Currin's

YOU know how it's possible to see clear through a bottle of colorless or light-colored liquid. Well, a new line of toiletries for men has taken advantage of that in a very clever way that makes awfully attractive bottles designed to appeal to men.

If you've been in Currin's recently, you've seen them, probably "Sportsman," and all the pictures are appropriate to this great sportsmen's country!

For instance, take a bottle of shaving lotion. The glass is clear and the liquid is a cool green. On the front of the bottle is a silhouette, in color, of a duck rising out of the water. And on the other side of the bottle, visible through the green liquid, are the reeds and coarse grass on shore. Making an amazingly lifelike background for the duck.

Anything in the "Sportsman" line would make a dandy gift for a man. In the bottles, in various sizes, are shaving lotion, hair dressing and cologne. And the shaving cream comes in a duck, with the duck's back for a lid!

Prices? Well, single items cost from $1.50 to $2.50. And sets cost from $3 to $5. And I know any man would enjoy the high quality and masculine fragrance of the "Sportsman" line. (So will you!)

By the way. They were unpacking big boxes while I was at Currin's Tuesday. The first shipment of Seafarth for Men toiletries since Christmas. So now there's a full selection of these old stand-bys.

Moe's

SINCE costume jewelry is so important now I think I ought to tell you about the big selection at Moe's. Including the "better jewelry" for which you can pay up to $19.95.

This is sterling silver or plastic, set with rhinestones or Czechoslovakian brilliants, and, of course, is more delicately made than the less expensive costume jewelry. Some is un-set sterling silver, too. And it's all very lovely.

Most of the "junk jewelry," as we gals fondly call it, runs to color and size. As you'll see at Moe's. This is by design to set off natural or beige tones which are so plentiful now, or to accent pastel costumes.

Large, bright beads are tremendously popular. Whether they're made of wood or plastic. And you can have several of different colors because they're so inexpensive. You'll find them on the table of $1 to $1.95 pieces.

And, of course, pearls always are good. Moe's has them in all sizes, a number of strands and in earrings, bracelets and necklaces. At prices up to $6.50.

There are some ceramic pins at Moe's that had me fooled until I picked them up. They're covered with gilt and look like gold jewelry. But their lack of weight gives them away!

You'll find some darling little Humel-type figures in ceramic pins. And multiple-strand necklaces of shells. In fact there's just about every kind of costume jewelry at Moe's.

Garcelon's

LINENS are so hard to get now that I simply must tell you what I saw at Garcelon's yesterday. A whole new shipment of lace dinner cloths!

There are several different sizes and qualities. And the prices range from $2.25 to $12.50.

Rationing hasn't affected plans for Easter entertaining very much. I really was surprised at the number of breakfasts, brunches and dinners I've learned are going to be given next Sunday.

At Garcelon's they told me that quite a few people have asked them for suggestions on Easter entertaining and table decoration. So I might mention here that everyone there, from Mrs. Garcelon on down, is very helpful whenever advice is needed on those things.

And don't forget this store carries the nicest things in town. In Fostoria and Duncan glassware, Haviland, Spode and the new, utterly lovely Franciscan china. You'll find many patterns, for new sets or fill-ins, at Garcelon's.

Shaw's

ONE nice thing about being laid up is that your friends bring you the best books they can find. So I'm prepared to talk about my reading. All of it from books that you will find at Shaw Stationery.

For chuckles and genuine enjoyment there is "The Human Comedy" by William Saroyan. Written in his understanding style and full of homely humor.

It's about Homer, "the fastest messenger boy in the San Joaquin valley." About his little brother, Ulysses, whose unsure steps and curiosity get him into little-boy predicaments. And about his big brother, Mark, who is in the army. It's a book you'll think about after reading.

Pearl Harbor
"For All Men Born," by Margaret Mackprang Mackay, is entirely different. But it leaves you with the same kind of feeling, somehow.

It's about a group of people in Hawaii and starts in August, 1941. Honolulu, the meeting place of nationalities, just before the attack on Pearl Harbor was a place of intriguing interest. It was a miniature world, and the book deals with English, Austrian, Hawaiian, American, Dutch, Jap, Filipino and Chinese, who are thrown together there.

Then the Japs attack Pearl Harbor and each one is vitally affected in some way. The attack does something to the life of each one. Especially the hero and heroine.

California Wine
When Mrs. Shaw brought up this book she said, "You'll like it, because it's such a nice story." Well, I'd say it was more than that!

It's called "The Cup and the Sword" and is by Alice Tisdale Hobart, who wrote "Oil for the Lamps of China." This one is laid in the grape districts of the San Joaquin and Napa valleys of California, in the period between the two world wars. About a family that believed in the wine they made as in the honor of themselves and their relatives. It's very well done.

Occupied France
Ethel Vance, who leaped to fame as the author of "Escape," has written another novel full of suspense and human interest. It's called "Reprisal." It centers on a love story, but the background is devoted to six people in Occupied France. At the time when the murder of a German officer of occupation brings a reprisal—the taking of 20 hostages who are to be shot if the murderer is not found within three days.

Well, this is getting long, so I'll continue about books next week.

By the way, have you ever used Alexandra de Markoff "Veil of Beauty"? It's entirely different from any foundation cream I've ever used. Partly, I suppose, because it's more than a foundation. You can dispense with powder altogether. Although I always add a little powder on my nose.

My shade is Rose Perle. And it does something for my complexion nothing else does. Especially after I've sprayed Fragrant Fern Cologne all over me, with that cool, elusive fragrance of fresh, damp ferns that is so stimulating.

Speaking of that, have you yet tried the Alexandra de Markoff "Floating Bath Mitts"? They really float, you know. The only mitts that do. And it takes ages to get all the fluffy bubbles and velvety lather out of them. The flower fragrances cling to you a long time, too.

A box of Floating Bath Mitts would make a wonderful Easter gift for yourself or a friend. Five in a box cost $2.25.

At Whytal's.

Whytal's

HEARD good news at Whytal's yesterday. All the Alexandra de Markoff lipsticks will be priced at $1 for the duration. They have been $1.50 up to now, you know. And do I love the texture and the shades!

STOCK STEADY DESPITE LOSS OF EASY GAINS

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Stocks were relatively steady today despite the market's inability to hold in full the moderate gains established in the early dealings.

Stocks attracting a little support during most of the session included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Boeing, Douglas, Western Union, Electric Power and Light, Anaconda, Air Reduction, American Can, Standard Oil (N. J.), Western Union, Electric Power and Light and Engineers Public Service.

Rails held within small fractions of the previous closings. Among specialties, best foods displayed some strength on a fair turnover.

OPA REVISES PRICE LIST ON POULTRY

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The office of price administration today revised poultry prices throughout the country and announced "a campaign to smash the black market in poultry."

The price order, effective immediately, establishes uniform prices for each type of poultry and cut the current prices of drawn and quick-frozen eviscerated poultry by 1 to 10 cents per pound, but increased prices of quick-frozen eviscerated broilers and fryers by 11 to 2 cents per pound.

The new prices were based on cost at country shipping points, replacing a former system based on cost of delivery to the buyer. Under the old system, buyers of different cities could legally offer varying prices for the same poultry on the same farm, and officials said this encouraged black market activities.

Although the new order directly affects only country prices, OPA determines wholesale and retail prices by percentage markups on the country
