

Christian Church Scene of Wedding

Attractive Klamath Maid Is Bride in Ceremony Read March the Fourteenth Here

On Sunday noon, March the fourteenth, E. Gail Clapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clapp of this city, became the bride of Leo Woodruff of Eugene. The wedding was held in the First Christian church with Rev. Arthur Bates reading the double ring ceremony.

Masses of palms and tall bouquets of white stock, calla lilies and yellow daffodils were banked around the altar. Proceeding the service Ethel Perkins of Eugene sang "Because" and Mrs. Hayden played Mendelssohn's wedding march at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin with long sleeves and a train. Around the V neck and the wrists were inserts of lace, and her fingertip length veil fell from a cap of net and orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible and single white orchid caught by long white ribbons.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Jack Fleming, was the matron of honor and wore a floor-length frock of yellow silk marquisette with sweetheart neckline, short puffed sleeves and a full skirt, and carried an arm bouquet of salmon pink carnations. The bridesmaid, Geraldine Knuth, wore light blue silk marquisette made in a style similar to the dress of the matron of honor, but with insertions of matching lace around the full skirt. Her bouquet was of pale pink carnations.

The bride's mother wore a navy ensemble with print dress and navy hat. Her corsage was of sweetpeas and pink rosebuds. Mrs. Bert Woodruff, mother of the groom, wore a navy blue pin-striped suit with a white blouse, a hat of medium rust, and corsage of pink rosebuds and sweetpeas.

The best man was Harlan Woodruff, brother of the groom, and the ushers were Stanley Glick and Dean Stephens.

At the close of the ceremony Mrs. Hayden played the recessional. The reception was held in the parlors of the church to which about seventy-five guests were invited. Mrs. Stanley Glick and Mrs. C. N. Robertson poured, the table centered with sweetpeas and rosebuds. Mrs. Arthur Bates served the bride's cake.

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Woodruff of Eugene, his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Woodruff, also of Eugene; Mrs. A. V. Hood and William R. Clapp, of Portland, sister and father of Ralph Clapp, and Miss Ethel Perkins of Eugene.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff will spend their honeymoon at Cress-dell lodge near Lake Odell, and will be at home after March the twentieth at 943 Alder street, Eugene, where Mr. Woodruff is attending the Northwestern Christian college as a student of theology. He will be graduated this spring.

Following the marriage of their daughter Gail, on Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clapp entertained at dinner for the bride and groom and the out-of-town guests. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Leo Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Woodruff, Ethel Perkins, Mrs. A. V. Hood, William R. Clapp, Mrs. Jack Fleming and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clapp.

Altamont Troop Busy

Girl Scouts Make Booklets for Red Cross Chapter

Crater Lake Troop No. 9? Girl Scouts, have had a very busy and interesting year. There are thirty girls in the troop and they meet each Thursday at Altamont Junior high school. Only sixth grade girls belong to this troop.

Tenderfoot girls work under the leadership of Mrs. Vida Hanson and are now completing the required work that will give them second class rank. They are making individual scrap books in which they will record their year's accomplishments. They have made booklets containing stories for the Red Cross. A study will be made of the history of the U. S. flag and flag etiquette and it will keep this group of girls busy if they complete the work outlined for the year.

The more advanced girls are working on first class badges under the leadership of Mrs. Emma Carter. Along with their badge work they are helping in the war effort by working on projects for the Red Cross.

Early in the year the girls sold cookies and Christmas cards to raise money for themselves and the county council. They have contributed to national headquarters toward a fund for war orphans and are planning to give pennies to the amount of the years they are of age for the Juliette Low fund.

Troop No. 9 took part in the birthday week program at the Fremont school by presenting a skit. Nadine Guyer, who took the part of Uncle Sam, did especially well. They were well represented at "Scouts' Own" at the Willard hotel. Several activities are planned for the near future.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars have sponsored the Crater Lake troop for two years. This organization makes it possible for the leaders to present the awards earned by the girls without charge to the Scouts.
