'Plenty Warm,' Says Max Hibbard About New Guinea

An interesting letter has been received by Mrs. J. F. Pritchard of the Keno highway from Sgt. Max Hibbard, U. S. army air corps, a Klamath Falls youth, good friend of the Pritchard boys. He is now somewhere in New Guinea.

"Once again it is letter writing time so I guess I'll drop a few lines over that way. As you probably well know, it is you folks at home who occupy most of our thoughts over here.

"As censorship rules are very rigid, there is very little to write about. We are not allowed to write about weather or terrain, however, I'll try to tell you as much about this country as I can and hope it will pass.

"We are not far from the equator, so it is plenty warm most of the time. The seasons in this part of the country are just opposite from home, but seasons don't mean much here. The only part that changes is the name. We have many different kinds of tropical fruit such as bananas, coconuts, papayas, and others. Also a few snakes, mostly pythons. They sometimes reach a length of 30 or 40 feet. The largest one I have seen was about 25 feet long.

"The kangaroo here differ from those in Australia, being smaller. They are the same in every other respect. The correct name for the midget kangaroo is 'wallobie.' They are

THIS YEAR I'M STARTING RIGHT

2 GOOD FEED
Only 2 pounds of this nationally famous starting feed give the chick just what it needs to live and grow. You'll point with pride to chicks you can grow on STARTENA!

3 GOOD SANITATION
The only poultry water tablet which acts as a disinfectant, bowel astringent and fungicide. Easy and economical to use. Don't take needless chances on disease in your flock!

You PAY for Growing Feed
Whether You BUY it or NOT

IT'S SIMPLE ARITHMETIC to figure you're money ahead when you push pullets to quick maturity. You may save a little this summer by stinting on growing feed. But your pullets will use their laying mash next fall to grow on—and you'll be out both eggs and feed.

So, since you pay for growing feed whether you buy it or not, help yourself to big pullets laying lots of early fall eggs by feeding GROWENA (complete) or GROWING CHOW (with your grain). It takes only about 16 pounds of Growena (or 7 pounds of GROWING CHOW and 11 pounds of grain) to carry a pullet to maturity.

Come in and see us about your growing feed needs today.

ARE YOUR HENS PRODUCING TO CAPACITY?

EVERY 4 SQ. FT. OF LAYING HOUSE FLOOR SPACE SHOULD PRODUCE 200 EGGS PER YEAR!

Fill your laying house and keep it filled as a first step to capacity egg production. One hen requires 4 sq. feet of laying house floor space... a good hen can lay 200 eggs a year. Make this your goal. Keep a good hen in each 4 square feet of your laying house—feed your hens for capacity production. See us for details of a plan to do this job—the Purina Balanced Income Plan.

FEED FOR EXTRA EGGS
Purina Laying Chow is built to produce lots of eggs. If you have scratch grain, balance it with Purina Lay Chow. If you have no grain, feed Purina Laying, a complete feed.
