

ENGLISH WIN PAVES WAY TO JOIN PATTON

Churchill told the house of commons in London that British armor had reached open country yesterday after taking all the key positions in the Wadi el Akarit line, and that Rommel was retreating northward with Montgomery in "hot pursuit."

Prisoners Taken
(Six thousand axis prisoners had been captured, he said, after an artillery preparation from 500 guns, a concentration about equal to that which opened the El Alamein battle in Egypt last October.)

(The Algiers radio, in a broadcast recorded in London, said tonight that the eighth army was continuing to advance with tanks and armored cars screening waves of infantry.)

Comments Refused
(The German radio in a broadcast heard by The Associated Press, said competent military quarters refused to make forecasts on the battle which was said to be in "full swing." German commentators pointed out, however, that Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had never gone into action until he was sure of sufficient superiority in men and material.)

The Americans, attacking 40 miles to the west in an effort to link hands with Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's warriors and also to threaten Rommel's rear, launched heavy new attacks.

Desperate Trys
They tried desperately to dislodge entrenched German forces from their formidable artillery positions and strong lines of machinegun nests planted in the rocks of Djebel Kheroun, nine miles east of El Gueater.

Latest reports said they had advanced after previous failures.

Dispatches from the front said that the American tanks went forward about five-eighths of a mile yesterday and that the infantry continued its dogged push through the hills. Thirty Italians were taken prisoner.

Thoughtful Thieves Even Leave Gas in Peterson's Car

Thieves who stole County School Superintendent Fred Peterson's car in Salem last weekend were kind enough to drive it carefully.

Unable to find an inside parking place in Salem, the school chief parked the car on the street and removed the keys. When he went back for the car, it was gone.

He telephoned the police, and before long they notified him the car had been recovered in Portland. It showed no signs of mistreatment, when Peterson arrived in Portland on an unscheduled bus trip to claim the machine. The thoughtful thieves had even left some gas in the tank.

Selective Service Men Told Manpower Supply Increasing

WASHINGTON, April 7 (AP)—Selective service directors of approximately 45 states informed the senate military committee today that supply of manpower for war jobs is increasing throughout the nation.

Closed with the committee and Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director, for more than three hours, the state officials were reported to have attributed the marked improvement to the war manpower commission's recent edict calling upon workers in 3-A classes to take essential jobs or face reclassification into 1-A.

Gerald Wolf, Chiloquin, lost a thumb by amputation at the Klamath Valley hospital today as a result of an accident with a tractor on the Wolf farm on Williamson river.

JURY SELECTED IN 'LOWER 13' TRIAL

85-year-old bailiff, D. S. Smith, to hold witnesses in an ante-room.

Lomax gave no reason for his request, nor did he indicate how long he wanted witnesses excluded from the trial room.

The first two jurors to be examined were dismissed, one man because he said he was an employe of the Southern Pacific, a second because he said he was not open minded.

The small courtroom, seating 180, was jammed with 200 including the jury panel. However, Ensign James and Wilbur G. Brinson of Norfolk, husband and father of the victim, were not present. Both were registered at a local hotel.

Sisemore Retained
Brinson's name was precipitated into the trial early when Lomax asked the court if an order had been signed appointing L. Orth Sisemore, district attorney of Klamath county, Ore., as assistant prosecutor. The judge said he had signed no such order.

Lomax turned to Sisemore, seated beside Prosecutor Weirick, and asked "by whom were you retained?"

Judge Lewelling told Sisemore to answer.

"By Brinson," Sisemore said.

Sisemore first figured in the case when he aided in investigations the afternoon of January 23, when the train was sidetracked in Klamath Falls, last stop north of the California line.

BIG JOB FOR COUNTY TOLD AT LUNCHEON which is more than one-fourth of the $4,000,000 Klamath basin people have invested in war and government bonds since the emergency arose.

Gravely describing the seriousness of the country's position in the war-ridden world, Sammons declared:

"We have not won this war yet—not by a jugful."

He compared the country's danger with that which existed when Lincoln paced the White House floor at the darkest period in the Civil war.

"Don't Depend on Banks"
The country's quota for the April drive is $13 billion, and Oregon's quota is $100 million. Sammons pointed out that the Oregon figure represents $100 for every man, woman and child in the state, and said the treasury department wants average purchases of $50 exclusive of those made by the country's banks.

Sammons spoke off the record in emphasizing the gigantic job ahead of the nation in winning the war, and pointed out that men on the battle fronts and on the sea must have the support of "soldiers on the financial front" at home.

"It's a big job, but I know we can do it," said the state drive chairman, who is just back from a trip to Washington.

Attending the luncheon were approximately 80 interested local people representing labor, business, agriculture, and the professions. Each person present was asked to act as a committeeman in carrying out the war finance campaign.

Nazis Claim Subs Sink 14 Allied Merchant Ships

The Germans claimed today that their submarines in the Atlantic and Mediterranean had sunk 14 fully-loaded allied merchant ships totaling 102,000 tons, and had also sent a destroyer to the bottom.

The claim was made in a special communique by DNB, broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by The Associated Press.

Two Klamath county men, previously reported as prisoners of the Japanese, were included in an official prisoner list announced by the war department Wednesday.

They were:

Private James H. Orth, son of Mrs. Edna Orth, Fort Klamath.

Testing airplane safety glass, this gun fires a four-pound dead fowl at speed of 110 miles per hour to simulate conditions under which bird in flight would smash against plane windshield. Ordinary glass, above, splintered under impact, while safety glass merely cracked, eliminating hazard to pilots.

is 22 miles, respectively, south-east of Kharkov.

The Germans' newest attacks south of Izium against a soviet bridgehead were announced to have cost them more than 500 dead and one of their front lines.

No Surprise
Again as in previous days, the Russians said, the army forces did not give way to surprise attacks but held together and shifted strength quickly to the sectors under greatest pressure.

(The German high command, in its Wednesday communique broadcast by the Berlin radio and recorded by The Associated Press, said a German "offensive enterprise" in the central Donets region "reached the planned goal notwithstanding tenacious enemy resistance.")

"In the course of a successful assault in the northern sector of the front," it added, "shock troops of a Spanish volunteer division blew up 14 bunkers and returned with prisoners."

Russian dispatches said the German air force was operating in considerable strength up and down the Donets, but was losing heavily under attacks by Russian fighter planes and anti-aircraft batteries.

land and on Alitit, in the Tanimbar islands, also to the northwest, as well as on enemy positions in New Britain and New Guinea.

As allied fliers drove home these thrusts to keep the Japanese off balance, an official announcement disclosed the return from Washington of the mission headed by MacArthur's chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, and Lieut. Gen. George C. Kenney, allied air chief in the southwest Pacific.

Members of the mission said merely that they had presented details of the military situation in this area to Washington officials.

LIONS TAKE OVER MAY BOND SALES

The Klamath Lions club has accepted the responsibility of war bond sales in Klamath county in May. President Gene Hooker has named a committee of past presidents to head the project.

He pointed out that Lions were among the first group to get behind the war project, and the May effort will be an expansion of the previous undertakings.

Sergeant Frank J. Hubin of the army recruiting office provided a movie of the army. Guests were E. Campbell, Dr. M. Cooper, W. Ray Lamb and Lion C. F. Fiske of Salem.
