Camp Fire News

By FRANCES L. McMULLEN

With a three-front war of their own well on its way to victory, the 321,000 Camp Fire Girls in America will take time out to celebrate the thirty-first anniversary of the chartering of their organization during their March birthday month. Their annual birthday project, this year named "Serve by Saving," has turned into a battle against waste under high command of seven "Thrifty" generals operating on the home, salvage, and war bond fronts.

By this time most of the Camp Fire Girls have completed enough requirements in their "Serve by Saving" project to be acknowledged as "Thrifty Recruits" skilled in the saving of money for stamps and bonds, the conservation of clothes, food, home equipment, health, and the salvage of essential materials.

Aside from "Serve by Saving," Camp Fire girls will continue their service for the victory of the United States and Nations. In the past year they have collected tons of scrap, made candy and cookies for the USO, performed clerical and messenger services for the OCD, Red Cross, rationing boards and Anti-Tuberculosis leagues, sold war bonds and stamps, served as hospital, recreation, child-care and farm aides, rendered first aid, administered to cripples and under-privileged children, contributed to British, Chinese and Russian war relief, and solicited blood donations.

Added to these services, the girls knit, sew for the Needlework guild, make bandages and dressings, and practice baby care in order to free mothers for that volunteer war work which is handled only by adults.

At national headquarters in New York City, Martha F. Allen, national executive-elect states, "If we are to continue our service for victory to an even greater degree by including in our membership the thousands of girls in the United States who want to become Camp Fire Girls, we must have more leaders. Without leaders we are helpless to expand our program."

Miss Allen defines Camp Fire leadership as a civilian defense war time job in that "any woman who volunteers to lead twenty Camp Fire Girls multiplies her own war effort by twenty."

Mrs. John A. Kennedy, field secretary for the Camp Fire Girls of the Klamath district, points out the purpose of Camp Fire two-fold. She says, "Our program is designed to develop capable and responsible American citizens and to prepare girls for their future place as homemakers and mothers."

If at the close of the war we retreat into isolationism we'll have a third world war and the destruction of everything we believe in. As a part of this country's cooperation in the post-war period, I advocate the continuance of lend-lease during the period of reconstruction.—Clark M. Eichelberger of the Council of World Affairs.

New Point Values May Be Lower for Processed Foods

WASHINGTON, March 27 (AP)—Sunday morning newspapers will tell American housewives of new point values for processed fruits and vegetables, and the best guess is that coupon costs will be substantially lower.

OPA officials declined to cite specific figures but indicated numerous reductions, and a few increases, could be expected when the new table is made public.

Various kinds of cans, bottles and packages, especially of fruits and larger sizes of other products, apparently are due for reduced point values. Increases will be applied to items that are selling faster than they can be replaced on store shelves.

Trade sources and consumers alike have criticized many of the present point values as too high.

Telephone Calls Help Build the Ships

To war-busy places, please make only the Long Distance calls that are essential

Long Distance lines are carrying a huge volume of calls that deal with war work. With production of ships, planes, guns; with troop movements.

This daily volume of Long Distance telephoning is the greatest in telephone history. Due to shortages of materials, we cannot expand the network of telephone lines.

That is why we ask that only really necessary calls be made to war-busy centers.

You are aiding in keeping the lines open for vital calls. That speeds production. We appreciate your thoughtfulness.
