

San Francisco Has Earthquake Early Today

OAKLAND, Calif., April 15 (AP)—A series of earth shocks strong enough to knock dishes off shelves jarred the San Francisco east bay area starting at 5:29 a. m. PWT, today. The epicenter appeared to be around Livermore on the Hayward Fault.

The first shock at 5:28 a. m., was sharp. The second came at about 6 o'clock, the third at 8:23, and the rest followed within the pace of a half hour. One at 8:32 was the sharpest of the series, and was described by Prof. Perry Byerly, University of California seismologist, as "a jolt." It tipped over milk bottles and knocked dishes from shelves. Even the egg of a firefly beetle gives off light.

TREE METHUSELAH JERSEYVILLE, Ill., (AP)—This town's ancient pear tree is blooming again. Horticulturists say the tree, which measures five feet in circumference at its base and is 45 feet high, is 113 years old. Old residents say the tree has not failed to produce fruit in 78 years. Philadelphia, Pa., is the site of Temple university.

SHARE-THE-WEALTH DEPT. ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., (AP) Robert Norton shared his car with two pedestrians Monday night, he told the sheriff's office. The pair overpowered him and took his A and B gasoline books. Last night, he said, the thieves evidently discovered they needed a car that matched the books. Norton's car was stolen—and returned this morning, tank empty.
