Cougar Attacks Farmer in Rogue River Country

MEDFORD—George Montgomery, ranch hand working at the Ben Dawson place at Steamboat, in the Applegate, was badly scratched by a yearling cougar in an encounter in the Dawson chicken yard. Montgomery, investigating a racket in the chicken house, shot at the cat in the feeble light furnished by a lantern, and wounded the animal, which attacked him. A farm dog, which had accompanied the ranch hand, then entered the fray and succeeded in distracting the cougar long enough for Montgomery to get in a killing shot with his .22 caliber rifle. The young cat was five feet in length.

Montgomery stated that seven hens and three lambs had been killed at the ranch recently, probably by the same animal. Montgomery's home is in Jacksonville.

Sinkings Overbalance Ship Building, Says Committee

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—The Truman committee called today for "a scientific determination of the number of men who can usefully be employed in the armed services" after disclosing that the allies lost 12,000,000 tons of shipping last year, or "somewhat more" than was built.

Senator Brewster (R-Me.), an active member of the senate group which is investigating the war program, estimated that sinkings overbalanced United Nations construction by 2,000,000 tons in 1942.

Catch Up
"I think we'll catch up by next fall but the next four months will be terrible," Ferguson said. "The enemy submarines will have more hours of daylight in which to work."

The committee's report on shipbuilding and shipping, released last night, said the United States produced 8,000,000 deadweight tons of ships last year but added that sinkings averaged approximately 1,000,000 tons a month. It described the British shipbuilding program as "smaller but sizeable." Brewster estimated that Great Britain and other allied countries produced a 1942 total of about 2,000,000 tons.

Heavy Losses
The committee characterized the losses as "heavy but not disastrous" and asserted that "the submarine menace can and will be effectively met" through increased cargo ship construction and by use of destroyer escorts, anti-submarine planes and subchasers.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) was another member of the committee who thought that in view of the shipping bottleneck, the manpower problem would be studied with what Brewster called "a realistic approach."

"We'll be able to go into the whole manpower situation a little later," Ferguson said. "We're not through with that by any means."

The report itself called for the substitution of knowledge for conjecture, declaring:

Long Operation
"The ship construction, ship protection and ship utilization programs have been in operation long enough and have progressed far enough that it should now be possible to formulate fairly accurate estimates as to the amount of freight which we can honestly hope to transport during the next two years and the routes over which it can be transported."

In cheerful contrast to the account of losses to enemy submarines, the report praised the United States navy as "a fighting force superior to all others" and disclosed that the quantity-production Liberty cargo ships is being redesigned into a "Victory ship" with 50 per cent greater speed and larger carrying capacity.

Strange some college students haven't thought to claim it is unpatriotic to burn the midnight oil.

NUTRITIONISTS NEED COURSE IN LOGGING

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP)—A western congressman suggests that the "nutrition experts of the price administration" take a practical course in logging camps before they decide to cut down the rations of the lumberjacks.

Representative Norman (R-Wash.) wrote OPA Administrator Prentiss Brown that, as a former lumberjack himself, he could assure his "nutrition experts" that "if they would swing on the end of a cross-cut saw in Washington woods for a week or so, they would soon discover why a logger needs at least 100 pounds of meat a week and why these loggers, to continue peak production, ought to have 10 or 15 pounds of meat per week each."

"Our soldiers can't fight their best on short rations, like they endured in Bataan, and our loggers can't produce the lumber and plywood needed for war use unless their rations are enough to keep them in fighting trim," he added.

CAPITOLISTS
HELENA, Mont. (AP)—There was $70 in the anonymous letter, Secretary of State Sam McHall said—along with this explanation:

"A couple of years ago me and my partner got jobs working for the capitol but we didn't do no work and got our pay."

"We got good jobs now so are sending back the money."
