HIGH SCHOOL BOARD VOTES TO BUY BONDS

Klamath Union high school board at a Monday night meeting voted to invest $100,000 of bond sinking funds in Series C of the war bond program.

These are short term bonds and will mature in time to meet the peak load obligations of the district in 1946-47, members of the board explained.

Use of Mills school and the high school shop, gym and athletic facilities for the summer recreation program was approved by the boards of the two districts after an appearance by David Bridge, city recreation officer.

The same personnel assistance granted in past years to the recreation program was assigned to that work for the coming summer.

Resignations were accepted from the following members of the high school teaching corps: Rachel Swan, Laura Cox, Caroline Fowler, Kelly Robinette and Ruth Dunning, secretary of the principal.

These resignations are effective with the close of the current school year.

PE Director Joe Peak appeared before the board to explain the swimming program and it was approved by the board. Swimming instruction at the natatorium starts Wednesday.

A committee was named to study the effect of fuel rationing in planning the program for next year. The cafeteria is faced with a problem because of food rationing, and a committee was named to make a study of that situation. Landscaping committees were named from both boards to study ground improvement.

The Soldier Does His Job --- Do Yours By Buying Bonds

By GENERAL GEORGE C. MARSHALL, Chief of Staff, United States Army

"On many fronts the American soldier is now doing his job, enduring privations, suffering hardships, fighting and dying. He can do no more.

"He is in constant need of planes and tanks, guns, ships, and a thousand other items of war material, all of which wear out, are lost at sea or destroyed on the battlefield.

"War is always wasteful and this war more so than ever before due to the bomber and the submarine. "All this costs money—vast sums of money. We must not quibble over the amount. It is a price of the victory that America demands.

"We must do our part at home as the soldier does his overseas, and we must do it to the full as the soldier does who lays down his life.

"Buy your share of war bonds."

COUNCIL EYES LICENSES TO READ PALMS

That semi-American institution of palm reading and phrenology may be a thing of the past in Klamath Falls the way city fathers and the police department feel about such business establishments.

Two applications, one for a palmistry license, the other for phrenology, (bumps on the head, to you), were granted through the police office in keeping with an existing city ordinance. This same ordinance will be investigated and recommendations of the chief of police taken into consideration by the council at the next meeting. It was decided last night. One business is in operation at 1008 Main street, the other on Main between Sixth and Seventh. License fees are $5 per day for not less than five days.

CHAMBER OFFICERS CONCLUDE MEETING

SALEM, April 13 (AP)—Chamber of commerce secretaries of Oregon cities concluded their two-day farm conference today with federal and state officials after hearing reports that there would be sufficient help to harvest the crops next summer and fall.

Dean William Schoenfeldt, Oregon State college, urged that the same system be followed as was used last year, when city residents helped the farmers in the harvest.

Mr. President! ...I want to tell you... some things make me hoppin' mad!

When folks can't buy all the butter they want and they blame us farmers... When they ask us to produce more milk than ever before—and then they fail to see that the hired hands and machinery we need may determine the amount of dairy foods they'll eat... When some smart fellow steps up with the bright idea that maybe our wives could do more work... Mr. President... don't they know? Haven't they ever heard of raising children, doing the cooking, the washing, the sewing, the canning, and tending a garden and a flock of chickens, too? Or do they know, Mr. President? Anyway... Let's Understand One Another.

The farmer is working to keep milk production at record levels so that America can have all the butter, cheese, milk, evaporated milk, ice cream and the other dairy foods that it is possible to have under war conditions.

The Army and Navy are served first. And that's the way it should be. Official U. S. Army rations show that a soldier needs twice as much butter, for example, as a civilian. For the Armed Forces 30% of all butter is set aside... 50% of cheese... 90% of powdered milk... 20,000,000 cases of evaporated milk. Our civilians, too, with greater buying power, are creating greater demand for these nutritious foods than ever before.

Sharing dairy foods is not an easy job—because they are foods America treasures for the health and well being of every family member.

We must share our dairy foods... use them in new meal combinations—and... above all... guard against the catch-phrases of those who would mislead us into forgetting about the goodness of dairy foods for our tables.

Remember, Mr. President, every Dairy Farmer, regardless of long hours and material shortages, will be loyally working and producing food for Victory until Victory is Won!

BUTTER How To Use It Wisely... Everybody Can Enjoy this pure concentrated health-giving food. Ask your food store for evaporated milk. It goes well with coffee—it's the milk that whips. It's smooth and rich in custards, puddings, many recipes. It's always convenient. Use it but don't board it. ICE CREAM Serve Ice Cream. Ice cream contains the same valuable food nutrients, proteins, minerals and vitamins as milk. Ice cream is included in the Army and Navy meal planning—both because of its valuable dairy food content and because of its recognized value in boosting morale. CHEESE Enjoy Cheese Often. Rich in calcium and strong to help build strong, healthy bodies. Cheese goes well with other foods. Because of its high nutrition value you should make cheese an important part of your diet. You can always get some kind of cheese. Enjoy it often. MILK Drink Milk Daily. It's your patriotic duty to keep strong and healthy, to work and produce to do your utmost. U. S. Government nutritional standards—for the Armed Forces and for all civilians require that you should drink at least a pint of milk every day.
