Today's Roundup BY MALCOLM EPLEY

FRONT-PAGE story in the Salem Capital-Journal for Saturday predicts the appointment of State Senator Marshall Cornett to the state highway commission.

commission appointment if he wants it, and he would be an able commissioner; but the evidences are that he intends to run again for the senate next year. He has a good chance of being president of the senate in 1945 if re-elected. The Salem story relates that the appointment seems likely to come to Klamath county, which, according to all the evidences, is true. The name of Arthur Schaupp, local attorney and former state legislator, has been mentioned prominently recently in connection with the position.

As we have said before, Klamath deserves this appointment and it is good news the governor intends to make it for a Klamath man. We hope there will be an announcement soon.

Eating Out and Rationing

WHEN restaurant owners gathered with OPA officials Saturday to talk over the effects of rationing on their business, a vast majority of the restaurant people indicated their intention of staying in business. Out of 32, four indicated they planned to retire from business and two were undecided.

Inasmuch as "eating out" is common practice in this community, and restaurants perform a vital public service, the effect of rationing on the restaurants is of considerable public interest. The OPA regulations are probably flexible enough, and sufficiently subject to adjustment, that most of the eating houses can keep going.

That does not mean they do not face prob-lems. For instance, there is the matter of coffee. An OPA official tells us that the restaurants have been definitely and drastically cut on coffee, and when a customer is told that he can't have all the coffee he wants, it is true.

Reason for Delay

THERE are several Klamath county connections with the Folkes train murder case in Linn county.

This case was brought to Klamath Falls by train after the murder of the navy ensign's bride on a southbound S. P. train in Linn county in January. It was taken back to Linn county, scene of the crime, but District Attorney L. Orth Sisemore is helping the Linn county d. a. in prosecution of Robert Folkes, the negro cook accused of the murder.

Judge Llewellyn, of Linn county, who will preside in the Folkes trial, was assigned by the supreme court to the case of the State versus Klamath county's clerk, Mae K. Short, in connection with charges of overtime payments to Mrs. Short. Because of the Folkes case, Judge Llewellyn has been unable to come to Klamath county to handle court progress in connection with the Short case, and for that reason the latter affair is still hanging fire.

Incidentally, some of the "detective" magazines have already carried stories on the Folkes case. One of these we have read, and were surprised that it stayed somewhere close to the truth throughout, in contrast to other stories we have read on crimes with which we haphe familiar. Perhaps the reason that the Folkes case had all the sensation anyone could ask, without the necessity of inserting fiction.

Member of Aunt

nomic planning his board of economic warfare has been doing for post war. The challengers in the senate finance committee decided the senate should establish a committee of its own to work on economic post-war prob-lems. At their instigation, Senator George wrote a resolution calling for such an in-MALLON quiry and it was passed by the senate.

The understanding inside the committee was that George was to submit to Wallace the names of men he wanted appointed by the vice president on the committee. Unless the identity of the committeemen was satisfactory to the challengers, they did not intend to go shead with the investigation, and, by "satisfactory," they meant men who held their own post-war views.

But George failed to confact Wallace and the vice president appointed a top-heavy New Deal committee of his own crowd. The democrats he chose were Barkley, Hayden, O'Mahoney, Lucas and Pepper, with George as chairman.

This took the starch out of the whole affair. George is going ahead organizing a staff and intends to collect information on the subject mainly from other senate committees. But any hope that a real economic plan, competitive to Wallace's, might come out of the investigation has been lost.

The seeds of post-war controversy are so imbedded in congress that it is beginning to appear almost impossible to develop an agreeable plan either on the economic or the political nature of the future world. Feeling runs so deeply on both sides that a great national political strife in which the matter will be fought out bitterly seems unavoidable.

When Senator Ball was working around the senate preparing the draft of his international police force resolution, the impossibility of find-ing a common ground became evident. Even on his own side of the fence, he found so much variance in opinions, the resolution had to be changed constantly, and, in the end, no one seemed to agree with all of it.

But on the other side, hard and powerful antagonism was developed immediately. The socalled isolationists said flatly in the cloakrooms and to newspapermen, off the record, that the resolution would "stir up the League of Nations fight all over again."

What may become the most historic political struggle in all history seems developing in evitably.

Japanese Air Power

'ARTHUR'S Air General Kenny brought to м Washington the astounding suggestions that the Japs have more planes than we have in the south Pacific war theater.

Our successes there have been accomplished only because we have superior pilots, better planes, and better tactics. But if the Japs secure reinforcements, they may be able to cause us some trouble.

MacArthur naturally would like to take offensive action, but his General Kenny ran into some difficulties in his mission here. Simul-taneously, a demand came from the British for taneously, a demand came from the British for more bombers needed to expand the attacks on the continent. These will be furnished.

Telling The Editor

REPLIES TO TABER KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., (To the Editor)-In reply to Mr. W. P. Taber of March 15 who says he is a politician, but after reading his letter. I am con-vinced that as a statesman he may be able to fill the position of page boy up at Salem—but 1 doubt it very, very much, as a page boy must be up on his toes at all times and know what he is talking about!

As for the first part of his letter, I am going to pass that up, as Mr. Hitler is spending a lot of money to have that sort of propaganda spread throughout this country for the purpose of creating distrust and misunderstanding among our people. However, as a union man I must comment on the latter part of that letter. In the first place, Mr. Taber, who or what is your authority on the percentage of union must on the percentage of union men and women in the United States? We are a nation of about 130,000,000 people. 31. 000,000 are on the farms of the nation, 20,000,000 are business and professional people, and 112 any percent are in different institutions of the states and govern-ment. So what you have left dier at Camp White about our are people who are classed as dogs, that he is fighting for dustries in the nation today that are not union. Therefore, I say boys starve because of dogs. your figure of 12 per cent is to answer. I have lived in Klamath Falls since April 1, 1925, have raised and educated my two sons here in the public schools and gave them two years in college. Note on the barbers' minimum price bill, passed by the legislature: A local man tells us that he talked to a score or more legislators in Salem, who said they didn't believe in that bill but were going to vote for it. Wildlife Note

THE state liquor board starts national wild-life week by rationing liquor to one quart a week. Is that cooperative?

Bend already has an ordinance calling for tleing up dogs from now to June 30, and the people of the town voted the ordinance. It was done to protect birds nesting along the Deschutes river bank in Bend, but this year the tie-up period may be extended to protect gardens as well as the birds. Bend Bulletin suggests, with good sense, that city authorities should not dilly-dally over the question, but should act so that dog-owners and gardeners alike would know what to expect.

A friend of ours has the right idea on rationing, He says: "I'm not hoarding anything, I figure if I starve on what they're going to let me have, so will 70,000,000 others."

We had lunch with a group on Monday, the first day of butter rationing. Butter was left on virtually every plate when the meal was over.

You may, therefore, look for constant ex pansion of the already unprecedented scope of air-raiding on the European front, but how much MacArthur will get is questionable.

Russian Front Balanced

HOPES for swift conclusion of the war have been dimmed somewhat by Hitler counter-attacks in Russia. The regained nazi ground is not particularly important, but the fact that he was able to muster about 300,000 troops for the drives is significant. At least a temporary balance was established on that front by the capture of Kharkov,

The absence of action in the south is due to mud caused by spring thaws. Up to now, the ground has been frozen in the Kharkov area, but thawing will start there in a few days.

The Russians, however, are making moves in the north, which should be carried on successfully in the next two weeks. Their drive to ward Smolensk has both momentum and power and action below Lake Ilmen is likely to relieve Leningrad.

But the situation on the front, as a whole, is not subject to decisive interpretations. The capturing and recapturing of various localities really only reflects the fact that both sides have substantial quantities of troops in reserve, and, by switching them from point to point can gain superiority at practically any place of President Gives Up their choosing.

Troops From France

THE story has been circulated that Hitler got most of his new troops for the Kharkov drive from France. It is true the number of nazi troops stationed in France has declined somewhat in the last six weeks,

But these were not shipped to the Russian front. The troops used at Kharkov came mainly from the Balkans and other sections of the Rus sian front.
