JENKINS TALKS FOR TULELAKE ROTARY CLUB

TULELAKE— Publisher Frank Jenkins of the Klamath Herald and News, guest speaker for the Rotary club, Wednesday emphasized the need for strong support of the Red Cross during the present world crisis, and urged the people of the Klamath basin to give "until it hurts." Not a dollar or two, but all that the individual can possibly spare. Generous giving is what keeps up the morale of the fighting men and those at home as well.

Jenkins, who pledged that a place would be made up on their return for all his former employees on the newspaper force, who are now in the service, stated that it was the duty of every employer to make a place for his men regardless of physical handicaps.

Mr. Jenkins was introduced by Floyd A. Boyd, program chairman.

R. M. Prior, Dick Moore and Otis Roper were appointed by President P. C. Bergman to act with Clark W. Fensler and himself as a nominating committee for new officers to be elected in the near future.

The club voted to donate $35 to the Red Cross for the present war fund drive.

Rev. Hugh L. Bronson led the community singing with Jerry Gresham at the piano. Miss Gresham also played the "Seabees Song" sent back to Tulelake by Rance Stover, who enlisted some time ago. Patty Gentry played two accordion numbers during the luncheon hour.

B. R. Fausett was accepted for membership; the charge of Rotary and his badge and card was presented by Earl Ager, his sponsor.

Tulelake

TULELAKE—The Junior Red Cross of the Tulelake elementary school has done more than its "bit" toward the war effort. Under the direction of their leader, Mrs. Aileen Heberle, the students have collected 175 books for the Victory book campaign, quantities of used clothing, and sacks of nylon and silk hose.

Interest in the work never lags, school officials report.

Merrill

Help is needed for Red Cross garments, according to Mrs. Ann Fruits, and a number of night garments for women, are cut and ready to sew. Material may be had at the Fruits' home.

Randall Pope, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Leland Pope, Lawson and Ivan Kandra, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kandra and Billy Falvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Falvey, all students at Oregon State, are spending the spring vacation here and all expect to be called to the service about June 1. Falvey and Pope will go into the navy and the two Kandra in the army.

Fannette Hodges, student at the Southern Oregon College of Education, is here for the spring vacation, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George O'field.

A call is sent out to all members of the Lost River Garden club, to meet Tuesday afternoon, March 23, at the home of Mrs. Lewis Kandra, president, to vote on continuance or disbanding of the club for the duration.

If the club votes to disband, one meeting might be held during the summer. Clubs at Malin and Tulelake have already decided to forego meetings until after the war.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Steele returned recently from Twin Falls, Ida., their former home, bringing with them Mrs. Steele's sister, Mrs. Emma F. Anderson of that city, who will visit here briefly before going to Oakland for a visit with her son, Dr. Charles W. Anderson and his family. Later she will return to the Steele home for an indefinite stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Creed Green are planning on leaving as soon as they dispose of their cows and separator.

With all the creakings of a machinery that had to be rapidly devised, the production record of this government has been unparallelled. We have planning yet to be done that will put first things first, and I mean by first things anything that will shorten the duration.— WPB member William Y. Elliott.

FRISCO BEER STRIKE GETS LABOR HEARING

SAN FRANCISCO, March 19 (AP)—San Francisco's beer strike was in the hands of a department of labor conciliator today.

Omar Hoskins, regional federal conciliator, submitted the closed shop dispute last night to Dr. John R. Steelman, chief of the labor department's conciliation service, and said final decision would come from Washington.

Meantime, stocks of beer ran low in San Francisco taverns and it was estimated the supply would be virtually depleted by the coming weekend unless deliveries are resumed.

The strike of 1800 to 2500 brewery workers was called by the Non-Affiliated Brewery Truck Drivers in an effort to enforce their demands for a closed shop. The employers countered that the dispute was only an extension of a long-standing jurisdictional dispute with the AFL Teamsters' union.

Explosion Damaged Health Center to Be Rebuilt Soon

The dismantling job was done by a strong wind.

OPA Answers Questions on Forthcoming Meat, Butter, Cheese Ration Program

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—The office of price administration today issued the following series of questions and answers on meat rationing, which starts March 29:

Q. When may I start using my red ration stamps in war book two?

A. Red stamps marked "A" in war ration book two will be valid beginning Monday, March 29. These stamps will be used to ration meats and cheese, butter, margarine, shortening and other fats and oils, as well as canned fish.

Q. Will some red stamps in war book two be set aside for buying meats exclusively?

A. No. All valid red stamps may be used interchangeably to buy any foods on the new ration list.

Q. May I use all my valid red stamps to buy only meat?

A. Yes. You may use all your red stamps to buy only meat if you don't intend to buy cheese, butter—or any other food, for which you will need the red ration stamps.

Q. How long will the red "A" stamps be valid?

A. The red stamps marked "A" which will be valid beginning March 29 will be good throughout April.

Q. When may I start using additional red ration stamps?

A. Red stamps marked "B" will be valid beginning April 4; stamps marked "C" beginning April 11, stamps marked "D" on April 18; and stamps marked "E" beginning April 25. Stamps A through D may be used until the end of April. The expiration date of stamp E will be announced later.

Q. How will I know how many points I shall need for a pound of butter and a half pound of cheese?

A. The point price of all foods to be rationed with red stamps will be listed on an official table of point values similar to the one now used for processed foods. At least one such table will be posted in each store which sells any of the rationed foods listed.

Q. Will point prices of meat as well as cheese and butter be posted on the same list?

A. Yes. All the foods rationed with the red stamps in war ration book two will be included on one list.

Q. Will the point value per pound of all meats be the same?

A. No. The point value per pound of meat will vary according to the cut, just as the point value of cans of processed foods now differ, according to the products they contain.

Q. Will the point value of the same cut of meat be the same in all stores?

A. Yes. The point value of the same cut of meat will be uniform throughout the United States, just as the point value of the same amount of any one rationed processed food is the same now.

Q. Will the point value of meat or cheese or butter differ according to quality or grade?

A. No. The point value of meat will depend only on the cut. All hard cheeses will have the same point value. The point value of butter will be the same regardless of quality or grade.

Q. May I buy meats, cheese, and butter without ration stamps until March 29?

A. Yes. You may now buy any foods not already rationed or "frozen" without ration stamps.

Q. Which of the foods will be rationed with red stamps that are now "frozen" at retail?

A. All canned meats, canned fish, and canned shellfish, whose sale have been frozen since February 18, will continue to be withheld from retail sale until rationing begins.

Q. Will any additional foods be frozen before rationing begins?

A. That depends on the extent of retail buying during the next two weeks. If consumers do not buy excessively, retail sales will continue as usual until rationing begins. In no event will sales of fresh meat be frozen.

Q. Will chicken be rationed?

A. No. Poultry and game are not included in the ration program.

Q. Will fresh fish be rationed?

No. Only fish and fish products and shellfish in hermetically sealed containers of glass or tin will be rationed.

Q. Will cream cheese and cottage cheese be rationed?

A. No. Soft and perishable cheese will not be rationed, nor will cheese spreads containing less than 30 per cent by weight of rationed cheese.

Q. Will salad oils be rationed?

A. Yes. All salad oils, except unblended olive oil, will be rationed, but prepared salad dressing and mayonnaise are not included in the ration program.

While the matter was not covered in the official question and answer list, the OPA has announced that farmers selling butter and meat are supposed to collect ration coupons from the purchasers.

Q. Will the point value of meat or cheese or butter differ according to quality or grade?

A. No. The point value of meat will depend only on the cut. All hard cheeses will have the same point value. The point value of butter will be the same regardless of quality or grade.

BLACK MARKET SEEN IN SEED POTATOES

WASHINGTON, March 19 (AP)—The office of price administration, aiming at a black market in white seed potatoes, prohibited their sale unless sellers establish that they are to be used for planting purposes.

In the same action, OPA established price maximums for certified white seed potatoes sold by country shippers.

Prices must not exceed the seller's highest price between February 15 and March 1, 1943, and it is further provided that prices for these seed potatoes must not exceed by more than 75 cents a bushel, table stock prices.

As a result of efforts to locate and develop tungsten mines in this country, United States, which imported most of its tungsten before the war, will have only a 10 per cent shortage this year.
