Today's Roundup

PERHAPS you're a little confused by the war savings and victory loan campaigns coming together this month, but don't let it bother you.

The important thing is to buy all the government bonds you can buy in the forthcoming 30 days.

But here, briefly, is the story. War savings, which are carried on regularly, are intended particularly to appeal to wage earners, and to obtain loans for the government out of regular earnings.

The two committees—war savings headed by A. M. Collier and victory loan headed by G. C. Blohm—are instructed to work together with the chairman acting as co-chairmen.

It is hardly necessary again to explain the whole purpose and function of war bond purchases.

Hitler and his minions have been coddling public morale by withholding the truth.

Harry Ackley, pioneer lumberman who passed away last weekend, was one of the men who helped to build this community.

George Otey, ASN, is now stationed at Shepherd field, Tex., in the US army air corps reserve.

Tom Blackman, sound man, second class, US navy, visited here recently with friends and relatives at Henley and Klamath Falls.

It is reliably reported that the railroad, which has built from the main S. P. line to Pokedama in the mountains southwest of here, will be pushed on to Klamath Falls.

The route to Klamath Falls is comparatively free from heavy grades. The timber near Upper Klamath lake and along Wood and Sprague rivers can be floated to this point.

At the juncture of the lakes, on a river furnishing unexcelled power, surrounded by substantial natural resources, this is the central, natural and advantageous point for a railroad to strike.

Jack Eakin, state American Legion commander, was in town today to discuss plans for the department convention to be held in Klamath Falls this summer.

Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, second to right of white wreath, pays homage to Sun Yat Sen, founder of the Chinese Republic, by placing a wreath at his statue during her visit to San Francisco.

These British Eighth Army sappers avoid pushing up dunes by searching through a flower field for hidden mines planted by Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps in Tunisia, near Medenine, during the assault on the Mareth Line.

How close the number of men drafted in each state is keeping to number of registrants is shown in this chart. States with largest per cent of draft registrants have largest per cent of men in armed forces.

The War Today

By DeWitt MacKenzie VISCOUNT HALIFAX, British ambassador to Washington, who speaks what he thinks very freely, made the interesting prediction during the week-end down at Sheffield, Alabama, that "when the German war machine begins to crack, a great part of it may go at once, and the end may come more suddenly than some of us thought six months ago."

Right here it should be emphasized that Lord Halifax wouldn't venture a guess as to the probable length of the war, and I'm not commenting on his prediction for the purpose of suggesting that the end is at hand.

Hitler and his minions have been coddling public morale by withholding the truth. For instance, the people have no idea of their huge losses on the battle-fields, because we've heard the fuhrer himself lie like a trooper about casualties in his speeches.

But he can't make his lies stick forever. It's the truth that will crack the morale of the Germans—the knowledge that no matter how long they hang on they haven't a chance to win.

Funeral Services For Mrs. Bowman To Be Held Tuesday

Final rites for Mrs. Dace Bowman of Portland, the former Elizabeth DeMain of this city, will be held Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from Sacred Heart Catholic church where a requiem mass will be celebrated.

Mrs. Bowman died Friday at Good Samaritan hospital in Portland following an illness of several days. Her husband is shipwright foreman at the Swan Island Shipbuilding corporation and former owner of Bell studio here. The family left Klamath Falls six months ago to make their home in Portland. Mrs. Bowman attended Sacred Heart academy here. She was 19 years of age at the time of her passing.

Captain Jack Sells $300,000 In War Savings

Captain Jack, the bond selling rooster, now has more than $300,000 in war savings to his credit.

The $300,000 mark was passed last Friday night, when an auction was held at the Henley grange meeting. Paul Landry conducted the auction and total sales were $3150.

Jack, a bantam rooster, will continue to sell bonds in this county.

MEN AND WOMEN IN SERVICE

CEAR RAPIDS, Ia.—Private Frances S. Landrum, 19, of Klamath Falls, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Landrum, 2734 Derby street, Klamath Falls, Ore., has arrived at Coe college for course of army air force instruction lasting approximately five months prior to his appointment as an aviation cadet in the army air forces.

FORT DES MOINES, Ia.—Two women from the Klamath Falls area have begun training at the First Women's Army Auxiliary Corps Training Center here.

They are: Auxiliaries Bertha L. Ulrich, 534 Main street, and Jessie E. Johnson, 524 High street, both of Klamath Falls, Ore.

FORT DES MOINES, Ia. —Auxiliary Borgny Brunhild Romtvedt of Bonanza, Ore., has completed basic training at the First Women's Auxiliary Corps training center here, and has been selected for specialist training in the administrative school.

George Otey, ASN, is now stationed at Shepherd field, Tex., in the US army air corps reserve.

Otey attended Henley high school, later the University of Oregon and Texas A & M. He will return soon to Texas to complete his course in flight training.

Tom Blackman, sound man, second class, US navy, visited here recently with friends and relatives at Henley and Klamath Falls, returning to his ship after a three-day leave.

Tom farmed in the Henley district before joining up in August, 1942. He has been at sea several weeks after completing six months' training at San Diego.

It is reliably reported that the railroad, which has built from the main S. P. line to Pokedama in the mountains southwest of here, will be pushed on to Klamath Falls.

The route to Klamath Falls is comparatively free from heavy grades. The timber near Upper Klamath lake and along Wood and Sprague rivers can be floated to this point.

Boats can accommodate the traffic to an extensive area north of here, and boats also can ply from Klamath Falls to a point near Merrill.

At the juncture of the lakes, on a river furnishing unexcelled power, surrounded by substantial natural resources, this is the central, natural and advantageous point for a railroad to strike.

Jack Eakin, state American Legion commander, was in town today to discuss plans for the department convention to be held in Klamath Falls this summer.

British Tommies Capture German Paratrooper in Tunisia

The German paratrooper being searched by soldiers of the British First Army was one of a "pocket" of Axis troops who were rounded up following a skirmish near Sejeanne, in the "Tally Ho" corner of northern Tunisia, during recent action.

April 1: Who's the Biggest Fool Today?

Obviously, the man in the middle, although the others may qualify for near-top honors before the year is out. In case you don't recognize them, our artist has done a little April Fooling himself to show how this trio of characters might look if they disguise themselves to escape post-war retribution.
