CITY STREETS TO GET FACIAL FROM STATE

Various streets in Klamath Falls will have their faces lifted within the next 10 days when the Oregon state highway department paving plant arrives for a repair session. Streets involved are those subject to the kind and volume of motor traffic beyond the financial ability of the city to repair and maintain.

Work will require asphaltic materials contingent upon the release of these materials by the war production board. City Engineer Frank Z Howard told the council in session Monday night that it would require 781 tons of plant mix at $9 per ton, or a total cost of $7029, to complete the planned project.

Councilman A. H. Bussman advised the council that he considered a section of California avenue more in need of repair work than Conger avenue, included in the list of streets on which work will be done. It was decided to authorize the city to enter into contract with the state subject to changes which may be made by the city engineer, the district maintenance superintendent, George Sothman, and the city street committee.

Streets involved are, as follows: Upham from Prospect to Eleventh; Eleventh from Upham to Klamath avenue; Klamath avenue from Eleventh to Second; Second from Klamath to Main; Main from Ninth to Spring; Market from Spring to South; Sixth, California from Nevada to Front; Front from California to Blismark; Conger from Main to California; Oak from Market to Spring.

Leaving After Visit—Mrs. Carl Danielson of Juneau, Alaska and her five-months-old son plan to leave this evening for Portland after spending several days here as guests of Mrs. Danielson's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gerruc of High street. Mrs. Danielson will visit with relatives in Portland a short time before returning to Alaska. Friends were interested to learn from Mrs. Danielson that Rod Darnell, formerly of this city and a brother-in-law of Mrs. Kenneth Clark, is now affiliated with the Alaskan game commission.

Visit in Ashland—Mrs. Levi Stevens, Eunice Boyum and Mrs. Frank Evans motored to Ashland Sunday where they spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Steve Moss (May Evans), and with Mrs. Frank Evans' aunt and cousin, Mrs. Lem Long and Doris Clark, who are residents of the valley city.

In Town—Mr. and Mrs. Bill Howland and son Bobby were in town from the Crooked creek fish hatchery.

On Business—Patrick Maitland of Hines, Ore., spent the week here on a business trip.

'You Still Have Me, Daddy'

William Wymer, 16, is being held by authorities in connection with the case.

Sgt. Wissenback's Bravery Told in Magazine Article

The name of Tech. Sgt. Erwin H. Wissenback of Klamath Falls, appears in a lengthy story of "The Clay Pigeon Squadron," in this week's issue of Saturday Evening Post, on sale Wednesday here.

Young Wissenback, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Wissenback of Shady Pine, was credited posthumously with one enemy plane, according to the story. Since this article was prepared in England, Wissenback's parents have been advised that he has rejoined his squadron.

Story of the raid is given as follows: "The bad luck hung on when the squadron took part in its first action—a big daylight raid on Lille, on October ninth. It was singled out by the Focke-Wulf 190's as it turned to make its target run. The Fortress pl-oted by Capt. John W. (Swede) Olson, of Hyde Park, Massachusetts, began to lag with its No. 3 engine afire. Then other areas of the ship burst into flame and the plane lost altitude rapidly, falling in a spiral with the Nazis screaming down after it.

"The Fortress exploded on striking the ground. This was the plane from which Navigator Bill Gise escaped by parachute. One or two other chutes billowed out on the way down, but the top turret gunner, Technical Sgt. E. H. Wissenback of Klamath Falls, Ore., stuck to his guns, determined not to miss his first chance at an enemy plane. His twin .50 caliber blazed all the way down and his bullets found and destroyed an F-W 190. In the squadron record he is credited posthumously with one enemy plane."

CHURCH HOLDS CELEBRATION OF FOUNDING

The Community Congregational church of Klamath Falls of which Rev. Eugene Haynes is the pastor, will celebrate the 15th anniversary of the founding of this church on May 2 and 3. Rev. Nelson F. Cole, its first pastor, and Rev. T. Davis Preston, who succeeded him, will be present for the anniversary services. Rev. J. G. Dickey is the only former pastor who will be unable to attend. Rev. Perry F. Schrock, the new state superintendent of the Congregational conference of Oregon, will also be here.

During the Sunday school hour on May 2, Rev. Preston will show moving pictures of the early days of the church under his pastorate, and the public is invited to attend. During the hour of worship Rev. Schrock will deliver the address, his subject to be "The Old Oregon Trail and the New," a subject appropriate to the centennial of the Old Oregon Trail. In the evening Rev. Cole will speak.

Monday evening, May 3, there will be a potluck dinner at 6:30 o'clock in the community hall on Garden avenue, with Mrs. W. C. Little in charge of arrangements. Rev. Preston will be the chief speaker. At all these services the guest pastors will be present. Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Preston will also be here during the anniversary celebration.
