. Quite often he drops by the center for a friendly chat, and on Monday nights overseeing the weekly general clean-up, to which we all look forward.

So to you, Lynn, our hats are off. . .

J. A. SOUTHER NEW HEAD OF PELICAN VFW

James A. Souther is the new commander of Pelican post 1383, Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was elected at a regular post meeting this week.

Other new officers are: Senior vice commander, Walter L. Thompson; junior vice commander, Frank Sobczak; post advocate, J. H. Carnahan; quartermaster, J. N. Brochtrup; chaplain, Edbert V. Zell; surgeon, Drummond Lavin, and trustees, Herman E. Rous and W. E. Brightman. Appointments to various other offices are expected to be made in the near future by Commander-Elect Souther.

Joint installation of post and auxiliary officers will take place April 15. Past Department Commander Ira Canfield of Medford is expected to act as installing officer for the post.

Plans have been completed for the St. Patrick's dance to be sponsored by the post, Wednesday, March 17 at the armory.

An Australian trapdoor spider lives on the ground in the dry season, but climbs a tree and makes a hole in the bark as a home in the wet season.

Speakers and other leaders in the service will be Mrs. Paul Edwards, Mrs. Kenneth Lambie, Mrs. S. D. Earhart, Mrs. L. Benson, Mrs. Sarah Aubrey, Mrs. C. M. Tims, Mrs. Robert J. Hallett, Mrs. J. F. King, Mrs. A. H. Denison, Mrs. John Yaden, Mrs. D. B. Anderson and others. Special guest speakers will be Harlett Yarrow, formerly a teacher in a girls' school in Turkey, and Maryette Lum, who taught music in schools in China.

The offerings from the World Day of Prayer services go to maintain and continue four pieces of interdenominational work, Christian literature, Indian students in U. S. government school, migrants and Union Christian colleges, this all being sponsored by the United Council of Church Women in the United States.

Lebanon Civilian Defense Workers Get Air Raid Test

LEBANON, March 11 (AP)—Well anyway Lebanon got a good air raid test drill out of it. Four army bombers flew low over the city last night just as the fire alarm sounded. This added up to an air raid to 70 civilian defense workers who reached control and warden posts in record time to learn later it was all a coincidence.

ALTAMONT The Altamont elementary PTA met in the school gymnasium on Tuesday afternoon, March 9. The meeting was opened by the flag salute led by Jim Webb. The following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Cecil Barkdoll; vice president, Mrs. Ralph; secretary, Mrs. Ernest Stiles, and treasurer, Mrs. Lucille Davison.

A tap dance by Peggy Rafson was followed by a clever health skit performed by several girls from the Altamont Junior high. The playlet, "First Aid," was written by Margaret Larson and evoked much laughter.

The members of the PTA voted to extend their home gardens in order to raise enough vegetables for the school cafeteria next year. The school will purchase the vegetables that can be stored. The PTA group also discussed ways of preserving the perishables such as peas and beans and it was decided to confer with Mrs. Winifred Gillen in regard to this matter.

A round table discussion concluded the program, "Child Problems of An Only Child," led by Mrs. Willard Preston.

Tea was served by a group of first grade mothers in the cafeteria.

GOVERNMENT TAKES COLUMBIA LAND

SPOKANE, Wash., March 11 (AP)—The federal government has been authorized to take over 193,833 acres of land along the Columbia river in south central Washington for "military, naval or other war purposes," in an order issued February 23 by Eastern Washington District Federal Judge Lewis B. Schwelbentach, it was disclosed today.

The Chronicle received authority from the office of censorship to release the information.

The justice department instituted the condemnation suit which preceded the order and the nature of the military development was not disclosed.

The Chronicle estimated 2000 people live on the land affected by the court order and said "most of the families" were notified to be prepared to evacuate the lands in 30 days.

Right after March 15 we'll all be recovering from a headache that was caused by intoxication.
