Oregon Mutual Life Insurance company added $25,000 to Klamath county's April war finance campaign Thursday.

Lynn Roycroft, Oregon Mutual representative here, notified the war finance committee that his company would purchase bonds in that amount in Klamath county. The company is investing $1,000,000 in the current war bond drive, which is in addition to $1,500,000 previously purchased.

This is the second purchase made by an insurance company in Klamath county in the last week. Roycroft, who is president of the Underwriters association, also pointed out that local insurance men are actively working on war bond sales, carrying a heavy part of the campaign.

DEPUTIES LEAVE FOR FOLKES TRIAL

Deputy Sheriff Dale Mattoon left Wednesday evening for Albany on a subpoena to appear as a witness in the trial of Robert Lee Folkes, charged with the train murder of Martha Brinson James.

Deputy Sheriff Jack Franey was called to Albany earlier in the week for the same purpose.

District Attorney L. Orth Sisemore is assisting in the prosecution of Folkes. The two Klamath deputies participated in investigation of the murder when the death train was held here after the slaying in lower 13 berth last January.

Fifteen hams hanging in a bathroom.

Two cases of razor blades.

Two new automobiles tires.

An extra 514 cans of food—in addition to 840 cans declared when rationing began.

(The OPA said it would give the illicit canned food to the Dallas war chest for hospitals and needy.)

HIGH SCHOOL

News Notes and Comment

By ANITA GWYN CAMPBELL

The junior amateur show was a success Thursday morning with music, dancing and laughter all rolled into an hour and 15 minutes. Jean Bolling won the first prize of $5.00 by singing "Star Dust." Jeanne Hamilton played "Indian Love Call" on the piano and was awarded the second prize of $3.00. The German band composed of five boys won the third prize of $2.00. We imagine they all bought milkshakes so the money could be divided evenly.

The junior class did themselves proud this year. It gave us an idea of what they can do and what can be expected of them next year.

"Who do you think you are?" or something to that effect was the greeting Latin club initiates received yesterday. They were all dolled up in fine resemblance of early Romans wearing the latest style in togas.

PORTLAND, April 16 (AP)—Motorists will get no gasoline for vacation jaunts this summer, the OPA said today.
